

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1867.

Born to no Master, of no Sect are We.

FAST DAY.—was observed of course. Some found their way to the churches, but the mass of our population were bent on pleasure, and interested themselves in such amusements as offered. The weather was fine, which brought out the incarcerated inmates from their winter prisons into the fresh air, giving to our streets quite a holiday appearance. Mr. Perry, with his four horse team on hand, and kept as busy as a bee; but the main attraction of the day, was the dramatic entertainment provided by the Hancock Dramatic and Musical Association at the Town Hall. The whole affair was a complete success, and reflects much credit on the managers. It is admitted to be one of the most gorgeous spectacles of the kind ever offered to our citizens. Every thing worked to a charm; the pieces were brought forward with good effect, and supported in fine taste and with much talent. The afternoon exhibition drew a large audience, and in the evening there was a perfect jam.

SILVER WEDDING. The friends of Captain Edward A. Spear and lady, of this town, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, on Tuesday evening. Mr. & Mrs. Spear were taken entirely by surprise. Their friends assembled previous to going to the Captain's house, and went there in a body; and we can safely say, that the occupants were taken a little aback when they saw the crowd rushing in. After the usual congratulations, the party enjoyed themselves very pleasantly for several hours in various games, and a bountiful repast brought by the guests. Before closing this article we must not forget to mention that the happy couple were made the recipients of many costly and elegant presents, which will long be reminders of the cordial esteem in which they are held by a large circle of friends.

There was an election in Connecticut on Monday last, for State officers and members of Congress. The Republicans, —no, the Democrats, made a clean sweep, —electing their governor by over one thousand majority, and three, out of four, of the Representatives to the National Assembly. They are jubilant over their success, —but the Republicans are not disheartened,—for they say they have a plenty more States left. The Boston Advertiser reads its friends in that State a lecture on the subject; it tells them they should have adopted negro suffrage, and then they would have been more equally matched with the other side.

DORCHESTER TOWN MEETING. The citizens of Dorchester held an adjourned town meeting on Monday last. It was voted to lay water pipes at the Lower Mills village with a view to supply water the "reservoir" at the lower end of the company.

The proposition to build reservoirs in different sections of the town was practically annulled by making the building conditional upon three-fourths of the expense being borne by individuals most interested.

The matter of building a new town hall was discussed, and further consideration of the proposition was indefinitely postponed.

The following appropriations were made for the ensuing year:—Schools $13,000; poor and insane, $8,750; highways and lighting streets, $16,000; fire department, $5,900; town officers, $5,000; cemeteries, $800; instalments, and interest, $23,000; abatements, $3,000; police, $10,000; incidental, $8,000; stone-crafter, $4,000; re-appropriations $20,000; total, $138,450.

OLD FOLKS BALL. The friends of Mr. Nathaniel Nightingale of this town, propose giving a social ball, similar to "we olden times," at the Town Hall, on Wednesday evening next, for his benefit. A crowd is expected.

OUR STATE LEGISLATURE still continues in session; for their short session is likely to prove a long one. The great business of the hour, is the liquor question, —"Prohibition" or a "license law." —Both parties have able counsel, —and are discussing their favorite theories in public meetings and through the newspapers, with an ability and zeal, that must prepare the public mind, at an early day, to take some final action on the subject.

Congress adjourned on Saturday, to meet again the first Wednesday in July and then to adjourn to December unless a quorum be present. There were few measures of importance acted upon during the last few days. All the laws passed excepting the additional reconstruction bill, were signed by the President. An extra session of the Senate has been convened by the President. The session of Russian America will be considered.

THE AMERICAN FARMER. The April number of this valuable agricultural monthly comes to hand filled with interesting articles specially adapted to spring work. Among them we notice Price Essays on How to Improve Exhausted Soil; on Blackberry, Gooseberry, and Sweet Potato Culture; also an article on Pruning the Grape, together with special "Notes for the month," with many other practical communications from experienced farmers. Every farmer should subscribe for this excellent agricultural paper, at $1 per year. John Turner, Rochester, New York, publisher.

A manufacturer in New York City is filling an order for two thousand don'thumbles at eighteen cents per dozen, for the managers of a popular gift enterprise. "No blanks." Every ticket entitles the holder to a present.

TEMPERANCE ITEMS.

At a business meeting of the Evangelical Congregational Church of this place, held on the 1st instant, the following protest, which is substantially the same as that adopted by many other churches in the State, was unanimously adopted:

"To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled:

This Church does solemnly protest against the passage of any law licensing the sale of intoxicating drinks, and prays your Honorable bodies to so increase and strengthen the State Constabulary as to enable them to execute the present prohibitory law."

This is but reaffirming the life-long principles of this Church. September 2d, 1834, the Church adopted the principles of total abstinence from the use of ardent spirits as a beverage, and assent to this principle, extending to the traffic, as well as use, is required of persons admitted to membership.

The Mount Wollaston Lodge of Good Templars in this place, has sent to the Legislature a protest similar to the above. The State Temperance Alliance have assembled by hearing from them. Its writing, that out of 1018 clergymen in this State, 962 are in favor of a prohibitory and opposed to a license law. Of the 56 are in favor of a license law. Of the 56 are in favor of a license law, 25 are Roman Catholics, 2 Trinitarians, 3 Congregational, 12 Unitarians, 1 Universalist, 5 Swedenborgians, and 3 unknown. It is understood that the Traveler will publish all these names. These are times when men must show their colors, especially Christian ministers.

The Traveler is the only uncompromising temperance daily paper in Boston. It is squarely against license and in favor of prohibition. It is said that the Journal and other dailies have been bought up by the rum interest. The Traveler was offered one thousand dollars, and the answer was, "not for five thousand." It does not hold its principles so cheap. Its circulation is rapidly increasing, while the indications are that that of the Journal is correspondingly diminishing. Have not temperance men a duty here?

MASQUERADE BALL—DORCHESTER.

The fashion and beauty of Dorchester were represented, last week, Thursday, at a "masquerade," at Athenæum Hall. The party consisted of about forty, and the costumes were very handsome. Among the most elegant may be mentioned that of Mrs. B. Persian Princess; Miss B. Spanish girl; the petit Miss P., Highland costume; Misses B. & K. as Greek girls; —Dianna, Miss O., Miss C. as "Pearl of Savoy"; the sprightly Miss C. as Peasant girl; Miss F. as Flower girl. The gentlemen's costumes, also deserve notice. Gen. Washington was represented by the stately Mr. B. —Mr. D. as Marquis; Mr. C. P. as the "Pretender"; Mr. A. P. as Don Cesar de Bezan; Mr. P. as Page; Mr. B. as a Cavalier, —all attracted notice.

The most striking characters were, Topsy, Miss G., of South Boston, and "Audrey," Miss B., of Boston. Both characters gained much attention, and made much sport. GEO. POMEROY.

For the Patriot.

DEATH.

Mrs. EDITRESS: The selected article in the Patriot of the 23d ult., headed "Beccher on Dying," reminded me of the change that has come over the community within a few years on the subject of death. St. Paul speaks of some "who through fear of death are all their life time subject to bondage." I think those of your readers who have been in the habit of attending prayer and conference meetings of different denominations, will notice the different language now used in speaking of death than formerly. The expressions, "cold dead grave," "the winding sheet," "to be eaten of worms," "king of terrors," etc., are now seldom used. And that hymn, "Hark from the tombs a doleful sound," such a favorite of clergymen at funerals in former years, is now seldom used. The change has, I think, been in part, brought about through the influence of Spiritualism. I took my pen to copy for the Patriot a beautiful extract which I wish to see headed, "Thoughts on Death," by William Lloyd Garrison, paraphrased from lines of Whittier. b.

"Alas for him who never sees
The stars shine through the cypress trees!
Who, hopeless, lays his dead away,
Nor looks to see the breaking day."

"Nothing in this universe do I accept With more joy or gratitude than this change which we call death. Death! — what is it? As such a manifestation of the benevolence and wisdom of God as earthly existence itself. It is an event as natural as the falling leaf or the blossoming of a flower. There is no evil in it. Death, —it is, "excellent!" It is onward and "upward!" It is a better and higher position, —a nobler sphere of life. It is not to be met with resignation, as though it were a calamity or a judgment in itself, but rather with thankfulness, and a victorious spirit, in God's good time.

"Come the last hour when it may,
I'll praise my Maker with my breath;
And when my voice is lost in death,
Prize shall employ my nobler powers;
My days of praise shall ne'er be past,
While life, and thought, and being last,
Or immortality endures."

TRIAL OF JEFF. DAVIS. It is stated that the Supreme Court of the United States will have the case of Jeff. Davis tried in May, and it is understood Chief Justice Chase will preside, and that Acting Gen. Schofield will shortly address him a letter stating that the Court can proceed with the business whenever he is ready.

MENTAL EPIDEMICS.—NO. IV.

"Be you never so high, this Law is above you."

POWER OF IDEAS.
The mind is always, and for ever, influenced by Ideas. And thus it is, when any given notion of God or another world, of which we know nothing at all, are preached, sung, or prayed into the minds of people, some of them will become "impressed," "converted," and "converted" by them; and when an excitement is spread in this way, it is called a "panic," a "revival," or "witchcraft." But, as to the change which occurs in any mind, this is always, and for ever, by SELF-INDUCTION.

In the course of a highly interesting lecture on the Power of Imagination, delivered in Manchester, England, recently, the credit Dr. Nobbs told the following story, by way of illustrating his subject:

"A. M. Bouthouse served in Napoleon's army, and was present at many engagements during the early part of the present century. In the battle of Wagram, in 1809, while in the front ranks, and in the act of reloading his musket, he was, as he supposed, deprived of both legs by a cannon ball. He felt no pain, but this he attributed to the stunning effect of the shock on the brain and nervous system, and he lay motionless during the entire night without the wounding and the death, not daring to move a muscle lest the loss of blood should be fatally increased. At early dawn he was aroused by one of the medical staff, and an examination proved that he was uninjured. The ball had passed under his feet, and had plowed a hole in the earth just a foot in depth, into which his sudden sinking produced the impression that he had been deprived of both his limbs."

This was by self-induction,—and by this term, I refer to a power which inheres in mind, and by which the mind instinctively withdraws itself from the consciousness of pain. And it may be truly said, perhaps, that of all the powers ever, at any time, exerted by mind over matter, or mind, that which the mind exerts unconsciously over our nervous system is the most extraordinary and wonderful.

Thus in battles, soldiers horribly mutilated have assured me that they had no consciousness of the blow at the moment it was inflicted. At such times the mind becomes pathetic by the tumult and confusion of the battle; the attention is diverted; and of course there can be no sense of pain. I knew a man who had his leg taken off without his consciousness by a huge chain. He was a ship carpenter, and in the process of launching a ship he had incautiously placed his foot in the coil of a large chain which was attached to the ship, and his attention was so intensely fixed upon the motion of the ship that he did not notice it when the chain was straightened out so as to take off his leg; nor did he perceive what he had parted with that useful member until he had attempted to walk upon it, and he fell upon the ground. In ten thousand ways the mind may be thus diverted in times of great excitement, and danger, so as to render one unconscious of pain at a particular point of time. I knew a little boy into whose hand his mother placed a quarter, and bade him go to the dentist and have a decayed tooth drawn. On approaching the dentist's chair, the little fellow squeezing the quarter in his hand, inquired of him how much he asked for pulling a tooth? The dentist noticed the money he held in his hand, replied, "I pull little boys' teeth for a quarter when it hurts them; but when it does not hurt them at all I do not charge anything." This was no sooner said than the lad mounted the chair where his tooth was taken out almost before he knew what the dentist was about. "And," said the man of the forceps, "my little fellow, did it hurt you?" when he instantly replied, while shutting his fist upon the quarter, "No, sir, not a bit!"

We have an account of a swain who, to see his lady-love, walked a distance of forty miles without stopping. He arrived just in time to join her in attending a ball, where they both danced all night; and he declared himself not fatigued at all in the morning, such was the power of an idea over his nervous system. And in these cases we see the nature of the human mind, and its control over our own sense of pain; a control so powerful that we may call it absolute, for, by a blow upon the mind the vital forces are often suspended, and persons are struck dead in an instant of time.

Thus may be seen how liable we may be to attribute certain nervous and mental changes to remote causes, which are self-induced. The remote cause may be in a suggestion or idea, but the immediate cause, is in the patient's own mind, —"conversion," as in fits, sleep and dreaming, is self-inducing; and in another paper I will show you how it is that such states become contagious, and thus constitute a Mental Epidemic.

THE CESSION of that portion of territory way up on the northwestern part of this continent, owned and colonized by the Russian government, for a certain consideration in dollars, which is now under negotiation between that power and the United States, is likely to prove a valuable accession to this country, in more ways than one. England, who at first, it was thought might object to the overtures, —says she does not care, —and why should she? She has always shown a fondness for Republican institutions by nestling down alongside of us, and by this arrangement, Vancouver's Island, and all its surrounding, will then be embraced within the circle of American jurisdiction.

LETTER FROM THE SOUTH—NO. 5.

RED RIVER, FEB. 25, 1867.

My route from Harrisburg to Allegetown was by rail, about one hundred and twenty miles, and the same distance from thence by stage to Austin. I had been cautioned in Galveston, that I must not talk politics up country. This caution was needless, as every traveller engages in such talk, and there is full as much toleration as under all the circumstances could be expected. I found no difficulty in expressing my views, in a quiet gentlemanly spirit. It was exceedingly gratifying to find in almost all companies one or more who agreed with me. They were not always ready to openly side with me, but when opportunity offered, would earnestly shake my hand, and express their pleasure to hear what I had to say. Austin is a place of about fifteen hundred inhabitants, very pleasantly situated in a rich country. I visited the capital, and in the outer vestibule found a monument erected to the memory of those brave men who gallantly gave their lives for Texas Independence, at the Alamo; Crockett, Fannin, Bowie, Travis and others. The monument is constructed of stones taken from the Alamo. I was sorry to see that curiosity-seekers had not been able to keep their destroying hands from this interesting relic, but have chipped pieces therefrom, until the whole is threatened. I hope the State will take some means of preserving this relic of heroic times.

I made the acquaintance in Austin, of the son of the oldest clergyman of Boston. He has not lived in Massachusetts for more than forty years. For many years he lived in Missouri, and then emigrated to Texas, where he has been engaged in stock-raising. He told me he had been a secessionist ever since 1850, and had always hoped the time would come when he could get clear of any and all connections with the kind of his birth. Although he claims now to be loyal, yet he has no more conciliatory feelings than before.

Is the Church of Christ realizing the New Testament ideal and fully meeting the demands of the age? After a recess at noon, during which simple refreshments will be furnished in the hall below to delegates and friends from abroad, the following question will occupy the attention of the Convention in the afternoon:

THROUGH WHAT CHANNELS MAY THE CONSECRATED ACTIVITIES OF THE CHURCH BE BEST DIRECTED?

The Convention will adjourn at 5 o'clock, in season for the evening trains north and south. Able speakers from abroad are expected to participate in the discussion. The subject to be discussed is, "The Church of Christ in the Dispensation of the Spirit." Of Boston will speak in the evening, at Hancock Street Church, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Judge Chamberlain, of Boston, will speak in the Hancock Street Church, on Tuesday evening next.

ACCIDENT. Mrs. Wild, mother of John Q. A. Wild of this town, was found dead at the foot of the cellar stairs in her house, in Dorchester, on Wednesday last, where it is supposed she accidentally fell.

ERRATA. In Revivals, on our first page, fourth line from the bottom,—a period after man: fourth line from the top, next column, read weak for such.

Summary Intelligence.

A circus rider a few evenings ago, on a wagger, rode one of the circus horses from the bottom to the top of the circular stairs leading to the dome on the Court House at Chicago. The dome is one hundred feet from the landing. The stairs are not more than four feet wide, and the balusters not more than three feet high. The daring performance attracted a large crowd.

PACIFIC GUANO.

For the Ammoniated Pacific Guano.

AS Agents for the PACIFIC GUANO COM-

PANY, we call your attention to this article as a matter of importance and interest.

The Ammoniated Pacific Guano resembles PELVIC GUANO in appearance, odor and composition, and contains all the elements of fertility. That which renders the Pacific Guano superior to Peruvian is, that while it possesses sufficient animal matter and ammonia for all immediate stimulus, it also contains nearly double the amount of soluble

bone phosphate, which affords the crops

ample nourishment, and leaves the soil enriched

by the same for successive crops, (which is not the case with Peruvian Guano.)

We can assure the public that the Pacific

Guano is superior in point of actual value and economy to either Peruvian Guano or Super-

Phosphate of Lime, and is the best and most valuable fertilizer now offered to Farmers and Gardeners, containing more Ammonia, Soluble Phosphate and Bone

Phosphate of Lime than any other fertilizer

now offered, or known to us.

Know thy Destiny.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologer, clairvoyant and Psychometrist, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart to the largest number of her clients, the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &amp;c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send free of charge a certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what she purports to be. By capturing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications carefully confidential. Address in confidence, MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box, 223

A YOUNG LADY returning to her

country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of her former beauty, she had a soft, rosy complexion, a pair of almost marble smooth cheeks, and instead of ten-to three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told us that she used the CIRCASSIAN BALM, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance as a husband find. It is simply in its composition, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in efficiency in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the outside it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and

BE THYSELF.

Be thyself, a noble goal
Never preached the Neander;
Be thyself, 'tis holy Scripture,
Though no Bible lies between.
Dare to shape the thought in language
That is lying in thy brain;
Dare to launch it, banners flying,
On the bosom of the main.
What though pirate knaves surround thee,
Nail thy colors to the mast;
Finch not, flee not, boldly sailing,
Thou shalt gain the port at last.
Be no parrot, idly prating
Thoughts the spirit never knew;
Be a prophet of the God-son,
Telling all thy message true.
True, the sword world will scorn thee,
Friends may fall and friends will frown;
Heaven itself grow dark about thee,
God in anger thence look down.
Heed not; there's a world more potent,
Carried in their manly heart;
Be thyself, and do thy duty,
It will always take thy part.
If the God within say, Well done!
What are other Gods to thee?
Hell's his frown; but where his smile is,
There is heaven for the free.

RAISING CALVES.

When fresh cows sell from forty to sixty dollars each, it is not time to consider whether it will not be good policy to raise some calves, especially if we have good stock to raise from? Last season I raised two, and this spring I have already started three more; I consider early spring the best time to start them, as grass comes, when they will require but little care until fall.

How I start them. A calf that I am going to raise I never let suck the cow; it is much easier to learn it to drink alone, without the aid of the finger, before they were twelve hours old; and, after the second day have but little trouble with them, as they drink freely if they are in good health; beside, the great advantage is, when they are turned with the cows they never trouble them; neither have I put straps around the nose with long nails in, to prevent their sucking, as they know nothing about it.

What I feed them. The first two weeks I give the milk drawn from the mother of the calf; after that the calf comes, then I give them a little cake-meal, bran and salt, mixed with water, about milk-warm. It is better to scald the meal and let it soak twelve hours before feeding. If any is left, feed it to something else, and make fresh for the calves every time, as it will sour. About this time they eat a little hay—clover is best; as soon as there is grass enough for them to get a bite, I turn them out, and I soon slack off their food. A small enclosure, with water and shade, is the most suitable, where horses or cows are not permitted to run.—Germanum Telegraph.

TO JUDGE THE QUALITY OF COWS.

In order to judge of the qualities of a good milk cow, the shape and size of the animal in whole and detail should be considered, the temperament and disposition, also the strength of the constitution. If these points are well developed, the cow will generally prove to be a first class milk cow. Cows that "handle well" are always to be preferred for the dairy, as it indicates a good milk in a cow, whose skin is somewhat loose, and that will spring when pinched with the fore finger and thumb.

The thigh veins should be large, easily felt with the hand, and the udder should be capacious. It makes a great deal of difference in a milk cow, whether she be mild and gentle or hot, for the milder a cow is, the more milk will she give; therefore, in judging a cow, look out for a mild eye, and a placid expression of face.

GAS LIME FOR FRUIT TREES.

Gas lime was recommended as an excellent to repel the borer from entering fruit trees near the surface of the ground. W. S. Carpenter thought the borer which is doing so much injury to our orchards, might be destroyed, or repelled, by the use of this lime. He had employed it with most satisfactory results, in repelling bugs from squash and cucumber vines, by sprinkling a small quantity of the lime near the growing vines. The poisonous effluvia arising from the lime, will soon stupefy and kill every insect that approaches the vines.

One person had used this lime twelve years ago for this purpose, and no bugs nor insects had appeared since in that locality.—Mass. Ploverman.

Inednotes.

Lawyer C—, (entering his friend, Dr. M—, office, and speaking in a hoarse whisper,)—"Fred, I've got such a cold this morning, I can't speak the truth."

Dr. M—, "Well, I'm glad it's nothing that will interfere with your business." C—finds enough of his voice to utter some antiquated remarks about doctors being legalized murderers, &c., and bolts off to meet an engagement.

A well known Doctor, who has a literary as well as a professional reputation, recently complained to his Publisher that the printers made horrible work with his manuscript.

"Ah, Doctor," replied the Publisher, who is noted for his wit, "you doctors have a great advantage over the poor printers. All their faults are exposed to the eye, but those committed by you are buried with the patient."

CARE AND HEALTH OF THE FEET.

HOW Many thousand of people are made unhappy and miserable by the neglect and cruel treatment of the feet.

How often are Asthma, Consumption, Colic, Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Croup, Convulsions, Congestions, Fevers and nervous diseases, clearly traceable to the neglect and improper treatment of the feet.

The feet are subject to the greatest extremes of heat and cold, and deprived of that most essential element of life and health, air.

No part of the body is treated with so little judgment, while no part requires the exercise of more. The fluids of the body naturally gravitate towards the feet, and the capillaries or pores are larger and more active. They pour out more waste matter than any other equal surface. If the evaporation is checked, their covering becomes saturated with the perspiration, and the feet, softened, chilled, tender and unhealthy.

Nature repairs damages more slowly upon the feet than upon parts nearer the heart, therefore greater care should be taken to protect them from injury.

Healthy comfortable feet, cheerful tempers and LIGHT DOCTORS' BILLS, are always in conjunction. Secure proper ventilation, with frequent bathing, and generally nature will keep all things right. Heretofore, the many contrivances for the feet were all faulty. Cork, Felt, Fur and Flannel, lie flat upon the inside of the shoe, absorb the moisture and become wet through.

Rubber, inside or outside, retains the moisture, and prevents evaporation. Leather preservatives will not prevent leakage. Until lately there has been no method conceived, that entirely obviates these difficulties.

Those who have worn

DAGGETT'S ELASTIC

Ventilating Inner Soles,

are unanimous in testimony that the correct principle has been hit upon and reduced to practical and successful use.

The foot rests upon a cushion of air cells between points of vulcanized rubber, every cell opening freely into each other and through the space occupied by the foot. There is no contact of the foot with the wet bottom of the boot.

The elastic points sustain the weight of the wearer, leaving an air space always, between the foot and all dampness. Every step compresses and restores the air chambers, thus constituting hundreds of air pumps, working at every step of the foot.

The rubber points will not absorb the moisture of the foot, so that the soft flannel which covers them is always dry. Their springing elasticity renders them of peculiar value to the aged and inf

Poetry.
For the Patriot.
THE TAILOR'S SONG.
BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WYOMOUTH.

For the wife and children, one stick more,
Pull out, pull out, pull out;
The long day's labor will soon be o'er,
Pull out, pull out, pull out;
For John, and Tom, and Fan and Sue,
Pull out, pull out, pull out;
For her who is so kind and true,
Pull out, pull out, pull out;
To cheer the wife so kind and good,
Pull out, pull out, pull out;
The man who toils to earn his bread,
Pull out, pull out, pull out;
To cheer the wife so kind and good,
Pull out, pull out, pull out;
He envies not the upper ten,
Pull out, pull out, pull out;
He's one of nature's noble men,
Pull out, pull out, pull out.

Interesting Selections.
CREAM CUP CAKE. Four cups of flour, two cups of sugar, three cups of cream, and four eggs, a little salt and half a nutmeg. Beat it well and bake in small tin pans. When cold cut in squares.
Bake in a quick oven.

INDIAN MEAL PUFFS. Into one quart of boiling milk, stir eight spoonful of Indian meal and four spoonful of sugar;
boil five minutes stirring constantly; when cool, add six well beaten eggs; bake in buttered cups half an hour.

To Remove Fur from Kettles. When the fur (or lime) collects on the inside of a kettle, fill the kettle with water, and put into it a quarter of a pound of Spanish whiting. Boil it for an hour or until the lime is entirely removed.

ENVY. If Envy, like Anger, did not burn itself in its own fire, and consume and destroy those persons it possessed, before it can destroy those it wishes worst to, it would set the whole world on fire, and leave the most excellent persons the most miserable.—Lord Clarendon.

A clergyman gave the following toast that was not very gallant, at a late fireman's celebration:—"Our fire engines
—may they be like old maids—ever ready, but never wanted!"

A widow lady sitting by a cheer- ful fire in a meditative mood, shortly after her husband's decease, sighed out:—
"Poor fellow—how he did like a good fire! I hope he has gone where they keep good fires!"

"MY BURDEN IS LIGHT." A wise man sought to explain to his little child
the nature of a cross. He took two slips of wood, a long and a short one. "See," my child," he said, "the long piece is your will; the short piece is your will; lay your will in a line with the will of God, and you will have no cross; lay it athwart, and you make a cross directly."

A quaint old Methodist preacher of Texas, years ago, used to announce his text thus:—
"You will find my text in the eighth chapter of Isaiah, ninth verse. And if you don't find it there, you will find it in the book of Genesis, chapter 1, verse 1; and if you don't find it there, you will find it in the book of Genesis, chapter 1,

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 1867.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

VERY SUCCESSFUL. The Mutual Fire Insurance Company of this town, has become one of the largest and most prosperous institutions of the kind in New England. It has added $52,000 to its cash fund the past year, or one thousand dollars per week. The Company has nearly twenty-two million dollars at risk, having added three millions last year. Cash receipts last year, $135,000. At the annual meeting held on the 3d inst., the old board of officers was elected for the year ensuing. We could with pleasure speak of the excellent management of this company, of its energetic officers, but the above facts, we believe, tell more forcibly than any words we have at command.

ACCIDENT. A little son of Mr. William Clark on Saturday last, while watching the men at work raising coal at the Point, had both hands drawn into the machinery of a coal-hoisting apparatus, crushing one and badly bruising the other. One of his fingers had to be amputated.

The above occurrence, together with a disgraceful fight of an hour's duration, between two sailors on the wharf, and a runaway accident, made the day one of unusual excitement for our usually quiet neighbors at the Point.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE. The following property in this town, has recently changed hands, viz:

House and land near Brackett's wharf, owned by I. W. Munroe, to Henry H. Faxon, for about $900.

Estate on Kinder street, owned by Finton Murphy, to N. D. Chase and others, for $1,600.

Two houses at Quincy Neck, owned by Bryant Newcomb, to Henry H. Faxon.

Estate on Granite Street, owned by Henry Wood, to David Ridout.

The valuable quarry, belonging to the heirs of Noah Curtis, and worked for many years by E. C. Sargent, Esq., has been purchased by Mr. Chas. R. Mitchell.

JURORS DRAWN. Messrs. William Davenport, Charles S. French and Peter R. Turner have been drawn to serve as Jurors, the former as Grand Juror for the year and the latter as Petit Jurors, Superior Court, Norfolk County, April term.

NEW APPOINTMENT. We learn that the labors of Mr. Jacob Flint, for many years the faithful superintendent of the Town House, ceased on the first instant. The Selectmen have appointed Mr. Joseph T. French, to take charge of the same.

THE HUTCHINSON FAMILY. It gives us pleasure to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of this favorite troupe. They have visited this place several times in former years, and have always met with hearty applause from a large and appreciating audience.

The Rev. Rowland Connor, associate pastor of School Street Church, Boston, will exchange pulpits with the pastor of the Universalist Society in this place, to-morrow afternoon at 2 1-2 o'clock.

RING'S NEW EXPRESS WAGON, built expressly for Mr. R. by the Messrs. Tirell & Sons, in their best manner, made its first appearance in our streets on Thursday last, for beauty, strength and service, we do not think it can be excelled.

Mr. J. C. Felch alone the ornamental work; the lettering on the sides—the owner's name—is bold and striking, that can be read without trouble at a long distance—the letters are bold, dashing and perfect in their finish; but the skill of the artist is better displayed in his sketches and designs, drawn by fancy's pencil, in front and on the sides; here is his forte, where Mr. F., has most creditably acquitted himself. Its cost is somewhere in the neighborhood of $500.

Such an express-man and express-wagon, expresses an energy, that an expressive community will appreciate, and express in a patronizing way.

QUINCY SAVINGS BANK: ESTABLISHED IN 1845.

At a meeting of the Quincy Savings Bank Corporation, held on the 9th instant the following gentlemen were chosen officers for the ensuing year, and have accepted said trust:

Joshiah Brigham, President.
Daniel Baxter, Vice President.

Trustees.
Noah Cummings, Charles Marsh, Charles R. Mitchell, William S. Morton, John Q. Adams, Whitcomb Porter, Horace B. Spear, Edward Turner, Israel W. Munroe, George A. Brackett.

State of the Bank, April 1st, 1867.

LIABILITIES.

TEMPERANCE.

This writer indulges in the unworthy insinuation that "the Journal and other dailies have been bought up by the 'rum interest'; and goes on to praise the Traveller as alone incorruptible. I am not a subscriber to the Traveller, nor do I ever happen to see it at people's houses, therefore I can say nothing about the merits of the paper, one way or the other. But both the Journal and the Transcript I am sure, are too widely-circulated, and too well known, to suffer from any accusation of this sort. And I have not the least hesitation in declaring that the Advertiser, of which I have been a constant reader for years, is above the faintest suspicion of bribery. Neither do I believe that the Post or the Herald are not strong enough to stand upon their own opinions. Because a paper comes out fearlessly in favor of a license law, is it therefore to be even hinted that it has been 'bought up'? I suppose we shall hear next that Gov. Andrew, and Louis Agassiz, and Bishop Eastburn, and Dr. Peabody, and Dr. Biagden, and the scores more of pure, honorable and Christian men, who gave their testimony in favor of a license law, have been 'bought up by the rum interest.'"

The statement is made that "out of 1018 clergymen in the State, 962 are in favor of a prohibitory law, and 56 are in favor of a license law." But there are two or three times 1018 clergymen in the State; and in Boston alone over 56 clergymen are in favor of a license law. It is not unnatural that in the rural districts, where drunkenness is comparatively rare, clergymen, judging rather by theory than experience, should plead for a license law; but it is worthy of note that in Boston, where there is a better opportunity than anywhere else in the State of judging of the practical effects of the present system, the large majority of the clergymen oppose the system as impracticable, and as inconsistent with our free civilization.

One thing more. There is an ill-concealed desire, on the part of certain prohibitionists, to put all persons who are not total abstemious into the same category with common drunkards. Now I do not propose to open a discussion of this great temperance question. Nor have I any thing to say against the laudable efforts of the Good Templars and others to check the spread of the terrible evil of intemperance. But knowing, as I do, that there are tens of thousands of good Christians, men and women, who, in the exercise of their Christian liberty, make such use of wine as they think right; and personally acquainted, as I am, with not a few persons, who, although not total abstemious, are as humble, sincere and faithful disciples of Christ, as the world can boast of; I must earnestly protest against the Pharisaic assumption that would visit with a common condemnation temperate persons and drunkards.

Allow me to add that I write these plain words not in "the rum interest," but in the interest of liberty, in the interest of temperance, in the interest of God, and of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, who, because he was not a total abstemious, was called a drunkard.

JOHN D. WELLS.

LETTER FROM THE SOUTH—NO. 5.

RED RIVER, FEB. 25, 1867.

I returned to Galveston on the day of the funeral ceremonies over the body of Albert Sidney Johnson. You have of course seen what has been written on this subject. Johnson was much beloved by the people of Texas, from the fact of his being the first Secretary of war of the "Republic of Texas." It had been designed that all the ex-rebel organizations should escort his body with banners and badges, and it was because General Griffin refused to allow this, that his name has been covered with obliquity.

On my return to New Orleans, it was my pleasure to attend the annual dinner of the "National Union Club," at their rooms on Canal street. It was indeed a great pleasure; for here I met a few of those who had remained true to their country in the time of adversity and trial. On February 6th, I took passage on a "Red River steamerboat" for Shreveport, and returned on the 16th. Nothing of interest occurred. The planters were happily bent upon making a good crop the coming year, and spoke in favorable terms of the freedmen, telling how ever in great glee all the foolish things said and done by them. One of these planters when starting down for the city, was called upon by his freedmen with requests to purchase various articles for them. All wanted either a revolver or a rifle. They had all made known their wishes, but one old man; as he came upon his employer said "Well, Jim, what do you want? The boys all want guns—Don't you want one too?" "Yes, massa—"

"Well now, Jim, wouldn't you like me to get you a six-pounder? You could kill all the birds at one shot." "Oh, yes, massa, bring me a six-pounder." And the old man would have taken it, not knowing what it was.

I met on the boat several gentlemen who were original secessionists, who are now in favor of negro suffrage, and are going to urge it upon the people of their sections. Altogether my trip was a pleasant and agreeable one.

I again returned to New Orleans, and found the ex-rebel portion of the people in high spirits over the great success attending the opening of the fair in aid of the "Southern Hospital Association."—More, anon.

Yours truly,
C. A. F.

MENTAL EPIDEMICS.—No. V.

THE MADNESS OF CROWDS.

There is a kind of contagion, purely mental; a peculiar aptitude in minds, and especially in society, to assume a peculiar train of thought, or feeling, grave or gay, according to the ideas held up before them at the time. And one mind thus impressed, is seen by a neighbor, and so it spreads from one to another, by the laws of Sympathetic Imitation.—All panics, all revivals, and witchcraft, spread by these well known laws.

In the following account we have an illustration, and a demonstration of the truth of this theory; and the correspondent of the paper in which I find it quoted, facetiously calls it a "Mouse Revival," as indeed it was:

"At a cotton manufactory, at Hodder Bridge, in Lancaster, a girl, on the 15th February (1875), put a mouse to the breast of another girl who had a great dread of mice. The girl was immediately thrown into a fit, and continued in it with the most violent convulsions for twenty-four hours. On the following day twenty more girls were seized in the same manner; and on the 17th, six more. By this time the alarm was so great that the whole work, in which between two and three hundred were employed, was totally stopped, and an idea prevailed that a particular disease had been introduced by a bag of cotton opened in the house. On Sunday, the 18th, Dr. Clark was sent for from Preston; before he arrived three more were seized, during that night and the morning of the 19th eleven more, making in all, twenty-four. Of these, twenty-one were young women, two were girls about ten years of age, and one man, who had been much fatigued with holding the girls. Three of the number lived about two miles from the place where the disorder first broke out, and three at another factory at Clitheroe, about five miles distant, which last, and two more, were infected entirely from report, not having seen the other patients; but like them and the rest of the country, strongly impressed with the idea of the plague being caught from cotton. The symptoms were—anxiety, strangulation, and very strong convulsions, and they were so violent as to last, without any intermission, from a quarter of an hour to twenty-four hours, and to require four or five persons to prevent the patients from tearing their hair and dashing their heads against the floor or walls. Dr. Clark had taken with him a portable electric machine, and by electric shocks the patients were universally relieved, without exception. As soon as the patients and country were assured that the complaint was merely nervous, easily cured, and not introduced by the cotton, no fresh person was afflicted. To dissipate their apprehensions still further, the best effects were obtained by causing them to take a glass and join in a dance. On Tuesday, the 20th, they danced, and the next day were all at work, except two or three, who were much weakened by their fits."—Gentleman's Magazine, for 1875, p. 268.

Now, bear in mind what I have said in my third and fourth numbers, and you will understand how all revivals, so called are 'got up.'

Rustic Lodge, April 13.

UNITARIAN CONFERENCE.

The Plymouth and Bay Conference held its first meeting, since its organization, with the First Church of Christ in this place, on Tuesday last. Hon. William H. Mitchell, of East Bridgewater, presiding. Nearly all the societies represented sent full delegations, and altogether the meeting was highly gratifying and encouraging. Rev. Mr. Livermore of Lexington, a member of the Executive Board of the American Unitarian Association, presented with force and earnestness the pressing claims of that body, in view of the rapidly growing demand, all over the land, for the preaching of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus, as it is understood by liberal Christians; and the large assembly dispersed with a more solemn determination to provide a more generous and full supply of the spiritual food after which this world hungers and thirsts.

OFFICERS ELECTED. At the annual meeting of the Dorchester Mutual Fire Insurance Company, held on Tuesday last, the following persons were elected Directors for the year ensuing:—

E. J. Baker, Hiram W. Blanchard, H. Humphrey, Charles Hunt, Oliver Hall, Lagoon Pratt, William Pope, Henry Pope, J. W. Porter, J. H. Robinson, E. H. R. Ruggles, Wm. H. Swan, Wm. F. Temple, J. H. Upham, M. P. Wilder, of Dorchester; Samuel Babcock, of Milton; Joseph Day, of South Dedham; William Clark, of Roxbury; H. O. Hildreth, and M. P. Sumner, of Dedham; Charles Stearns of Brookline; J. Torrey of North Weymouth; C. Washburn of Barnstable, and R. C. Wood of Canton.

At a meeting of the Directors, E. J. Baker was chosen President and Treasurer, and Wm. F. Temple, Secretary.

THE POTATO MARKET. Potatoes were selling in Skowhegan, Me., for 85 cents per bushel on Thursday last for Western markets. In Eastport, they were selling for 60 cents last week.

GARDENING TO SOME PROFIT. The Norwich Bulletin says that a fruit grower in that vicinity, last week, shipped to New York sixteen quarts of strawberries, for which he received seven dollars per quart.

The Boston Transcript thinks a Yankee school-ma'am would be more of a curiosity at the Paris exhibition than a Yankee school-house.

Such lively music was rendered by an organist at a "high church" in New York the other evening, that an old man actually got on the aisle and commenced to dance a breakdown.

TEMPERANCE ITEMS.

The great Temperance Convention which has been in progress at the State House for six weeks, and which embraced delegates from every part of the Commonwealth as well as some from neighboring States, has adjourned.

Temperance men are under great obligations to the friends of the liquor traffic for getting up this meeting. It has accomplished more for the cause of temperance than a hundred lectures given in the usual way, could possibly have done.

A FALL. From the position of Governor of Massachusetts to the public advocacy of the rum interest to Boston.

Only five of the thirty-eight Selectmen of Barnstable County are in favor of a license law. Good for Barnstable.

In the answers from clergymen received by the State Temperance Alliance, three Roman Catholic Priests declared themselves for Prohibition. This fact should be recorded.

It is reported that one of the counsel for the petitioners for a license law receives $20,000 for his services, and the other $5000. The Rev. Mr. Miner and William E. Spooner, Esq., who so ably and successfully defended the other side, received nothing, excepting the consciousness of laboring for the truth, and the sincere thanks of every temperance man and woman of Massachusetts.

The petitioners for a license law examined one hundred and ten witnesses. The remonstrants in the same number of days called seventy-five. This difference was owing to the fact that the counsel for the petitioners consumed a great amount of time in the cross-examination. The weight of testimony however, must be judged of by the public. The friends of prohibition are satisfied with that part of it.

Of the 550 inmates of our State Prison, more than three-fourths of them became criminals through drinking. The Chaplain asked them to vote the other day on the question of Prohibition and License. Nearly all voted; and two voted for Prohibition to one for License.

STELLA.

CHRISTIAN CONVENTION.

The fine weather Thursday, and the interest which the first Convention of the kind in this vicinity awakened, drew together a large audience, in the Town Hall.

Rev. S. H. Hayes of South Weymouth was Moderator, and Rev. Z. A. Mudge, Scribe. Pastors in Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth and Dorchester participated in the discussion, also, Messrs. Durant, C. W. Smith, M. H. Sargent, Reuben Croke, Dr. Whitney and other laymen from Boston and neighborhood. Senator Wilson spoke with great effect. The first gave an account of the Congressional prayer meeting at the Capitol, and then referred to the obligations resting upon Christians, in the private walks of life to adorn their profession and maintain their fidelity to Jesus. He urged young men to consecrate themselves to the life and labor of Christians with the same heartiness as they showed in serving their country. "When the old flag was in danger our young men," he said, "flew to its defence, and now 250,000 are sleeping in their graves, sacrifices to their country's welfare. A great work yet remains to be done, and our young men are our country's looks. I beg of you, as you love your parents, your homes and your country, so also to love your Saviour. I would give my life to-day to have been able a year ago to say to my dear boy, now in his grave, what I am saying to you now. Be fearless followers of Christ. Let it be known that you are His, and fear not the frowns of the world."

Mr. Wilson spoke with deep feeling and his address was received with corresponding sympathy and appreciation by the large audience. At five o'clock the Convention adjourned, to meet at Weymouth, Rev. L. Dickerman's, Thursday April 18th.

AN INJUNCTION was granted on Tuesday last, by Judge Smalley, in Vermont, in behalf of the Calhoun Manufacturing Company, against several dealers in lamps, for selling without license hinge lamp burners. It is important that all dealers should know that such burners are patented, and that the patent was recently decided by Judge Clifford, in Massachusetts, to be good and valid.

LIGHT is breaking in upon us from all directions. Since the example of a few of our enterprising citizens, and the late action of the town in regard to lighting our streets with gas, of dark nights, our people appear to have taken quite an interest in the matter, and shafts or other fixtures for that purpose, are springing up all around us.

H. F. Durant, Esq., will speak at the Congregational Church next Tuesday evening.

A gentleman residing in South Boston, purchased a bottle of Dr. Fuller's Buchu for his wife, who had for a long time been suffering with kidney complaint, (with pain in the back,) with a severe irritation of the bladder; sometimes was laid up for weeks; after taking a few doses of it, was much relieved, and little more than two bottles have apparently entirely cured. She had been under the care of several physicians, and had taken many other preparations, all of which failed to give her the satisfactory relief received from this preparation. This is only one of the many instances which we could refer to. The preparation can be had at all drug stores.

The town of Perry, Me., is in debt six dollars and two cents. The Treasurer should make a donation of the odd cents so as to have his accounts even.

A SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of the Patriot:—

In your issue of the 30th ult. "Cash-us" makes an important request for a "subject."

Without having the remotest intention to ridicule, and having great faith in the ability of my friend "Cash-us," I would with the profoundest respect suggest that he give us an elaborate and careful criticism of the articles which have been laid to rest so much of the "Patriot," entitled "Mental Epidemics," and "The Revival."

Also, in connection with the criticism, will he be so kind as to tell us, in his candid, well-matured judgment, he believes the writers of either article compos mentis.

THE QUINCY FRENCH CLASS. We can hardly be silent to so great and excellent an opportunity, now offered to our citizens, to become at once conversant with a language which is so brilliant in its literature, and spoken at all the courts, in polite society and commerce. We are glad to learn from the members of the French class, that Prof. Thor's system is most pleasing, concise and well calculated to benefit the pupil in reading, writing and speaking the language. We copy the following testimony from the Boston Transcript:

"Prof. THORE has lately taken up his residence here, and according to the reports which have come to us from those interested in education, he brings a new system of teaching the above-named language, efficient, peculiar to himself, and almost entirely dispensing with elaborate grammars. His happy method of unfolding and communicating this is equally his own. The teachers in the higher grades of public schools would probably derive much benefit from an acquaintance with this system."

THE RETURN OF SPRING. We saw a neighbor a few mornings since preparing his garden for planting—and a venerable toad, who was out sunning himself under the shelter of a stone wall, he looked grave and thoughtful, as if he did not realize his situation,—or had been suddenly woke out of a long sleep,—and the robins and other summer birds has at last overtaken us.

YE OLD FOLKS PARTY, on Wednesday evening, turned out, as it was hoped it would, a benefit to the manager. There were between thirty and forty couple present, who, in a plain, unostentatious way, with solid comforts, and old-fashioned pleasures, passed a very pleasant evening.

They are going to have a new fort on Long Island in Boston harbor.

The passage of the bill in the Senate of the United States on Tuesday, by nearly a unanimous vote, ceding to the United States all the Russian possessions on the Pacific, was made the subject of much rejoicing in Washington.

President Johnson had quite a severe attack of his old complaint,—liver affection,—he is better now; an excursion to the sea shore is talked of.

Hon. Thaddeus Stevens is slowly recovering from his late indisposition. The doctors say he must be careful.

Know thy Destiny.

MADAME F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrist, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a life like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written assurance, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, sex, position and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and detailed information by return mail. All communications strictly confidential. Address in care of Madame F. THORNTON, P. O. Box, 223 Hudson, N. Y.

SUPER-PHOSPHATE

From the Christian Secretary, Hartford, Ct.

Our readers will recollect that we published

some articles last Spring concerning this excellent fertilizer, and will notice the following from

Rev. H. W. Beecher, who has a farm in Peck-

skill, N. Y.:—

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1867.

Wm. L. BRADLEY—Dear Sir,—I tried several barrels of your X. L. Super-Phosphate of Lime

during the season of 1866, on my farm at Peck-skill. The soil was a clay loam, on a clay and gravel sub-soil. I found it to be excellent upon all garden vegetables, peas, beets, lettuce, cabbage, &c. The onions of which I raised several acres, were so much improved by it, that the difference between those which had received your phosphate and those on which I had used another favorite brand, was distinguishable at a long distance. I used it upon grass with satisfactory results.

My foreman, T. J. Turner, who more particularly is conversant with the details of the soil, speaks very highly of it.

It is quality is faithfully kept up to the standard and it cannot but satisfy every reasonable expectation.

APRIL.

April, April is at hand,

Joy and gladness greet the land;

Flowers are springing here and there;

Birds with music fill the air;

Streamlets, from their fetters free,

Now are hastening o'er the sea,

Chiming in their parting way,

With the robin's sweetest lay.

On their wings the zephyr bears

Flora smiling, Flora fair,

Strewing flowers far and wide,

On the rocky mountain side;

In the meadow, in the fen,

In the glade, and in the dells,

Where the fearless eagle dwells,

Where the hardy sea-bird yells.

To the field the farmer now,

Hies him with his team and plow,

To prepare, with hopeful toil,

For the seed the waiting soil;

Ev'ry bush and ev'ry tree,

Greeting him with notes of glee,

Cheer him as he speeds along,

Listening to an endless song.

Howling Boreas, in fear,

Seeks his icy home and drear,

Daring not to check his flight;

While before the zephyr's might;

Not a solitary wall

Is wasted by the vernal gale;

But upon the face of earth

All is gladness, all is mirth.

April, joy of every one,

By the genial winds and sun,

Thou dost bear the latest snow

From the mountain's shady brow;

Thou dost call the birds that sing

Praises of returning Spring,

And dost gently smooth the

"I'm sure there is," said she; "you don't get natural at all. Shant I get up and get something for you?"

And she got up, lighted a candle and came to the bedside to look at me, shading the light with her hand.

"I knew there was something strange about you," said she; "why, you are sober?"

Now this is a fact, and my wife will swear to it; so don't you slander me any more by saying I haven't been to bed sober in six months, because I have."

SATURDAY, APRIL 20, 1867.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

CHANGES. The old house near the junction of Adams and Hancock streets, owned in days of yore, by the late John Pray, and more recently by Hon. Francis M. Johnson and E. B. Pratt Esq., has been purchased by Lyman S. Richards, of Boston, formerly of this town, for about seven hundred dollars. All the timbers, appear to be perfectly sound, although the house is one of the oldest in town. We learn that Mr. Richards intends moving the same about a quarter of a mile farther north, to a very pretty piece of land bought by him of Francis Williams Esq., on Hancock street, adjoining the premises of Mr. Charles M. Smith,—there to renovate the same.

The crooked line on Hancock street, where the old house now stands, we are pleased to inform our readers, is to be made straight. The two beautiful elm trees in front of the old mansion, which are too valuable to be destroyed, will project so far into the street as to be in the way, will probably be cut down. When these changes are all completed, which will take several months at least, there will be such a marked improvement, that many of our citizens will be surprised to see how little it takes to make great changes.

QUINCY HORSE RAILROAD. The travel on this road this spring is large—the cars go loaded—owing partly, no doubt, to the low fares and good management. The Company intend soon, we learn, to put on cars evening hours to Newport, which will relieve the regular hourly cars of their burdens.

FIRE. The fire on Saturday forenoon last proceeded from a double frame building, which had taken fire in the West District, occupied by Henry G. Roche. It was badly damaged. We learn that the house was insured at the Quincy Mutual for six hundred dollars which has been promptly paid by the Company. The fire is supposed to have caught by a defect in the flue. The remains of the house, household furniture, and about one acre of land, will be sold at auction, on the premises, at three o'clock this afternoon.

THE CODDINGTON SCHOOL HOUSE ON FIRE. The alarm was spread through our village on Monday last, about the hour, 2 o'clock, that the afternoon exercises commenced; which set the bells ringing, the engines running, and the dogs barking. It appears that during the nooning of the floor of the basement, round the stove, had taken fire from falling embers, which fortunately was discovered in season to prevent any serious consequences, except a slight nervous excitement to the parents.

CONCERT BY THE CHOIR OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH. It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, that the Choir of the above Church propose giving a Concert at the Town Hall on Monday evening next.

The entertainments heretofore given by the Choir, have been remarkable for excellent taste in the selection of the pieces, and the admirable rendering of the music, and we have no doubt the forthcoming Concert will prove fully equal to its predecessors.

We clip the following notice of the Choir's last Concert, given on March 18th, from the Boston Transcript, of 19th ult.:

"The commemorative celebration of St. Patrick's Day by the Choir of St. John's Church, under the auspices of St. Patrick's Society, consisting of a musical and dramatic entertainment, was the occasion of great enjoyment to a large audience, and was in itself a performance of more than average order of merit. The Organist of the Church, Mrs. James Keating, presided at the piano with excellent taste and skill, and the Choir in the choruses, as well as in the solos, duets and quartets, exhibited much natural musical talent and superior training. In the dramatic part of the programme, the 'Rough Diamond' proved to be a perfect gem in every particular, and the amateur actors and actresses elicited praise from many attendants on more professional performances."

PROTECT THE BIRDS. A wanton and malicious outrage, which came to our knowledge a few mornings since, makes this timely warning necessary. A pet bird—a robin—which was a favorite of its kind, on account of its singular and beautiful plumage,—that made the shady groves on and around School street its home—was shot, by a heartless and thoughtless youth, one day this week, not before, however, he had been reminded of the cruelty of the deed, and the consequences of the unlawful act.

HALIFAX. The citizens of Halifax have made arrangements to erect a soldiers' monument the coming season. The structure will be of Quincy granite, 20 feet high, square in form, and bearing the names of deceased soldiers from that town on the four sides. The cost will be $300.

Henry F. Durant, Esq., will speak at the Congregational Church, next Tuesday evening. All interested are invited.

For the Patriot.

THE PRESS.

DEAR PATRIOT: I am glad to see that there is one minister of the Gospel in this town, who dares to publicly refute the base calumny on the press by those narrow-minded, and impracticable persons who style themselves "prohibitionists." The aggressive arrogance of the assertion, that certain newspapers who favor a stringent liquor license law have been bought up by the "rum interest," is in itself enough to stigmatize the author as a person entirely devoid of a far-seeing, comprehensive mind, and destitute of a catholic and liberal mental organization. These would be immaculate human beings arrogate to themselves all the philanthropy and sagacity which exists in the community. They are simply "visionary enthusiasts," who pretend to love their fellow beings better than they love themselves, and are eager in their liberalism to force into the minds of a highly intelligent portion of our citizens a dogma which cannot be fully exemplified, and which can in no way conduce to the common weal of society. If these persons believe in total abstinence, let them practice it and advocate in a proper manner, their opinions and convictions. But it is the rudest impertinence to characterize those who differ in opinion, as in the "rum interest." These persons condemn the course of Governor Andrew, Professor Agassiz, and some of the profoundest thinkers in this Commonwealth as catering to the liquor interest; whereas, the truth is, these men are competent to comprehend the entire temperance question, and see at once how impolitic is the course pursued by the radical temperance men. Public sentiment is rapidly becoming enlightened upon this question, and during the next political campaign, those men who are puerile about this matter of prohibition, will be forced to give way to those who have broader ideas and notions concerning the government of the people.

Meanwhile, those who believe in the practicability of a stringent license law, can rest with the ample assurance that there is enlisted in their cause, the greater portion of the intelligence and influence of the State. E. F. WILLIAMSON.
Quincy, April 17, 1867.

THE CHALLENGE.—Terms of Acceptance.

The only conditions on which I will meet Mr. Sunderland in a friendly discussion, are these:

That as he is to take the affirmative of the proposition to be discussed, and is the challenging party, he may speak a fortnight from to-morrow, May 3th, in the forenoon, with notes or extemporaneous, and that I will speak one week from that time, in the negative, at the same time of day. The platform to be cleared of every one but the speaker. The speakers not to be interrupted by questions from the other side. Each to read and speak his own views upon these different days, without interference; as I do not care to engage in any "stumping."

I thus accept the challenge; because I have been publicly impudently to do so. But I can assure Mr. Sunderland that nothing will be gained by him in "laying me out," for I am neither of any public notoriety in regard to revivals, nor a revivalist, nor was never converted,—but believe that good comes from it,—and will meet him in this aspect, and not as an "accredited revivalist." By leaving his acceptance or disagreement at the Patriot office, with these conditions precedent, he will confer a favor on me. Cy PRES.

FUN AHEAD. By reference to another column in to-day's paper, it will be seen that the Proprietors of the "United States Circus and Menagerie," Messrs. Cushing & Co., propose giving one of their highly interesting and entertaining exhibitions, in this town, on Wednesday afternoon and evening next. This Circus, with its unrivalled troupe of equestrians, gymnastic performers, its comic and other attractive features, and the rare and choice collection of animals composing the menagerie, have received most flattering notices from the press. To the lovers of equestrian sports, and the wonders of the natural world, an entertainment is here offered, which cannot fail to please and interest.

THE MINISTER'S WIFE: MOTHERLESS MAID.—HARRIS S. S. STORY. Two good, truthful tales; the former telling the story of a Western minister's work, and drawing characters from real life, with wholesome instruction for parishioners as well as for persons; and the other, a touching narrative of the triumph of virtue over slander and abuse, showing that truth and goodness will finally win the day. The binding and illustrations, as in all this Society's issues, are attractive and the books deserve wide reading.

OUR FATHER'S BUSINESS: Reader Brothers. Whatever Dr. Guthrie writes, especially his comments on Biblical truth, will always be sought with avidity. This volume only needs to be announced to ensure a rapid sale. Its binding is tasteful and substantial.

THE EXTRA SESSION of the Senate of the United States, it is reported will close its brief existence to-day. There has been a hard struggle between the "hold-overs" and "go-homes" to bring about this result,—the former, fearful to leave the government in the hands of the President, during the recess, without a check, while the latter, are willing to trust him with the responsibility of running the machine during the cholera season.

In the manufacture of sale boots and shoes, scraps of leather that were formerly regarded as worthless, are now extensively used in many places, and purchasers would be somewhat surprised to see what miserable stuff is put into the heels, filling, &c.

Three of the five largest piano manufacturing in the country are in Boston.

TEMPERANCE ITEMS.

To the Editor of the Patriot:—

On the first day of April there had been received at the State House two hundred and fifty-eight remonstrances against the passage of a license law, from one hundred and eighty-two cities and towns.—Twenty-five were from Boston. These represent not far from ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND persons. They are still pouring in.

Two young men the other day as they were lifting the intoxicating cup to their lips, jokingly referred to the endorsement of two Doctors of Divinity who had appeared in behalf of a license law before the Legislative Committee.

The circulation of the Boston Traveller, the temperance daily, is not far from twenty-five thousand, and is rapidly increasing.

There are three classes in favor of a license law: 1st.—Now and then a temperance man. This class, however, is very small, the large majority of temperance men being strongly in favor of prohibition. 2d.—All moderate and all moderate drinkers, excepting here and there a poor fellow who desires to be reformed, and is anxious to have the temptation removed. 3d.—All rum-sellers. Hence the following rule is a safe one for temperance men to act upon: Find out the cause of the rum-seller, and then give it to them in large doses.

In Boston and immediate vicinity, one hundred and eighty-three ministers signed a remonstrance against the passage of a license law. The Catholic clergy of the city, however, as elsewhere, are with perhaps a single exception or two, in favor of such a law. So are nearly all the ministers of the Episcopal churches in the city.

A Boston parson was about organizing a Young Men's Total Abstinence Society just at the time several ministers appeared before the Legislative Committee in favor of a license law. He was but partially successful in his efforts, several young men declining to sign such a pledge, because ministers who testified favored moderate drinking. To what extent, probably, have these clergymen furthered the temperance cause?

Of the whole number of clergymen in the State, eleven hundred thus far have declared themselves, in response to the question put to them by the State Alliance, in favor of prohibition, and fifty-seven against it. Answers are constantly being received.

STELLA.

RICH AND BEAUTIFUL. Ladies visiting the city in pursuit of millinery goods will find a very large and handsome stock of rich goods at Cushman & Brooks' old stand, 90 and 92 Tremont street. We know of no place in Boston, where ladies can find a better variety of these goods than at this old and favorite stand.

PIANO FORTE. Let those who wish to send their children to a competent teacher on the Piano, read the advertisement of Mrs. Keith in our columns to-day.

MESSENGER & Co., Chemists, Syracuse, N. Y., would call your attention to their advertisements in another column, headed "Reparator Capilli," "Crisper Coma," and "Circassian Balm." These, undoubtedly, are the most perfect and efficacious articles of the kind ever offered the American public. To unbelievers, we would say, "try them and be convinced."

THE GALAXY, FOR APRIL 15, 1867. This twenty-fourth number completes the third volume and the first year. The same general character which has marked the magazine in the past will be maintained in the future. With constantly increasing resources, the Galaxy will aim to keep pace with the growth of literary taste in the country, and to aid in encouraging whatever is true and most progressive in American letters.

The price of THE GALAXY is $5 a year; 30 cents a number. Address W. C. & F. P. CHURCH, No. 39 Park Row, New York.

MEXICO. Maximilian appears to be badly cornered—hemmed in on every side by his enemies; he don't seem to understand Republican habits and manners, and it is too late for him to learn now. A prisoner between two oceans, he has no other alternative to save his royalty, but to turn his back on the Rio Grande and seek more congenial quarters farther south.

NEW POSTMASTER OF BOSTON. On Saturday last the President appointed Maj. Wm. L. Burt, Postmaster of that city, vice John G. Palfrey. He was immediately confirmed.

SPRING STYLES. Ladies, if you wish to see the beautiful spring styles of bonnets, hats, etc., call at Mrs. Hussey's, 82 Hancock street. Read her card in another column.

DEMOREST'S MAGAZINE. The Season may be late in presenting its smiling countenance, but not so Demorest's Monthly. It is on hand for May, exuberant with Novelties, brilliant ideas, fashions, in their multitudinous forms, illustrations, poetry, music, brain patterns, dress patterns, architecture, and a host of other valuable matter useful and indispensable to every household. $3 per year. W. Jennings Demorest, 463 Broadway, N.Y.

At the cable festival Hon. Charles Francis Adams expressed his belief that some day or other all business communications between England and America would pass through the cable, and that it would probably lead to the abolition of the office which he held, for the occupation of the diplomatist would cease when governments could correspond direct with each other.

CUTTING IT UP. It is stated that Secretary Seward has already proposed a plan to divide Russian America into six Territories. It is thought he will favor a session of Congress in July to fix up this matter.

For the Patriot.

DEAR PATRIOT: Will you, who hear all sides, allow a few ladies to say, through your columns, how much gratification they take in the recent "Revival," inasmuch as it has served to strip Calvinism of its disguises, and set forth its doctrines in all their original nakedness,—especially the amiable and comforting doctrine that only by becoming members of the "one true church," can men be saved from endless torments.

TOWN MEETING. Our readers will notice by our advertising columns, that there is to be a special town meeting on Friday next, to see if the Town will take any further action in relation to building a Soldiers' Monument; and also, to see if the Town will give more accommodation to the primary schools in the Centre and South Districts. Some think the monument which the Town voted at the annual March meeting to erect, is not good enough, and are now, at this late day, moving in the matter.

THE GRAND CARAVAN. The extensive Equestrian and Zoological establishment of Joseph Cushing & Co., known as the United States Circus and Menagerie, will make a public procession in this town on Wednesday morning next. The cortege will comprise the new and splendid lot of the combined Troupe, consisting of Cages of Living Wild Animals, Music Chariot, Baggage Wagon, Carriages, stock of Horses, Ponies, &c.—making a display some half a mile in extent. The Band will play some of the most popular pieces of music in the course of the procession.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisements in another column of Messrs. Berger, Shatts & Co., Troy, N. Y. They are manufacturers of, and agents for, some of the most valuable Toilet preparations in use. By their use all may possess a clear, smooth skin, or a healthy and luxuriant growth of hair upon the head or face. Those of our readers having use for anything of the kind, would do well to patronize them.

VALUABLE FOWLS. Mr. Elbridge C. Conney, who resides at the corner of Coddington and Court streets, in this town, has some very handsome poultry of the Brahma breed. A few days since he sold one of his roosters for ten dollars! a pretty big price, truly. And the "golden eggs" laid by his hens bring one dollar and a half a dozen.

RICH AND BEAUTIFUL. Ladies visiting the city in pursuit of millinery goods will find a very large and handsome stock of rich goods at Cushman & Brooks' old stand, 90 and 92 Tremont street. Boston, Dec. 27, 1866.

Mr. H. C. HAYDEN, Agent.
DEAR SIR:—I have used the "WHEELER & WILSON" Sewing Machine for a number of years, in the manufacture of Ladies' and Children's Wear, and I can say that it has proved itself admirably adapted to the wide range of work which my business demands. I can recommend it as a reliable machine in every respect.
Yours very truly,
JOHN J. STEVENS.

Mr. H. C. HAYDEN, Agent.
DEAR SIR:—The fact that we have used the WHEELER & WILSON Sewing Machine for a number of years, and are using them now, and have used no other, is, we think, the best evidence we can give of our opinion of their merits.
Yours truly,
CHURCHILL, WATSON & CO.
Boston, 27 December, 1866.

Mr. H. C. HAYDEN, Agent.
DEAR SIR:—We have had a number of the WHEELER & WILSON Sewing Machines in constant use for the past ten years, and can cheerfully recommend them as giving entire satisfaction.
Respectfully yours,
C. H. HOLBROOK & CO.

SUPER-PHOSPHATE
From the Christian Secretary, Hartford, Ct.
Our readers will recollect that we published some articles last Spring concerning this excellent fertilizer, and will notice the following from Rev. H. W. Beecher, who has a farm in Peckskill, N. Y.:—
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1867.
Wm. L. Bradley—Dear Sir,—I tried several barrels of your S. L. Super-Phosphate of Lime during the season of 1866, on my farm at Peckskill. The soil is sandy loam, on a clay and gravel sub-soil. I found it to be excellent upon all garden vegetables, peas, beets, lettuce, cabbages, &c. The onions of which I raised several acres, were so much influenced by it, that the difference between those which had received your phosphate and those which I had used another favorite brand, was distinguishable at a long distance off. I used it upon grass with satisfactory results.
My foreman, T. J. Turner, who more particularly noticed the detailed effects, speaks very highly of it.
If its quality is faithfully kept up to the standard it cannot but satisfy every reasonable expectation.

For Wheat, Rye, Barley, Corn, Oats, Potatoes, Tobacco, Buckwheat, Sorghum, Turnips, Hops, Garden Vegetables, and every Crop and Plant.
Especially recommended to the growers of Strawberries, Raspberries, Blackberries, and all small fruits.

MORE than 12 years of regular use upon all descriptions of Crops grown in the Middle and Southern States, has established the reputation of this Guano Substitute, which places its application now, entirely beyond a mere experimental question.

For the Patriot.
THE BEREAVED FATHER.
BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WYOMOUTH.

He's gazing through the window pane,
He's peering out the door;
Why look he there again—again,
For those who come no more?

Dead—are they dead?—no, not to him,
Although their eyes are set;
With those old eyes so clear and dim,
He thinks to see them yet.

For memory dwells upon the day,
When with his blessing sent,
With hopeful hearts in proud array,
They forth to battle went.

They heard their country's lullaby call,
And sprung to give their aid;
In freedom's battles doomed to fall,
Now resting 'neath the soldier's pall,
The noble boys are laid.

Has he not heard? does he not know
That his brave sons are dead?
That 'gainst their country's rebel foe
They fearless fought and bled.

He has been told, that on the field,
His sons were stricken down;
That heavily they disarmed to yield,
Though wounded and o'erthrown.

But tell him not that far away
He some in death repose;
That these, their undistinguished day,
Lies mingled with their foes.

Let him still think the victory won,
His loved ones will return;
With laurels crowned, for duty done,
He feels that they will earn.

Still think that to a father's heart,
Again his sons he'll press;
With hope no more in life to part,
Again—again to bless.

But tell him he no more will meet
His sons on earth again;
And his grieved heart would cease to beat,
It could not bear the strain.

The Golden Bowl at once will break,
When his last hope is o'er;
Oh, tell him not, for mercy's sake,
That he must hope no more.

EXCELLENT CAKE. This cake should be mixed in the following order: One cup of butter beaten to a froth, two cups of sugar, also beaten well, the yolks of four eggs, and one teaspoonful of lemon or almond essence; dissolved in a little hot water, one teaspoonful of soda, and add to it one teaspoonful of sweet milk, and add to the rest, with three cups of flour sifted, beating it well. Lastly, add two cups of flour, to which has been added two heaping teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar.

Alexander Smith says, "there is even handed justice in time; for what he takes away, he gives something in return. He robs us of elasticity of limb and spirit and in its place he brings tranquility and repose—the mild autumnal weather of the soul. If he takes away hope, he gives us memory."

ONE AT A TIME. Foote, being annoyed by a poor fellow scraping harsh discord under his window, sent him out a shilling, with the request that he would play elsewhere, as one scraper at the door was sufficient.

Let us give ill-humor and anger ample room within, to be hunted and run down against the inner walls of brain and heart; for it is easy, if the wolf in the heart is killed, to be outwardly like lambs.

Our passions never wholly die; but in the last cantos of life's romantic epic, they rise up again and do battle, like some of Ariosto's heroes, who have already been quietly interred and ought to be turned to dust.

Famine, if not pestilence, almost invariably treads on the heels of great wars. The cry of starvation which is now coming up from London, Paris, and some parts of Italy, says an exchange, is in good parts the natural result of the devastating wars with which the Continent has recently been visited.

A kiss on the forehead denotes respect and admiration; on the cheek, friendship; on the eyelids, tender sentiment; on the lips, love. The young men of our acquaintance haven't much "respect" for young ladies.

PRINTERS' TYPE. Reader, do you know that every column of a newspaper contains from ten to twenty thousand distinct pieces of metal, the misplacing of a single one of which would cause a blunder or typographical error? With this curious fact before you, don't you wonder at the general accuracy of newspapers?

A good name will wear out; a bad name may be turned; but a nickname will last forever.

A professional beggar boy, some ten years of age, ignorant of the art of reading, bought a card to place on his breast, and appeared in the public streets as a "poor widow, with eight small children."

Aim high in life. If you don't hit the stars, you can land in the mud. Anything is better than stupid inaction. Even a muddy man is worth a dozen daisies.

THE SUB-TREASURY.
Argosies of Gold—30 tons of Coin in Safe.

The vaults of the United States Sub-Treasury are said to exceed in size those of the Bank of England. The strong and burglar proof manner in which they have been constructed excites the admiration of all beholders. There are two of these immense vaults, one at each corner of the Pine street end of the rotunda. The rooms are, twenty feet long by fifteen feet wide, and ten or twelve feet high. They contain no window; there is but one door opening into each, and gas-lights are kept burning inside.

The internal appearance of these vaults has a striking resemblance to a fashionable tomb in Greenwood Cemetery, rows of cases being arranged around the sides of the room, each about two feet square, with iron doors attached. There is one door for each case, and when the apartments have been filled with bags of gold or bundles of greenbacks, the doors are closed. Each case will contain half a million of dollars put up in bags of five thousand dollars each. When a case is thus filled, the door is closed, and a seal is affixed in the presence of the Naval Officer and the surveyor of the Port. It takes one hundred bags to hold half a million of dollars. In the first vault entered, there were seventy-two compartments arranged round the room, which formed a tier somewhat higher than a man's head.

Running over the top of these was a balcony with an iron railing in front; there was piled up in this balcony, in one heap, six millions of dollars in five and ten dollar bills; one half-million of dollars in internal revenue stamps, fifty-thousand dollars in fractional currency, put up in large paper boxes, and five and one-half millions in United States bonds.

The floor of the vaults rests on thirty feet of solid masonry, from the ground up. On the top of this granite there are two feet of wrought iron, and between the iron plates a space filled up with bullets. If a rogue should succeed in boring through the granite and iron, the moment his drill touched a bullet, that would commence to revolve, and by the time he had penetrated it, another ball would drop in its place; in this way, he would soon find that he had an endless job before him, and the attempt to get into the vault would have to be abandoned.

The sides and tops of the room are composed of eight feet of granite and two of iron, arranged in the same manner as for the floor. This safe, as it is called, was invented by Mr. Isaiah Rogers. Mr. Rogers once remarked that if the people at the Treasury building should happen to get locked out of the safe it would take him a month to break into it. A night watch is kept to look after these strong boxes, but they are considered perfectly safe without him.

There are four doors to be opened, one after the other, before we can enter the safe. Each one of these doors weighs two tons, and contains locks of different patterns. A lever is so arranged that after the doors are closed, four large iron bolts are thrown across the doorway, resting in sockets, which have been made in a pillar of wrought iron. If a thief should succeed in cutting the hinges of one of these doors, usually considered to be the most vulnerable point, the door would not drop down from its place, and nothing would be gained. Like the deacon's celebrated one-horse shay, these doors are made as strong in one part as in another, and the hinges show no signs of weakness. It will take a fearful earthquake to shake them down.

No good idea can be given to the reader of the locks and their operation, but a few general remarks may be of interest. The first door has one of Dobb's Eureka locks; there is no key-hole for this, and the outside combination wheel is divided into the letters of the alphabet, the nine units, and fractions of figures. The combinations which may be made by this arrangement are endless, and no one can open the lock, shoving back the bolts, unless he knows the words, figures and fractions which have been used in locking the door.

Even if a person was so fortunate as to get from Mr. Birdsal the combination, he must have an extensive acquaintance with the lock to know how to manipulate it correctly. The second door contains an Isham lock, which is altogether different from Dobb's lock. The third door has L. Gale's Monitor lock, and the fourth door contains Gale's double Treasury lock. From one of these doors, after it has been fastened, a portion of the lock is taken off, and put under lock and key in some secret place. Without this it would be useless to attempt to get into the safe.

The second vault is much larger than the first one described, but just as difficult to get into. There are one hundred and twenty cases in this room where gold can be put and sealed up. At the time we looked into the vault there were ninety tons, or forty-five millions of dollars in gold stored in the room, and twenty millions in paper. The greenbacks, as they are paid into the Treasury, are put up in packages of one thousand bills each, all of the same denomination. A package of one dollar bills contains one thousand dollars; of five dollar bills, five thousand dollars; of five hundred dollar bills, five hundred thousand dollars. In one small box were shown six small packages, each of which contained one million of dollars. Money is handled in the Treasury building in a wholesale manner, packing trunks standing about full of it—large willow baskets on wheels being used to carry it in, &c. The sight of it becomes so common that the clerks employed regard it with the utmost indifference, handling it as they would so much brown paper.

The vestibule of the second vault is called the book vault, and contains the cancelled obligations of the United States, a ton or two of paymaster's checks. All these books and checks are carefully preserved.—New York Gazette.

"THE CHALLENGE"—Not "Accepted."
To the Editor of the Patriot:—

Here is my reply to "Cy Pres" in your last issue, which he calls "The Challenge"—Terms of acceptance."

Cy Pres refuses to accept of my challenge, and yet he calls his article "Terms of acceptance." My challenge was for a public discussion. This he refuses, and proposes a discourse, one from each, on two Sunday forenoons.

Now, perhaps, it may be necessary for me to say, that, I have spoken a dozen times in Rogers' Hall on Sundays during the past five months; and in most of these discourses I have given my views of the measures by which all revivals are got up,—and then and there I gave a public invitation for Mr. Duranti, or any Orthodox, or revival advocate, to come to that Hall, and give their views of the question,—or, if so disposed, to meet me in an open, fair and candid discussion of this subject. And, moreover, I have a number of times repeated this invitation publicly; and I hardly need to add, perhaps, that I am not at a loss to account for the fact that no one minister, lawyer, judge, or layman, converted, or unconverted, has deemed it either wise or prudent to make his appearance in that Hall for the purpose of defending his notions of hell-fire and the devil, which are a part of the machinery by which all revivals are got up.

If Cy Pres had any other hall in view, he should have named the place. Or, if he would like to give his views on this subject in Rogers' Hall, I venture to promise him, just such a candid hearing as he could ask for almost any Sunday, P. M., provided he will express his wishes to Mr. John Page, the gentleman to whom etiquette required him to make the communication which he has published in the Patriot. And I now refer him, again, to Mr. Page, if he has any thing more to say on the subject.

But Cy Pres has not accepted my challenge on any "Terms," as I must infer from the fact, that he proposes a new issue, for he says:

"Believing that good comes from the revival, he will meet [me] on this aspect, and not as an accredited revivalist." "The good that comes from the revival," is not the question on which I have offered a public discussion with him. How are revivals got up? that's the question.

And, then, as to any discussion, it is manifest that Cy Pres has no idea of it; hence, he proposes one lecture from each, and his to follow mine, on the next Sunday, and in this way he would secure the closing speech to the negative side, which, of right, is always allowed to the affirmative.

Cy Pres, tells us, he "has never been converted," and consequently, that he knows nothing, experimentally, of the subject on which he proposes to speak. Albeit, it would be an easy matter to show, that he has been this much Pathetized by this very hell-fire revival! But let that pass, I have been "converted," and "born again," in precisely such a revival as this one now under notice. And now, I can but add a word of fraternal pity for Cy Pres, "unconverted sinner" that he feels himself to be, while, at the same time, he volunteers his services in drumming up recruits to this revival, which dooms him, and all like him, to the untold agonies of an eternal hell.

His case reminds me of the sights I have seen at the South in the days of slavery. Before a slave auction, the master would give his slave a paper, on which his name, age, &c., were written,—and this paper in one hand, and a bell in the other, the poor slave was compelled to travel from street to street, while with a terrible grin he would shake his bell, and thus call on the passers by to approach him and read his doom upon the paper, he held in his hand. Am sorry for Cy Pres.

CARE FOR THE FEET.
Many are careless in the care of the feet. If they wash them once a month they think they are doing well. They do not consider that the largest pores of the system are located in the bottom of the foot, and that the most offensive matter is discharged through the pores.—They wear stockings from the beginning to the end of the week without change. The stockings become completely saturated with offensive matter. It is sickening to be in the presence of such persons. Ill-health is generated by such treatment of the feet. The pores are not only re-

pellants, but absorbents, and this fact matters, to a greater or less extent, is taken back into the system

FAREWELL TO GEORGE PEABODY.
BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.
Farewell, thou generous good old man,
Your face I ne'er may see,
But while your noble acts I scan,
I find you ever with the vast,
Or those who do what good they can,
From pure Philanthropy.

How rare the power that you possess,
By fruitful labor gain'd,
The power to win, the power to bless,
To save the needy from distress,
To share the infant's cares,
The love that is unfeign'd.

What countless cares beset your state,
On each succeeding day,
Cares sufficient only by the great,
On whom entrusting thousands wait,
To hear their pleas, to arbitrate,
Perhaps to turn away.

Ah, that must be the hardest case,
To bid the unworthy go,
Their disappointed hope to trace,
In the eye and pallid face,
To utter even with Christian grace,
The just but chilling no.

Now fare thee well, a nation's pray'r,
Goes with thee o'er the sea,
Aloft there's One will for thee care,
The Isles a welcome will prepare,
The east and west your bounty share,
And both thank heav'n for thee.

A CURE FOR FELONS. An exchange says—A poultice of onions, applied morning, noon, and night, for three or four days, will cure a felon. No matter how bad the case, splitting the finger will be unnecessary, if this poultice be used. We have seen it tried several times, and know that the remedy is a sure, safe, and speedy one.

TRUE WISDOM. Sir Walter Scott said seriously, in his autobiography:—"Through every part of my literary career I have felt pinched and hampered by my own ignorance." Such is true wisdom. The wisest man really becomes, the more he begins to feel as the sage of old, when he said, "The longer I live the more persuaded I become that I know nothing."

The Golden Rule:—As soon as you have done using the thing borrowed, return it with thanks.

A LITTLE TOO PUNCTUAL.
The hour was approaching for the departure of the New Haven steamboat from her berth in New York, and the usual crowd of passengers, friends of the passengers, newsboys, fruit vendors, children and deck loafers were assembled on or about the boat. We were gazing at the motley group from the foot of the deck stairs, when our attention was attracted by the singular action of a tall brown Yankee, in an immense wool hat, choosing a seat near the sternboard paddle-box and scrutinizing sharply every female who came on board, every now and then consulting an enormous silver bull's eye of a watch, which he raised from the depths of a capacious fob by means of a powerful steel chain. After mounting guard in this manner, he dashed furiously down the gang-plank and up the wharf, reappearing on board almost instantaneously with a flushed face, expressing the most intense anxiety. This series of operations he performed several times, after which he rushed about the boat wildly, and hopelessly ejaculated:

"What's the time of day? Wonder if my repeater's fast? What's the Cap'n? What's the steward? What's the mate? What's the boss that owns the ship? What's the matter, sir? We've ventured to ask him, when he stood for a moment. 'Hain't seen nothing of a gal in a blue sun-bonnet, with Canton cape shawl, (cost fifteen dollars) pink gown and brown boots, hey? come aboard while I was looking for the cap'n at the hind end of the ship,—have ye, hey?'"

"No such person came on board." "Tormented thunder! she's my wife," he screamed, "married her yesterday. All her trunks and mine aboard under a pile of baggage as tall as a Connecticut stepler. The old black nigger says he can't hand it out, and I won't leave my baggage, any how. My wife, only to think of it, was to have come aboard at half-past four, and here it is most five. What's become of her? She can't have eloped. We hain't been married long enough for that. You don't think she's been abducted, do you, mister? Speak—answer—what are they ringing that bell for? Is the ship afloat?"

"It is the signal for departure—the first bell. The second bell will be rung in four minutes." "Thunder, you don't say so? What's the cap'n?"

"That gentleman in the blue coat." The Yankee darted to the captain's side.

"Cap'n, stop the ship for ten minutes, won't you?" "Can't do it, sir." "But you must, I tell you, I'll pay you for it. How much will you ask?" "I could not do it."

"Cap'n, I'll pay you ten dollars," gasped the Yankee.

"I will give you five dollars and a half—and a half—and a half!" he kept repeating, dancing about in his agony, like a mad jackass on a hot iron platter.

"The boat starts at five precisely," said the captain, shortly, and turned away.

"Oh you stumpy hearted heathen!" murmured the Yankee, almost bursting into tears. "Partin' man and wife and we just one day married!"

At this moment, the huge paddle wheels began to paw the water, and the walking beam descended heavily, shaking the huge fabric to the centre. All who were not going to New Haven went ashore. The hands began to haul in the gang plank; the fasts are already cast loose.

"Leggo that plank!" roared the Yankee, collaring one of the hands. "Drop it like a hot potato, or I'll leave you into the dock!" "Yo—yo!" shouted the men in chorus, as they heaved on the gang-way.

"Shut up you braying donkeys!" yelled the maddened Yankee, or there will be an ugly sort of work here!"

But the plank was not aboard, and the boat splashed past the pier. In a moment the Yankee pulled off his coat, flung his hat beside it on the deck, and rushed wildly to the guard.

"Are you drunk or crazy?" cried a passenger, seizing him.

"I am going to fling myself into the dock and swim ashore!" cried the Yankee. "I mustn't leave Sairy Ann alone in New York City. You may divide my baggage between ye—let me go—I can swim!"

He struggled so furiously that the consequence of his rashness might have been fatal, but a sudden apparition changed his purpose. A very pretty young woman, in a blue bonnet, white Canton crane shawl, pink dress and brown boots came towards him. The big brown Yankee uttered one stentorian shout of "Sairy Ann!" clasping her in his arms in spite of her struggling, and kissed her heartily, right before all the passengers.

"Where did you come from?" he inquired.

"From the ladies' cabin, answered the bride. "You told me half-past four, but I thought I'd make sure, and came at four."

"A little too punctual!" said the Yankee. "But it's all right now. Go ahead, steamboat! Rooin up, there, fireman! Hang the expenses!"

When the sun set, the loving couple were seen seated on the upper deck, the big brown Yankee's arm encircling the slender waist of the young woman in the blue bonnet and pink dress. We hope they reached their destination safe and sound.

HOW MICHAEL CURED HIS PIG.
Mr. Michael Fagan is a very worthy representative from "Green Erin," residing in a small dwelling, in a small village near Boston. Michael is an industrious man, and strives hard to turn honest penny to account whenever and however there may be the slightest prospect of profit.

Michael has a little patch of ground behind his house, where he supports a few ducks and chickens; and the freshest eggs in the neighborhood can always be found on his premises, for he never allows himself to be possessed of more than a single dozen at a time.

In addition to his stock of poultry, Michael purchased a young pig, which, after four months petting and nursing, he prided himself upon exhibiting to his friends and acquaintances as the "swatest creature in the world."

But Michael's pig took sick, and from his coughing and sneezing symptoms, it was certainly evident that he had contracted a bad cold.

Close by the residence of this honest Hibernian, there dwells the village physician, a kind-hearted man, and very skillful, whose practice is none of the largest. As he came from his house, a few mornings since, Michael stood at his gate rummaging upon the chances in favor of his favorite porker, and observing the doctor, he hailed him—"The top of the morning to you, docther!"

"Ah, Michael, how are you?" "It's very well I am meself docther; but perhaps ye'll be tellin' a poor man vot he'll be doin' for the pig, sure?" "Pig!" exclaimed the doctor, with a smile. "What pig?" and what's the matter with him?"

"Sure, he's very bad indeed, so he is. A cold, docther, snoring and barking the head off him almost, an' I'd like to know what I'll be doin' with him?" "Well, really, Michael, I can't say; I'm not a pig doctor, at any rate."

"Och, it's meself as could say that, sure. But s'poken it were a baby, instead—the swate creature; what would I be doin' with him for the cold he has?"

"Well," continued the doctor, considering, "if it were a child, Michael, perhaps I should recommend a mustard poultice for his back, and that his feet be placed in hot water."

"It's much obliged to you, docther, I am," responded Mike, as the physician passed along; and he entered his domicile. "Biddy!" he added, addressing his good woman, "we'll cure the pig, so we will." And in a little time the snoring porker was enveloped in a strong mustard poultice, from his ears to tail. Notwithstanding his struggling, and his wheezing, and torture from the action of the unyielding plaster, a tub of almost boiling water was prepared, and into it poor piggy was soused above his knees. The result may be easily conceived!

Next morning, bright and early, Michael stood at his little gate once more awaiting the coming of the doctor, who soon made his appearance as usual.

FACTS ABOUT RAILROAD SPEED.
A railroad car moves seventy-four feet, or nearly twice its length, in a second. At this velocity the locomotive driving wheel, six feet in diameter, makes four revolutions in a second, the piston rod thus traversing the cylinder eight times. If a horse and carriage should approach and cross a track at the rate of six miles an hour, an express train approaching at the moment would move toward it two hundred and fifty-seven feet while it was in the act of crossing; if the horse moved no faster than a walk, the train would move toward it more than five hundred feet, which fact accounts for the many accidents at such points. When the locomotive whistle is opened at the post eighty rods from the crossing, the train will advance near one hundred feet before the sound of the whistle traverses the distance to, and is heard at, the crossing.

GOT THE CHISEL.
A benevolent gentleman travelling in the Green Mountains, discovered at the door of a farm house a baby brandishing a two-inch morising chisel, to its imminent danger. So taking away the sharp-edged tool, he sought the mother.

"Madam," said he, "I thought it my duty to stop and tell you that your little child has got the chisel." "Oh, sir," said she, "I am ever so much obliged to you. I know something was the matter with that child, and didn't know what it was. They have got it awful down to Bennington."

Summary Intelligence.
At a recent term of the Ashland (O.) Common Pleas, a case was disposed of where a young man was plaintiff, and a former sweetheart defendant. He had while courting her, made her presents to the value of about $2,300. She, however, jilted him and married another. The jury returned a verdict for the amount he had presented her, and six cents damages.

ATTRACTIVE CHURCHES. We have received a copy of Rev. J. H. Means' sermon at the recent dedication of Beechwood Church, Cohasset. It is full of timely truth. Speaking of the Sanctuary, he says: "It is indeed well to make it commodious and attractive. Such is the dictate of a reverent spirit. As a house called by God's name and devoted to his service, we would not grudge to it a portion of that wealth He has given to us so freely. It is not meet for us to dwell in celled houses, while God's earthly resting-place is left dreary and neglected. The unpainted meeting-house which we have seen rearing their dilapidated fronts on the top of bleak and barren hills are a reproach to any people. They indicate an irreverent selfishness and culpable indifference to God's honor. He will indeed smile upon an assembly in a barn when persecution or poverty renders such a resort necessary; but when men refuse a fitting outlay upon the house of his glory that they may have more to spend for themselves, He is insulted and offended."

An exchange says: "A lady of our acquaintance, young, lovely and intelligent, called on a celebrated physician to do 'something' for a rash of blood to the head."

"I have been doctoring myself," said the languid fair one, with a smile, to the bluff, though kind, M. D., while he was feeling her pulse. "Why, I have taken Brandt's pills, Parr's pills, Strauberg's pills, Sand's Sarsaparilla, Jane's Epsom salt, used Dr. Sherman's lozenges and plaster, and—"

"My Heavens! madam," interrupted the astonished doctor, all these do your complaint no good!"

"No!—then what shall I take?" pettishly inquired the patient.

"Take!" exclaimed the doctor, eyeing her from head to foot—"take!" exclaimed he, after a moment's reflection, "why, take off your corsets!"

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1867.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

TOWN MEETING.

At a town meeting held April 26, 1867, John Quincy Adams, Esq., was elected Moderator.

Voted, To reconsider the vote passed at the annual town meeting, March 4, 1867, whereby the Town voted to build a Soldiers' Monument, in exact accordance with the plan and report of a Committee that day presented and accepted. (For Report see Patriot of March 16, 1867.)

Voted, That the Town build a Soldiers' Monument, mainly in accordance with the plan and report presented and accepted by the Town, March 4, but with alterations as follows, viz: "That bronze tablets be used, on which shall be inscribed the name, also the cause and place of death of each soldier."

Voted, That the Soldiers' Monument be erected in Mount Wollaston Cemetery, instead of the location named in the report of the Committee, and that the Building Committee be authorized to select a suitable location in said Cemetery.

Voted, That a Committee of five be chosen to superintend the building of the Soldiers' Monument.

Chose, William B. Duggan, Israel W. Munroe, Washington M. French, Wyman Abercrombie and Daniel Baxter Committee.

Voted, To appropriate $3,500 for building a Soldiers' Monument.

Voted, To authorize the Town Treasurer to borrow a sum of money not exceeding $3,500 to meet the appropriations for the Soldiers' Monument.

Voted, That the School Committee be authorized to take such measures as in their judgment may be necessary in relation to enlarging the Coddington School House or furnishing additional accommodations for the Primary Schools in the Centre District, by the purchase of land, erection of buildings, or otherwise.

Voted, That the Adams School House be raised one story at an expense not exceeding $3000.

Voted, That the Selectmen and Prudential Committee of the South District be a Committee to carry the vote in reference to the Adams School House into effect.

Voted, That the Town Treasurer be authorized to borrow $3000 for the purpose of raising the Adams School House.

Voted, (separately on each) to reconsider the four votes just passed, in reference to the Coddington and Adams School Houses.

Chose George Cahill, Joseph W. Robertson, John Q. Adams, H. F. Smith, William S. Patten, George L. Gill, Henry Barker, Committee.

Voted, That the meeting be dissolved.

MAY, ITS FESTIVITIES, &amp;c.

MAY came in weeping. Flora had but few offerings for the occasion; and those few were not to be sought 'mid the peltings of a furious rain. The pleasures of home were more seductive. The most attractive feature of the day was the musical and dramatic entertainment of the Mount Wollaston Lodge of Good Templars at the Town Hall. We were fortunate enough to secure a place among the crowd in the evening, and must say, that we were highly gratified. After a musical interlude, in their best style, by Professor Gomez and Morrison, "The Moral Drama of the Drunkard, or, the Fallen Saved," with appropriate scenery, good management, and much genuine native talent, was introduced, with marked success. The scene, abounding in thrilling incidents, is laid in a country village, and where it had an unprecedented run. The characters, generally, were well sustained, especially those of Edward Middleton and Lawyer Cribbs, personated by Messrs. Bigelow and Curtis. They were accurate in their parts, and seemed to have imbibed the spirit of the author, which was evidenced in the moistened eye and sympathetic response of the audience, as Edward, smote by a guilty conscience, gave vent to his impassioned feelings, for his passive obedience to the will of the crafty foe, who was hurrying him on to his ruin, and the exultation manifested when the wife deceiver and false friend was entrapped in his own meshes, and made to fit the pit he had dug for another. It is a faithful picture of every day life, which may be studied with profit. It was repeated, by request, on Thursday evening to a full house.

We must not forget here to offer in behalf of the juvenile members of the Universalist Sabbath School their sincere thanks to Henry H. Faxon Esq., for his munificence, by presenting them with tickets to the exhibition. His kindness will long be remembered.

ATTENDED SUICIDE. Yesterday noon, soon after twelve o'clock, groans were heard issuing from a loft in A. W. Russell Esq.'s barn, Hancock street, which attracted the notice of a clergyman in the adjoining house. On entering he found Mr. Eli Hayden, of South Quincy, suspended by a rope. The unfortunate man had misadventured the distance and was suffering from partial strangulation, his feet touching the floor. On being cut down he rallied and gave as a reason for the rash act, certain pecuniary difficulties under which he has been laboring. He expressed a desire to go to the Insane Asylum. It was half-past eleven by the town clock, he said, when he leaped from the beam, and hence he had been suspended nearly three quarters of an hour. The rope was large, the noose knotted and firmly fastened, and death must have ensued had it not been for the timely discovery.

THE MONUMENT.

To the Editor of the Patriot:—The many and adverse opinions concerning the Soldiers' Monument, indicates that the public is yet unprepared for its erection; the expenditure of four or five thousand dollars for a monument alone, in times of great taxation, should be avoided and a happier method has been adopted in many places; asylums or school houses have been built, and in Cambridge a Memorial Hall—thus a double purpose is attained with only one expenditure.

I suggest that some arrangement be made with the Trustees of the "Adams Temple and School Fund," by which the sum above named be added to the fifteen thousand dollars they now have, and an elegant granite Memorial Hall built on the Hancock lot, as a commencement of the school which is to be located there; within the largest room should be placed tablets, perpetuating the names of the fallen heroes, and in another room should contain the Adams Library; others might be leased for offices, and the hall for lectures and other suitable purposes—(thus paying a handsome income on the cost) until the whole is required for the contemplated school, when the hall could be used for recitations and exhibitions.

No fitter place can be found to commemorate the dead of the past, the present, or of future centuries than, where the young men of the town are to receive their preparation for the duties of life.

There should be a full attendance at the meeting called next Wednesday, and the subject receive that careful consideration which it deserves.—A SUBSCRIBER.

For the Patriot.

The Boston Journal of the 15th ultimo contains the following paragraph:

"One of the best of our extempore preachers affirms that he sometimes, in his best hours, loses all conscious hold upon his mind and speech, and while perfectly sure that all is going on well in his brain, it seems to him that somebody is talking up there; and he catches himself wondering who under the sun that fellow is who is driving on at such a rate."

Such phenomena as the above are but the common experiences of Spiritualistic speakers, who, as a class, with hardly an exception, are extemporaneous preachers, but to whom such experiences are not such a source of wonderment, inasmuch as they generally possess a deeper knowledge of their inner nature and the laws which control it, than does the worthy preacher mentioned above.

We are glad however to witness this quiet acknowledgment of the operation of spirit power—from within the pale of the Church, unwittingly though it may be made. For the Church of to-day is prone to ignore the possibility now of inspirational, or mediumistic speaking, such as is repeatedly mentioned in the Bible; as though the laws which govern and control the universe now were not the same as they were two thousand years ago. Could the Church but cast aside its bigoted views and look upon such phenomena in a candid, philosophical light, it could but see therein a daily verification of the mighty truths contained in the Bible.

We have advanced these remarks upon the assumption that the preacher alluded to was one of the Church, so called, inferring such to be the case, from his apparent ignorance of the philosophy of his nature.

If this position be denied us, we claim him as a mediumistic speaker; regretting only that ignorance, and thanking the Journal for the compliment paid to the excellency of our extemporaneous speakers.

VERITAS.

REDUCTION OF THE PUBLIC DEBT. A Washington dispatch to the New York Times makes the following statement as to the probable reduction of the public debt:

"The workings of the Treasury for the month just closing will show another large reduction of the national debt. In the next statement Secretary McCulloch hopes to reduce the total debt to about twenty-five hundred millions, at which point he believes it must remain stationary, so long as the present rate of government income and expenses is maintained. The Indian war will draw largely on the national resources this summer, and while the course of the treasury is perfectly easy and clear, the reduction of the national debt must soon be suspended for a time at least."

A GOOD BUSINESS COLLEGE. THE VERMONT COMMERCIAL COLLEGE AND NORMAL ACADEMY of Poulinville, Vt., is enjoying a very large patronage, and is a worthy institution of learning. We advise our readers to cut out and preserve the advertisement to be found in the fifth column of last page of to-day's paper, and when writing for a circular, please state that you saw this notice in the Quincy Patriot.

ANNEXATION. We have had the pleasure of reading a very able argument in opposition to the project of annexing Boston and Roxbury, from the pen of Hon. Nathaniel F. Safford. It is a very complete presentation of the whole question, and is published in a pamphlet of thirty-eight pages.

THE LADY'S FRIEND. The Beognizing, a pretty and pleasant Steel Engraving, leads off the May number. Then the usual elegant steel fashion plate, followed by a toilet for the opera, a ball dress; a dinner or evening dress, a carriage dress, fashionable sleeve, Catalane bouret, little boy's pantaloons, girl's jacket, &c., &c. Among the literary contents are the continuation of "How a woman had her way," "Orville College," and "No longer young"—all first-rate stories. A beautiful steel engraving, called, "One of Life's Happy Hours," will be sent gratis to every single subscriber. Price $2.50 a year; Address Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut street, Phila.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, MAY 2, 1867.

Blue times here as to business; which if not on a dead lock is so dull that the memory of the oldest inhabitant runneth not to the contrary. There is plenty of money in the market to be loaned at fair rates, but where there are limited business transactions, demands for loans become less. There is a want of confidence in business circles; and many capitalists are growing more and more timid as to their investments. The recent astounding developments of the State street embezzlement, and the indictment of certain parties by the Grand Jury here making out a strong prima facie case against these money changers have induced many wealthy men to make the anxious inquiry "where shall we go," to invest safely?

That nation's burden, the government tax, presses hard upon all classes, producing fluctuations that are detrimental to all legitimate enterprise. Surely the financial condition of the country is, in a bad fix, and the only remedy for our woes is the gradual but sure extinguishment of the public debt and a resumption of specie payments. How to bring these objects to consummation is the mooted question of the day. A sensitive writer in one of our public journals has recently held forth in the following dolorous strain: "Last year at this time the war between Italy and Austria and Prussia was brewing and what was the effect? A heavy decline in gold from this side, which took about forty millions of dollars in three months, carrying up the premium on gold at one time to 66 cents. The drain stopped fortunately just as Mr. McCulloch had sold about all he could spare. Shall we be as lucky next time? Perhaps we may, but it is not safe to count upon it. And suppose we were not, what has it to do with the resumption of specie payment? Only this, that a very great depreciation of paper money (the equivalent to a large advance in the premium on gold) would lead to distrust and panic and to a general repudiation of paper money. We might have a run on the banks, and a general liquidation, which would end in the adoption of a hard or convertible currency. To this complexion we shall come at last—albeit, through much tribulation. Woe to him that is in debt in these days."

THE WEEK IN BOSTON.

Weather for the most part, cool, cheerful and inebriated. Great preparations were made for the observance of May Day, but the storm of Wednesday sent disappointment to a large portion of our juvenile community. Notwithstanding the high price of materials and labor, many buildings are going up in various parts of the city. And the improvements at the North End will be quite visible. A new school house on Richmond street near the old Hancock school is nearly completed. It is built of faced brick with granite trimmings, three stories in height, with a front of eighty-four feet, and is sixty feet in depth, with a French roof. There are four large rooms and as many ante-rooms on each landing. The inside is fitted up with all the modern conveniences for school purposes. The city is about to widen Richmond street from Hanover to Salem streets at an expense of $5000. In time those dens of infamy between Hanover and Fulton streets will give way to a better community.

The prominent feature before the Legislature this week is the Equalization Bounty question. The great speeches of the session have been culminated on the merits of the bill. Among the speakers were Hon R. H. Dana of Cambridge in opposition, and Mr. Branning of Lee (who claims the paternity of the State aid bill) in favor. Both of these members are talented and very ready speakers. To the moment of my writing the fate of the bill is uncertain. Mr. Avery of Braintree in the course of his remarks proposed an amendment,—providing that licenses to sell spirituous vinous and malt liquors be granted by the Governor and Council; certain sums to be paid therefore, and such sums to form a sinking fund which shall be applied to equalize bounties under the provisions of the bill.

"Somebody" says that somebody was very liberal (?) with complimentary tickets.

SHIP NEWS. Arrived, at Quincy Point, on the 25th ult., schooner J. L. Leach, Captain James S. Endicott, from Wilmington, loaded with yellow pine, for Mr. George Thomas, the ship builder, who has decided to finish the ship that was put in frame last fall.

Sailed from the Point, on the 2d inst., Schooner T. Benedict, Captain Higbee, for New York, loaded with Granite.

CORRESPONDENTS. We would inform "Lucina," as well as all other correspondents, that names of the writers must accompany all articles when sent for publication. We will accept and publish your article if you will forward your name, which we will keep private.

Our readers will notice by the advertising columns that another town meeting is to be held on Wednesday next. Let there be a large meeting, as the articles to be acted upon are of importance.

OUR LADY FRIENDS are referred to the advertisement of J. C. Loring, Tremont Row, Boston—New Silk Goods.

Nine persons were baptized by immersion on Sunday last, in Neponset River, near Tenean Grove, by Rev. Mr. Barrows of Neponset.

Mr. C. W. Carter has been appointed by the G. W. C. T. of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, Deputy Grand Worthy Chief Templar of Union Lodge, Weymouth.

The first of the Assemblies of the McClellan Guards came off on Wednesday evening, and was well attended. About forty couple were present.

FIRES IN QUINCY.

The following is a list of the fires and alarms in this town, for the year ending May 1st, 1867. Joseph M. Glover, Clerk of the Hook and Ladder Company, has our thanks for the same.

May 16, House owned by Mr. John Southern, on Southern Hill, cause accidental.

May 19, Barn owned by Mr. Henry Wood, on School street, cause incendiary, damage slight.

April 13, House owned by Mr. H. G. Roache, at Railway Village, cause accidental.

April 15, School House, on Coddington street, owned by the Town of Quincy, accidental, damage slight.

Apr. 19, Shop owned by Mr. Wm. Parker, Jr., on Gay street, cause accidental.

April 21, Barn and Shop, owned by Messrs. William Pantton and John Hall, on Hancock street, cause incendiary.

NOTE. In addition to the above, there were two others, one in May—one about the middle of June, both near the Granite Railway wharf but no alarm being given in the town, and the owners being unknown, it was not deemed advisable to enter them in the above list.

We would call the attention of our readers to the sale, on Monday next, of valuable real estate, belonging to the late Joseph Hollis of Braintree. Part of the property is in Quincy. See advertisement.

War between France and Prussia is imminent. The latest accounts indicate that hostilities may commence at any time.

It is believed that the coming wheat crop will be the largest ever grown on this continent.

It is said that a large dry goods house in New York did a business last year amounting to eighty millions and figured up net profits, returned to the Government just—thirteen dollars.

The Connecticut farmers are turning their attention this spring to the cultivation of sorghum in place of tobacco, the latter being very slow of sale.

It is said that a barrel of flour can be purchased in Paris, sent to Liverpool by rail and steamer, and thence transported in a sailing vessel to Boston, at less expense than it can be purchased in that city.

A French newspaper says: "The spring bonnets seem to require very little material, they are smaller than those of last year. They are, however, much trimmed with flowers, ribbons, bead fringes, &c."

A letter from St. Louis says business was never duller, and there is no end to the complaints of mercantile men. The city is full of men out of employment.

A man in New Albany, Ind., who was divorced recently, married the only witness in the case on the 7th inst., his former wife acting as bridesmaid for her accuser.

The dogs in Chicago have become so shy of policemen that the latter have to dress up in citizens' clothes when they go out to execute the law on unlicensed canines.

In a New Jersey village, a plain stone over the grave of a young woman had this inscription: "Julia Adams, died of this shoes, April 17, 1839, aged eighteen."

A paste of one part powdered chloride of lime and one part of fatty matter placed in a narrow band round the trunk of a tree, prevents insects from creeping up it.

The eastern shore of Lake Michigan is the best peach, pear, cherry and apple region in the whole country, extending north a hundred and fifty miles, and back from the lake about forty miles.

The French crown diamonds will be shown in the Exhibition. The case in which they are placed will be lowered into the ground every night.

Kingston, Mass., has no debt and no paupers.

Selected Poetry.

A WHISPER.

There was never a day so sad and long,
But it wore at length to evening;
There was never a life so full of grief,
But death came at last to his relief.

There was never a soul so wholly glad,
But it found some moment to be sad;
There was never a heart so full of care,
But it had one hope to cheer despair.

There was never a winter dark and drear,
But changed to spring in the early year;
There was never a summer, well-a-day!
But it sloped through autumn to decay.

Farmers' Department.

STRAWBERRIES.

It is presumed that few farmers will be found at the present day who do not grow this delicious fruit. It not growing it extensively for market, no kind and provident husband or father should neglect to supply his family with this cheap and wholesome luxury. What greater luxury can grace the farmer's board than a bountiful supply of the crimson berries during the debilitating heats of early summer. And what can add a brighter charm to a rural home. We will say nothing of the profit of strawberry culture, as an inducement for farmers to enter upon their cultivation; but the pleasure and gratification to be derived from a well managed bed of strawberries should induce every farmer and every householder having a spot of ground at his control to at once plant a strawberry bed. The healthfulness of well ripened strawberries fresh from the vines, is too universally admitted to require further confirmation.

An abundant supply of this fruit will greatly economize the consumption of less healthful food. The season of the year for commencing this work is at hand. Let every one who possesses the facilities, and has heretofore neglected the work resolve to make a beginning this spring. The idea that the cultivation of strawberries is attended with an excessive amount of labor has deterred thousands from attempting to supply their families with this fruit. But this is a mistaken idea. If rightly managed, it will require little more labor to cultivate an acre of strawberries than the same extent of corn or potatoes. But weeds must never be allowed to get possession of the bed. If the weeds are suffered to gain the mastery the task will truly be formidable—that is why many find the labor so excessive. We know of no purpose to which a small plot of ground can be appropriated that will return the cultivator so great a profit.

Persons having old beds should lose no time in attending to them as soon as the ground is sufficiently dry to labor. The beds should have been cleared from weeds, the ground stirred and properly enriched the previous autumn; but if then neglected, the sooner it is now attended to, the more certainly for a crop. But manure can be applied at any time when the beds are bare, even if the ground is frozen. It is a great mistake to defer manuring strawberries until late in the spring. Such a practice gives a late rank growth of plants, but it is not in season to benefit the fruit. Doubtless many beds fail to produce fruit simply from this cause. As the strawberry is a most valuable fertilizer for strawberries—use liberally. Soap suds, slops from the kitchen or pantry are unsurpassed in their effects upon the strawberry bed. Apply them at any time during the winter, even if the beds are covered with leaves or straw, but after the fruit begins to form.—HERRICK THAYER.

TIME TO SIT HENS.

Chicken breeders are far apart in their opinions as to the proper time for sitting hens; some think the earlier in the spring the better. This is a mistake. Early sitting hens are apt to leave their nests more frequently in cold weather than in warm weather, in so doing their eggs become chilled in a very short time. Those that do hatch will produce puny chicks, which will need extra care to rear. The best time for sitting hens is from the middle or last of April until the latter part of June or July. Chickens hatched at this time prove hardy, and with proper care will be ready for fattening in early fall; the hens will make early layers for the winter.

Inednotes.

"Miss Brown, I have been to learn to tell fortunes," said a young fellow to a brick brunette. "Just let me have your hand, if you please."

"La! Mr. White, how sudden you are! Well, go ask pa."

A young apprentice to the shoemaking business lately asked his master what answer he should make to the oft repeated question, "Does your master warrant his shoes?"

"Tell them that I warrant them to prove good; and if they do not, that I make them good for nothing," replied the master.

"Why is it, husband, that whenever we send to the grocer for a pound of tea or coffee, that it weighs an ounce short?"

"Oh, it's a weigh he has."

"Oh, pa, Mr. Smith, was here this morning and when ma told him that you would not be at home till late, he said fier like he was home, and that he wished he was a bee, and then he kissed her. They gave me a stick of candy not to tell any one, but I don't think they'd mind you, you're so well acquainted with ma."

A Hibernian who had blistered his fingers by endeavoring to draw on a pair of boots exclaimed:

"I shall never get them on at all, until I wear them a day or two."

PACIFIC GUANO. GENERAL AGENCY For the Ammoniated Pacific Guano.

AS Agents for the PACIFIC GUANO COMPANY, we invite your attention to this circular as a matter of importance and interest.

THE AMMONIATED PACIFIC GUANO resembles PERUVIAN GUANO in appearance, odor and composition, and contains all the elements of fertility. That which renders the Pacific Guano superior to Peruvian is, that while it possesses sufficient animal matter, and ammonia for all immediate stimulus, it also contains nearly double the amount of soluble and bone phosphate, which affords the crops ample nourishment, and leaves the soil enriched by the same for successive crops, (which is not the case with Peruvian Guano).

We can assure the public that the Pacific Guano is superior in point of actual value and economy to either Peruvian Guano or Superphosphate of Lime, and commend it confidently as the best and cheapest fertilizer now offered to Farmers and Gardeners, containing more Ammonia, Soluble Phosphate and Bone Phosphate of Lime than any other fertilizer now offered, or known to us.

THE LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND J. W. BRADLEY'S Celebrated Patent Duplex Elliptic (OR DOUBLE SPRING) SKIRT!

THE WONDERFUL FLEXIBILITY and great COMFORT and PLEASURE to any LADY wearing the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SKIRT will be experienced particularly in all crowded ASSEMBLIES, Balls, Churches, Railroads, Carriages, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for FROCKING and HOUSE DRESS, as the SKIRT can be FOLDED when in use to occupy a small space as easily and comfortably as a SKIRT or HOUSING DRESS, an invaluable quality in criminal, not found in any Single Spring Skirt.

A LADY having enjoyed the FLEXIBILITY, COMFORT, and great convenience of wearing the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SKIRT for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their own. For Children, Maids and Young Ladies they are superior to all others. They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary Skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hips are covered with double and extra springs, and the bottom side are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down steps, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favor to all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the Standard Skirt of the Fashionable World.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Criminal, viz: Superior softness, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION—To guard against IMITATION, be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as DUPLEX ELLIPTIC, and not as J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Skirt, "Duplex" upon the waistband—more others are genuine. Also, Notice that every Skirt will admit a pin being passed through the center, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

For sale in all Stores where FIRST CLASS skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the Patent.

CAUTION TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH Dr. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No. 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Protruding Uterus or Fibroid, Suppression, and other Menstrual Derangements, are all treated on new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a very few days. So remarkably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted female soon resumes her perfect health. Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women than any other physician in Boston.

In boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice for the cure of Female Diseases, and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States. N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or the equivalent, in full payment of the fee. Office hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Boston, Sept. 1. 1y

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND J. W. BRADLEY'S Celebrated Patent Duplex Elliptic (OR DOUBLE SPRING) SKIRT!

THE WONDERFUL FLEXIBILITY and great COMFORT and PLEASURE to any LADY wearing the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SKIRT will be experienced particularly in all crowded ASSEMBLIES, Balls, Churches, Railroads, Carriages, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for FROCKING and HOUSE DRESS, as the SKIRT can be FOLDED when in use to occupy a small space as easily and comfortably as a SKIRT or HOUSING DRESS, an invaluable quality in criminal, not found in any Single Spring Skirt.

A LADY having enjoyed the FLEXIBILITY, COMFORT, and great convenience of wearing the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SKIRT for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their own. For Children, Maids and Young Ladies they are superior to all others. They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary Skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hips are covered with double and extra springs, and the bottom side are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down steps, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favor to all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the Standard Skirt of the Fashionable World.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Criminal, viz: Superior softness, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION—To guard against IMITATION, be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as DUPLEX ELLIPTIC, and not as J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Skirt, "Duplex" upon the waistband—more others are genuine. Also, Notice that every Skirt will admit a pin being passed through the center, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

For sale in all Stores where FIRST CLASS skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the Patent.

A WOMAN'S SAY.

DEAR PATRIOT! As your able conductor is a woman, I trust that even though of the same "persuasion," I may be permitted through your columns to have "my say." I rejoice, as the whole number of your subscribers, and I hope they are numerous, have reason to do, for the controversy in progress in your paper, viz: "Mental Epidemics," versus "Revivals." As "the agitation of thought is the beginning of wisdom," we need not fail to profit by this discussion. We surely have gained some new ideas with reference to the "Revival" in the mind—as, also, that the "Revival" is this time carried on, and defended by those "practising law," "springs of the law," and "lawyers defunct."

But such a stir among the people, is always, and everywhere, productive of good; serving to ventilate the mental dormitories of all who care to think upon these things. A seeker after knowledge has a curiosity excited to know if the parties are "compos mentis," while another might doubt his or her sanity in propound-ing that query.

"W." comes out with an article, which,
certainly, proves his soundness as a critic
in his reference to "Mental Epidemics."
No. V. in proof that the writer thereof has little faith or belief in the individuality of the human race—whereas, I have studied in vain to see from whence he draws such an inference. And, as for his diagnosis, and sympathy for the case of Dr. Sanderling, I think them ill-timed, and not needed. But then, we have some ancient records of those who were charged with being "possessed of devils," "mad,"
"drunken," &c.—and, these same individuals, this century, have come to be esteemed, and are even now held to have been "divinely inspired," and are worshipped by many. Hence, Dr. S. may reasonably glory in the application of these appellatives—for, surely, judging from precedent, he is "on the road to glory,"—while, perhaps, "W." like "Cy-Pres," may be among the "unconverted."

In the "Revival" in which I was "converted," there was great stress laid upon sentences like this: "Plucked as brands from the eternal burning"; which sentence of itself is well calculated to strike terror to the human heart—and as to the operation, and consequent results of all this frightening process, I wish to learn what I can.

Thus, these "shepherds lead not their flocks, but with an angry, vindictive God and a catalogue of sins from Adam down, in one hand,—and the Devil, and a lake of fire and brimstone in the other, the sheep are frightened into the fold.

I hope "Cy Pres" will join issue with his learned opponent, and come to an open, public discussion, bringing to light
all he may be able to do to substantiate his position as the negative party, that we who listen, may come into the "light of things," the merits of said "Revivals" to be discussed afterwards, if the parties are so disposed.
Quincy, April 30.

SATURDAY NIGHT.

What blessed things Saturday nights are, and what would the world do without them? Those breathing moments in the tramping march of life; those little trifles in the breast and garish glare of noon, when pale yesterdays look beautiful "changed" long ago smile sweetly again in the hush; when one remembers "the old folks at home," and the old-fashioned fire, and the old arm-chair, and the little brother that died, and the little sister that was "translated."

Saturday night makes people human; it sets their hearts to beating softly, as they used to do before the world turned them into war-demons and jarred them to pieces with tattoos. The lodger closes with a clash; the iron-doored vaults come to with a bang; up go the shutters with a will;
check goes the key in the lock. It is Saturday night, and the business world is free again. Homeward, ho! The door that has been ajar all the week gently closes behind him; the world is all shut out.
Shut out? Shut in, the rather. Here are his treasures, after all, and not in the vault, and not in the book—save the record in the old family Bible—and not in the bank.

May he who is a bachelor, frosty and forty. Then, poor fellow! Saturday night is nothing to you, just as you are nothing to anybody. Get a wife, blue-eyed or black-eyed, but above all true-eyed; get a little home, no matter how little, and a little sofa, just to hold two, or two and a half, and then get the two, or the two and a half in it, of a Saturday night, and then read this paragraph by the light of your wife's eyes, and thank God and take courage!

The dim and dusty shops are swept up, the hammer is thrown down, the apron is doffed, and labor hastens with a light step homeward bound.

"Saturday night!" feebly murmurs
the languishing sufferer, as she turns wearily upon her couch, "and is there another to come?"

"Saturday night, at last!" whispers the weeper above the dying, "and it is Sunday to-morrow, and to-morrow."

We should not measure men by Satdays, without looking to what they do all the week after.

notified to bring in to the Assessors of said Town, on or before the 15th day of MAY next, a true list of their Polls and all their Estates, both Real and Personal,
of which they were possessed on the 1st of May, 1867.

All persons who have made changes in their Estates the past year are particularly requested to give notice to the Assessors.

The attention of all owners or keepers of Dogs in this Town is hereby called to the provisions of Section 6, Chapter 130, Acts of 1867, which is hereto annexed.

An Act relating to the Abatement of Taxes.
Approved April 1st, 1865.

WHEN the Assessors of a city or town have given notice to the inhabitants thereof to bring in true lists of all their polls and estates, not exempt from taxation, in accordance with the provisions of the twenty-second section of the seventh chapter of the General Statutes, they shall not afterwards abate any part of the tax assessed on personal estate to any person who did not bring in such list within the time specified, or thereon in such notice, unless such tax exceeds by more than fifty per centum the amount which would have been assessed, had that person on personal estate, if he had seasonably brought in said list; and if said tax exceeds by more than fifty per centum the said amount, the abatement, shall be only of the excess above the said fifty per cent.

An Act concerning Dogs, &c.
Chapter 130, Acts of 1867.

Sec. 6.—The Assessors of the cities and towns shall annually take a list of all dogs owned or kept in their respective cities or towns, on the first day of May, with the owners' or keepers' names, and return the same to the city or town clerk.
Any owner or keeper of a dog who shall refuse to give just and true answers or shall conceal any fact in the answer relating to the ownership thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars. * * *

Poetry.
For the Patriot.
TO MY FRIEND J. J. G.

I am sitting by the cradle, John,
Where I have sat before,
And my foot is on the rocker, John,
Where it's rested oft of yore.

My little blue eyed baby, John,
Is nearly fast asleep,
And I shall cease my rocking soon,
That mother dear may sweep.

For the day is bright above us, John,
And when the housework's done,
I am going out of doors, sir,
To take a little run.

Our baby grows like weeds, John,
In springtime's opening hour,
And we prize the sweet unfolding,
Of our precious little flower.

For the thousand little tendrils, John,
That around our heads do twine,
Are the cords that ever bind us
To a human, called divine.

But I must not write too long, John,
For the penny post will come,
While my letter yet unfolds,
Will fall to reach your home.

Home o'er which the vines do creep, John,
Round its larches, clustering stand,
Shrub-embowered, vine-wreathed homestead,
Clasped should be the friendly hand.

That the outcroppings of the inn, John,
E'er prove an index true,
From the flowers a happy lesson,
From the simple birdlings too.

Has the Robin built her nest, John?
Within the apple tree;
And does she ever ask you
What has become of me?

You may tell that ancient bird, John,
When she speaks again to you;
That I shall watch her coming,
E'er the summer days are through.

And tell that dear old dog, John,
Who watches at the door,
That tried and faithful friend, John,
We love him more and more.

And to the household thrush, John,
Let us all remembered be,
And I'll write to you again, John,
When you have written me.

FRUIT CAKE. One-half pound of butter, and two teaspoons of brown sugar beated to a froth. The yolks of four or five eggs beaten, and added with a teaspoon of molasses, and one of sweet milk. One pound of raisins stoned, one pound of currants, quarter pound candied peel, a little ginger, or any spice preferred. Stir all well together, adding nearly the required quantity of flour; then add the well beaten whites of the eggs, two spoonfuls of soda dissolved in a little water. To the remainder of flour add four teaspoons of cream of tartar, sift into the cake, stir well, and bake immediately. It will take between one and two hours to bake well.

I must rise early, yea, not at all go to bed, who will live every one's good word.

A young man in St. Louis recently wrote to Mr. Horace Greeley to use his influence in obtaining a situation for him.
He received the following reply:—"New York is just entering upon the intersting process of starving out 200,000 people whom war and irredeemable paper have driven hither. It is impossible to receive and employ more till these are gone."

A fashionable clergyman of Lynn was complaining to a married daughter, whom he was visiting, that he was unwell
and had lived for the ten previous weeks on water-gruel. "Perhaps, father," said the affectionate daughter, "some of it has got into your sermons."

"Without doubt," said a wise Arab,
"all men are equal, as the fingers of the hand! Behold! look at these fingers; their origin is common; they cannot be parted without grave words; but one of them is longer, and the others shorter.
If all were alike I could neither touch, nor strike alike, nor grasp. Be sure it is with men as the fingers of the hand."

Never consider a person unfeeling or hard-hearted because he refuses what he cannot grant.

Wait for others to advance your interests, and they will wait until they are not worth advancing.

He who would not have more than he can do to-morrow, must do all he can today.

The fault that makes church pews bar-ren of occupants is not a lack of sufficient preaching, nor yet of talent; for the pulpit has its full share of the best intellect of the day. It lies in the want of heart, of sympathy, of directness, of near approach to the feelings of men. The more the clergyman studies the open book of human nature, the better will he be qualified for his high vocation.

RUMOR NOT TO BE TRUSTED.

"We shall never like John's wife—she's proud, hateful and selfish," exclaimed a young girl of sixteen, as almost breathless she rushed into the room where her mother and elder sister were sitting.

"Bessy what do you know about her?"
asked the mother.

"Why, mother, Julia Thornton has just come home from Philadelphia, and she says, people do say, that Jenny Carroll thinks no one good enough for her to associate with—that she wouldn't be so much thought of if her father was not rich;
and she isn't pretty either."

"And Bessy, of what value is beauty unless the heart is good," and the mother looked searchingly into the daughter's face that was glowing with excitement.

"But all John has ever written about her was, 'I shall not ask you to love my wife for my sake, surely not, until I see you do not love her for herself. I think she possesses qualities that will ennoble
the name I shall give her; and believe the hearts that love me will give her a place, not a word whether she is pretty or plain. How provoking," was the elder sister's response.

"It was wise in John to say but little about her; he prefers her to all others;
and it is better that we be not prejudiced either for or against her," the mother said.

"Julia said she never thought John would make such a miserable choice.
Why she is—"

"Tut! tut! tut!" said the father, who, entering unobserved, had heard all, and laying his hand on Bessy's mouth, added,
"never mind what Julia says—no doubt she would have been better pleased if John had married a certain girl of her own age and size; but I guess she was capable of choosing for herself."

"Julia's aunt lives near Mr. Carroll's, and she says—"

"Tut, Bessy; if there was nothing for you to do in the house, you had better have been out riding old Dobbin than listening to gossip about John's wife. Get your bonnet, and go with me to the station and see how you like her."

Playfully kissing the hand of her father, and tossing it from her, the frolicsome girl bounded from the room, and Mr.
Hall turning to his wife, said:

"I haven't forgotten the day when I took my wife home, and do you think we should have been so happy if we'd thought mother and sisters were prejudiced against her by some idle rumor?"

Mrs. Hall's only reply was a smile, while a blush lingered on her matronly
cheek; and she said:

"I married to please no one but myself; and let the boys choose for themselves."

"And the girls too," said Bessy, who came in, twirling her straw hat in her hand.

"And the girls if they decide wisely but come, we shall be too late," and the father and Bessy went out, and stepping into the old family carriage drove to the station to meet John and his wife.

There was more truth than poetry in the remark that Julia might have thought differently if John had selected herself.
He was a great favorite with the farmer's daughters in his native town; and during the few weeks spent at home in summer was besieged with invitations to attend pic-nics, or to join a household party; or a "select few were to have a moonlight sail upon the Delaware, and all wished Mr. Hall to join them;" and as he had no business engagement which he could offer as an excuse, he almost invariably accepted such invitations, and rumor often whispered that Julia Thornton was the chosen one. Yet never by word or look had he intimated that he prized her society more than that of any other friend,
but what the mother's thoughts were no one knew; as she very wisely kept her own secrets, though more than one noticed with what bitterness Julia Thornton spoke of John's wife.

John Hall was the son of a well-to-do farmer, living upon the western bank of the Delaware, and eight years before the opening of our sketch he left the paternal home and entered the store of a dry-goods merchant in Philadelphia. He soon won the confidence of the merchant, and after five years was admitted as junior partner of the firm; and now having married the daughter of the senior partner, he, with his wife, was expected at the farm-house that evening.

Twilight was throwing her dusky drapery over the landscape as the carriage, turning off from the river road, passed up the shady lane leading to the farm house.—
Fights were streaming out from the passenger windows; where the family were assembled momentarily expecting their guests. Mrs. Hall had just left the supper room after seeing that all was in perfect order, for the house-wifely mother had many fears that her daughter-in-law, who had been accustomed to all the luxuries of a city home, would not only dislike the country relatives of her husband, but their old-fashioned home and plain fare also. She was sitting with her youngest child upon her lap, a little girl of four years, who was talking in her childish way of John's coming home, when, hearing steps in the hall she exclaimed:

"Mamma, I guess John's wife's come now, don't you?"

John entered the room, and all eyes were fixed eagerly upon the small, sylphlike being at his side,

TOWN MEETING.

A Town meeting was held on Wednesday last, at which John Q. Adams, Esq., was elected Moderator.

Voted, That the Prudential Committee of the South School District is authorized to retain the lower room in the High School building now occupied by a Primary School for the use of said school.

Voted, To indefinitely postpone any further consideration of article second.

Voted, To indefinitely postpone article third relative to a Soldiers' Monument, (the result of this vote is to leave in force the vote passed at a Town meeting, held April 26. See Patriot of May 4.)

Voted, That the meeting be dissolved.

MINISTERIAL. We are sorry to learn that one of the most eloquent and active clergymen in this town is about to leave us. The Rev. E. P. Thwing, who for many years has been pastor of the Hancock street Church has resigned, on account of impaired health. He requests to be released at the close of the present quarter—July 1st. Mr. T. has labored zealously for his church in this place, and has many warm friends.

Since writing the above we regret to learn that Mr. Thwing has been called to part with his only surviving parent, a veteran missionary in Boston, where he has labored without interruption since 1837. Public services were held on Wednesday in Salem street church, and the remains taken to Mr. Auburn.

PERSONAL. Among the passengers which sailed from Boston on Wednesday last in the British Steamer Cuba, for Liverpool, were Mr. James Edwards and lady of this town. Mr. Edwards will be absent six or eight weeks, and during that time he intends to visit the Paris Exposition. Dr. Thayer, father of Chas. Paine Thayer, M. D., of this town, was also one of the passengers.

The Cuba left the wharf at East Boston, at one o'clock, with nearly two hundred passengers and $54,500 in specie. Just before the steamer sailed, Rev. Robert C. Watson, in behalf of the committee who had been engaged in collecting the subscription for the testimonial, informed Mr. Garrison, who was one of the passengers, that $30,000 had been raised and was now subject to his order. Mr. Garrison received the remarks of the speaker in a manner befitting the emotions it aroused. As the vessel went down the harbor a salute was fired from the revenue cutter in honor of Mr. Garrison.

THE TOWN BELL. A very important part of this useful bell is now broken—the tongue. What would any of our bellies think if they had lost their's? but the village bell has been in this sad predicament for several days, and many of our mechanics have nearly lost their dinners; and some almost forgot to go to bed; not hearing its musical sound at 12 M. and 9 P. M. The town has sent for a new tongue, which will probably be adjusted to-day.

HOOK AND LADDER CO., No. 1. At the Annual meeting of this Company, held last Monday evening, the following persons were elected officers for the ensuing year:

Foreman—A. M. Alphonse.
Assistant—Edward A. Spear.
Clerk & Treasurer—Joseph M. Glover.
Foreman of Hook—Henry G. Pratt, Jr.
Assistant—John Jacob.
Foreman of Ladder—Geo. Veazie, 2d.
Assistant—Percy Chubbuck.
Azemen—Charles Arnold, Marcus M. Hobart.

STANDING COMMITTEE—John T. Veazie, James N. Blake, George W. Prescott.

HYDE PARK. E. E. Williamson, Esq., of this town, will lecture before the Hyde Park Literary Association, on the Progress of Republicanism, on Monday evening next, at Music Hall. The Quincy Brass Band will be present. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

ORDINATION. The Rev. Hasket Derby Catlin was ordained as pastor of the Church of the Unity at Newport, on Wednesday last. The Rev. Andrew P. Peabody, D. D., of Cambridge preached the sermon on the occasion.

THE TRIAL OF JEFF. DAVIS. The Washington Republican of the 8th inst., says the trial of Jefferson Davis will be proceeded with as soon as the U. S. Supreme Court adjourns.

Judge Underwood stated in the U. S. District Court at Richmond, Tuesday, that Chief Justice Chase would be present. Davis is expected at Richmond on Saturday, and will appear in Court on Monday, Judge Underwood will then postpone the trial until Judge Chase arrives.

John M. Betts is foreman of the Grand Jury on which there are thirteen other white men and five colored men. In Virginia, juries are selected by the marshals or sheriff, and not drawn from boxes of names selected by other officials.

ADVERTISING. The Boston Transcript states that in their issue for last Saturday, there were 501 new advertisements. Advertising is growing to be more and more common, and Horace Greeley's opinion, that the trader who pays more shop rent than advertising, don't know his business—may yet come to be generally adopted.

PERSONAL. We were pleased to see at our office the first of the week, Mr. George Randall. He has been very sick for some time with a fever, and now looks quite pale and thin.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, MAY 9, 1867.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The submarine cable despatches of the present week are highly sensational. A monster reform meeting was held on Monday in London, one hundred thousand persons being present. The most revolutionary sentiments uttered by the speaker were loudly cheered by the crowd. Fifteen separate meetings were held in and around Hyde Park; at one of which, a woman spoke in favor of female suffrage, and one stand was devoted to religious speeches. The government may well feel alarmed, as all the troops in London were under arms, and a large force of police on hand ready for any emergency. We understand this "Reform" movement, to be a demand by the English people of the right of suffrage, about as unqualified as we enjoy in the United States. It is not difficult to foresee what would result in Great Britain from universal suffrage. Hereditary claims to power would pass into oblivion. Queen Victoria may be the last of the sovereigns entitled by the accident of birth to the British throne. The Peace Congress is about to meet in London. It is reported that the leading powers hesitate to carry out the proposition for guaranteeing the neutralization of Luxembourg, and that the people ask for annexation to Belgium. Looking at the map of Europe, it would seem that the Luxembourgers rightly belong to Belgium. The Paris Exhibition is progressing, but its attractions fall short of the expectations of last winter. The Great Eastern is soon to return to New York for another freight of passengers.

WASHINGTON. The impeachment investigation by the Judiciary Committee has again commenced. The generally received opinion is that a strong case cannot be made out against the President, who believes so himself. The Japanese visitors are much lionized at Washington. It is said that one object of their visit to this country is the purchase of iron clad steamers. The Japanese may extend their visit to Boston. The Postmaster General has officially notified all named in the Act of Congress to select a site for the Boston Post Office. Mr. Kimball of Boston, and requested them to organize and commence their task. Percy says that "the friends of Jefferson Davis are making a last effort to secure his release by the President, as they are apprehensive if brought before Judge Underwood he will be tried by a jury party, if not entirely, composed of colored men, and will grace the 'sour apple tree'."

STATE LEGISLATURE. Proceedings very quiet this week. The Bounty Bill to be discussed this day. The Jury Bill has passed the House 103 yeas to 92 nays. We may allude to it next week. The Hoosac Tunnel bill, which is an act in addition to an act providing for the more speedy completion of the Troy and Greenfield Road and Hoosac Tunnel was considered in the House on Tuesday. Mr. Dana of Cambridge made a strong speech against the bill. While Mr. Kimball of Boston defended the bill, two of the ablest members of the House, vigilant against each other. Mr. Bird, the vigilant member from Walpole, and the Nestor of the House, is loud against "State Aid" for the Hoosac Tunnel; his opposition to this quixotic project for some years past has been bold, effective, and we believe from his best convictions. A large amount of business is undoubtedly has been accomplished by the Senate and House this week. The session will probably draw to a close by the 20th instant.

THE WEATHER.—Comfort ahead. The weather terribly out of joint for May—cold as March—but Professor Thatcher of New York predicts "a hot though short summer." On Monday the Professor published the prediction that it would certainly rain within three and a half days, or within twenty-four hours. It did rain within the latter time. He thinks the science has arrived at such a state that the coming weather can be foretold three quarters of the time with unerring certainty. At any rate, a good season may be expected for the New England farmer.

For the Patriot.
LATE DECON PRATT.

We think the deep interest manifested in the anti-slavery movement by the late Deacon Pratt, during a term of years, covering the average time of an entire generation, should receive something more than the slight notice that appeared in the Congressional Quarterly. Had his death occurred a few years previous, such an omission would have been expected; for at that time the leading influences even in New England churches, were opposed to the anti-slavery movement. It is very easy to float up or down with the popular current in the Church or out of it. But it requires considerable force of character, backed up by sound principle, for a person of the retiring habits and quiet disposition of brother Pratt, to stand out for more than a quarter of a century in advance of his denomination in the advocacy of the rights of a despised race and an unpopular reform, and deserved (in our opinion), something more than the passing notice that he "stood a fearless advocate of the reforms of the day."

PRESENTATION AT WEST CAMBRIDGE. A few days since about fifty of the citizens of Arlington, formerly West Cambridge—testified their appreciation of a long and arduous service as a member of the School Board by William E. Parmenter, Esq., by presenting him with a beautiful service of silver, consisting of a pitcher, salver, and two goblets, with other valuable gifts. The pitcher bears the following inscription:

"Presented to William E. Parmenter, Esq., by citizens of West Cambridge, in token of their high estimate of his long and valuable service in systematizing and raising to a high standard their public schools."

The School Houses, Soldiers' Monument, &amp;c.

To the Editor of the Patriot.

On Wednesday, at four o'clock, I attended the Town Meeting which was held to discuss the subjects above mentioned. A goodly number of the voters were assembled, and all seemed to be impressed with the idea that something should be done; I said all, but unfortunately there were three or four who believed that the something to be done was talking—and at it they went—they did nothing but talk; and what was worse, they talked of things quite foreign to the purpose for which the meeting had been called. I waited patiently until nearly five o'clock, and then went home to dinner, intending to return and make a speech myself, but when I returned I found the meeting had closed, leaving things as they were before. Now, as honorable members of Congress have their speeches printed, and then frank them to their constituents, cannot you print the following speech, headed:

"A Speech delivered by —, at the Town Meeting, held in Quincy, May 8th, 1867, concerning things in general?"

MR. MODERATOR: It seems to me that the true principle on which towns should conduct their business is the same as that which is adopted by every sensible man in transacting his affairs, viz: Liberty in all that may be necessary to advance his interests—and economy, strict economy, in every thing else. If this be true, I do not think it is good policy for a town already $70,000 in debt, to incur any unnecessary expenses in gratifying the whims of a few. The complaint is, and I believe it is a well-founded one, that the school accommodations are insufficient in the South and Centre Districts; and the wish of the people seems to be to erect a monument to the citizens of this town who have fallen in the war for the Union—to consider these two objects, I take it, the purpose of this meeting. Now, I propose a plan, not original with myself, to provide more school room, and to have a noble and fitting memorial of our country's defenders at the smallest expense to the town. Let us with the Adams fund build on the Hancock lot a granite building for a High School and public library; and let the library contain tablets inscribed with the names and deeds of those who have laid down their lives in their country's cause. This building might be ornamented on the top with a wide spread American eagle to gratify the fancy of those who have fallen in love with the Brighton monument. A High School building thus provided at little or no expense to the town, the present High School building could be used for a grammar school, and the Soldiers' Monument would be placed in the centre of the town, instead of a graveyard, half a mile from anywhere where people certainly would not go a second time to look at it.

FOR THE PATRIOT.
IS IT ECONOMY?

At the town meeting in March, the appropriation of four hundred and seventy dollars was made to secure the introduction of an English course of study in the High School, adapted to the wants of those scholars who might not desire to take the Greek, Latin, and the higher mathematics—branches required to be taught, by law, in high schools of the first-class, in all towns having five hundred families, or more.

Thus without lowering the grade of the schools, provision was made to meet the practical wants of the pupils, whether fitting for college, or mercantile pursuits, or the common business of life.

There are in the building, in addition to the main room, two small ante-rooms, used as a reception room and a study, both too small for the purposes of a recitation room.

On the lower floor are two recitation rooms, one occupied by the High School and the other, by the Adams Primary, to retain the latter, for the use of the Primary School, was voted Wednesday; thus rendering it necessary either to partition the lower room, or to suspend the introduction of the English course, and retain the same studies as heretofore, which though useful, are not as practical, in all cases, as might be desired.

For two reasons this should not be, first—both rooms are needed. An entering class of no extraordinary size will make the number of pupils about a hundred. Second:—it must be patent to every one acquainted with the management of a school, that two schools, whose sessions commence and end at different hours, will annoy and interrupt each other unavoidably. If I am told that what has been, can be as well now as ever, I answer upon the testimony of the past teachers of the school, that the arrangement has always been an injury to both; as much to the Primary as the High, and vice versa.

Is it the part of economy to appropriate two thousand dollars for the support of a High School, and then impede its working and reject its most practical advantages, by the interruption of a lower school?

I would speak for the interests of the Primary Schools, as well; for our High School is to be, in a few years, just what the Primary Schools shall make it by the material they afford. Will it be for the highest interest of the solid men of Quincy to let the Primary Schools remain in basement rooms, just at that time of life when the plant frames need light and dry apartments? If that peculiar notion of the Yankee is correct, that school houses are cheaper than State prisons; and that education is the true defense of a republic, then the town which alone enables this Commonwealth to claim the name of mother of chief magistrates, however economical she may and should be in other matters, ought not to cramp her public schools.

PROTECTION.

As there have been frequent fires of late caused by the incendiary, it is not the duty of every good citizen, whether owner or occupant of houses to use their utmost endeavors to put a stop to this wanton destruction of property? and, as it appears our towns have taken measures that has stopped this work of burning every old building that has become offensive to this class of people, I would respectfully enquire if it would not be advisable to call a special Town meeting and adopt some plan whereby we may protect ourselves from being called out at any time to save the property of our citizens. I mention this in order that you may introduce the subject in your paper as soon as convenient.

A CITIZEN OF QUINCY.

We thank "Citizen" for calling attention to the subject, and cheerfully give him the free use of our columns. We agree with him that it is high time our people woke to a sense of their danger, and sought some means of protection, if they would save their own homesteads, and the towns from a general conflagration. The late fire gave us somewhat the character of the enemy and his designs. He should not be allowed to repeat them.

IMPROVEMENTS IN WEYMOUTH. We learn from the Weymouth Gazette that the Congregational Society (Mr. Dickerman) have raised by subscription about six thousand dollars with which they intend to make extensive improvements on their church during the coming summer.

The first Universalist Society have raised about three thousand dollars for the purchase of the vestry under their church, and to repair and improve the roof, have new stained glass windows, paint outside and inside, fresco the walls and make other improvements.

The Village Cemetery Association are making arrangements for a grand Fair to come off next month. The object of the Fair is to raise money to make extensive improvements in the Cemetery grounds; we are informed that two thousand dollars are needed for this object and we hope our people will manifest a deep interest in this noble enterprise and aid it to the utmost of their ability.

THE COMING WHEAT CROP. People who have to purchase flour at present prices will be glad to learn that there is a prospect of a bumper crop of wheat in the West. The wheat crop this season will be the finest produced in this country for many years.

TEMPERANCE ITEMS.

In relation to temperance there are two parties: those who drink and those who don't. The quantity consumed has nothing to do with this declaration. He who gives his influence in favor of drinking, He may not wish to, but he does. And he cannot very well labor in the temperance cause. If a man doesn't drink, he throws his influence against drinking. Hence, every man gives his influence as a whole in favor of temperance or opposed to it. He is on the one side or on the other. He certainly can't be on both. Neither can he be neutral. Christ declared the same principle when he said, "He that is not with me is against me." It is true of every man in reference to every great moral question, that he takes sides. It matters not whether he tries to, or tries not to. He does, and he cannot help it. It is true in regard to Sabbath desecration, swearing, drinking, and so all through the list. And it should be a question whether he has the moral right to encourage drinking by drinking himself, even though it be ever so little, and then feel obliged to stand aloof while others are laboring to carry forward the temperance reform, because he cannot consistently act.

It is stated that the petitions for a license law presented to the Legislature, represent thirty thousand persons, a great number of whom are Irish. It is estimated that from one third to one half belong to this class, though probably this estimate is too high. Be this as it may, doubtless many of them are as likely as many of the American advocates of rum-selling.

Governor Andrew's "great argument" against prohibition and in favor of license, was devoted but in small part to these questions, but was really no argument against total abstinence and the temperance cause. But it is very silly for any man at this late day, even though he be great and gifted, to undertake to prove—that intoxicating drinks are indispensable—that the evils of temperance have been exaggerated—that total abstinence is not as healthy as moderate drinkers—and other things equally absurd.

A newspaper publisher in a certain city says, "those who are interested in the subject can obtain Governor Andrew's speech before the Legislative Committee on the license question of most of our news dealers, who have it for free distribution." Query: Who pays the bill? Certainly temperance men do not. Certainly the interest was the above-mentioned speech really given? On which side the Governor and his friends really lie?

Dr. Miner's able address before the State Temperance Alliance, published by the State Temperance Alliance, it closes with the words, I have but a single injunction: Stand by your guns and the enemy is ours!"

Summary Intelligence.

The richest negro in Philadelphia, is Stephen Smith, a lumber merchant. He owns seventy-five houses in fee simple, and is worth not less than $300,000.

Brazil is now a land of freedom—slavery having been abolished throughout the empire on the 8th of April last.

A merchant in Newburyport recently received a telegram from Calcutta, which was but two days and five hours on the way, and cost only five hundred dollars.

A few days since as the carpenters in the shipyard of Mr. Sylvester Hardy, at Salisbury, were cutting up a large stick of white oak timber, they found a full grown and well preserved owl deeply imbedded in the wood.

It is said that the emigration to the South and West this summer will be very large from Massachusetts, hundreds of families having made preparations to seek homes where the iron hand of vampire landlords cannot be felt.

Nearly ninety members of the Troy conference of Methodist ministers have been forced to live the past year on salaries averaging five hundred dollars.

The cost of living in New England is now higher than any other country on the face of the globe.

Seven hundred buildings have been begun in New York since the 1st of January. In this respect the season is one of unprecedented activity.

The London Court Journal says:—"False ears of flesh color—India rubber—have been invented for the use of ladies with large ears. They are used in front of the real ears, which are drawn back and concealed under the hair."

There are twenty-nine circuses and menageries travelling through the country this season.

Beef hasn't been so high as it is now since "the cow jumped over the moon."

PHILADELPHIA has the largest population of African descent of any city in the republic.

New WAGON. We notice that our extensive furniture dealer, N. B. Farnald, is out with a new and beautiful furniture wagon. For a light express, we think it is the best in the city. It is a superior British article, newly furnished throughout.

to Policy-holders.
Purely Mutual.
The Charter of the Society Requires that
All Profits go to the Assured.
DIVIDENDS DECLARED ANNUALLY.
LIBERALITY in its dealings and special advantages of a level to the assured have secured to the Society a success almost marvellous, certainly never equalled in this country or Europe. In the short space of seven years it has accumulated a fund of over three millions of dollars, and has secured an annual income of over two millions.
It is thoroughly established on a solid basis, conducts its business on the Cash Plan, and its ratio of "Total Expenditure" to "Total Cash-income," is less than that of any other Company proprietorily organized.
The Funds of the Society can, by Law, be invested only in U. S. or State and City Bonds, and in Bonds and Mortgages on unencumbered Real Estate, worth double the amount loaned thereon.

Poetry.
TO H. W. LONGFELLOW
Thy hand hath plucked the sweetest flowers,
From Fancy's fair, and fragrant bowers,
Thy feet have climbed her loftiest towers,
The clouds above.
From deepest mines, thy genius brought,
To us, the purest gems of thought,
And in our inmost hearts hath wrought,
The jewels rare.
'Tis thine, fresh vigor to impart;
To lift from earth, the weary heart,
And bid the tear of rapture start,
From fountains deep.
The magic beauty, of thy lyre,
Kindles the spirit's hidden fire,
And doth with hither zeal inspire,
Its votaries.
Unraptured hosts before thee bow,
And garlands bright of glory now,
Are woven for thy noble brow,
Immortal bard.
Posterity shall fan the flame,
Enshrining thy mighty name,
On the proud pinnacle of fame,
Engraven now.
Great Poet, when thy race is run,
Thy glorious work on earth, is done,
And the last earthly laurel worn,
By thee below,
Then may life's cord, be gently riven,
And by angelic hands in heaven,
A richer diadem, be given,
To thee above.

Interesting Selections.
BAKED PUDDING. Six tablespoonsful
Indian meal, two do. do. flour, two quarts,
of milk, two cups full of sugar, five eggs,
two large tablespoonsful melted butter,
cinnamon and salt.
Dr. Chapin says there is a class of men too shallow to have a conscience and too cold to have a heart.
EFFECTUAL PRAYER. Do not say you cannot pray, because you cannot speak much, or well, or long. Prayer is wrestling with God; the heart is the wrestler;
holy faith is the strength of it; it by means of this strength thy heart be a good wrestler, though thou art ever so tongue-tied, thou wilt be a prevailor. Rhetoric goes for little in the heavenly court, but sincere groans have a kind of omni-potency.
When cats wash their faces, bad weather is at hand; when women use washers to their complexions, it is a true sign that the beauty of the day is gone.
Much adversity is requisite to make us hate life; a beckon from prosperity will recall this hatred instantly.
It is a common fault never to be satisfied with our fortune, nor dissatisfied with our understanding.
An honest dame in the West,
standing beside the corpse of her deceased husband, bewailing in piteous tones his untimely departure, observed: "It's a pity he's dead, for his teeth are as good as they ever was!"
Irish servant to a lady in an intelligence office. "Well, if you'll give me eight dollars a month and three afternoons in a week, and time for church three times on every Sunday, and eggs and fish every Friday, and your references from your last cook are satisfactory, I think the place will suit me."
A wise man will desire no more than what he may get justly, use soberly, distribute cheerfully, and live contentedly.
We have heard of the witty reply of a slave who had stolen and eaten one of his master's turkeys, when he was accused of the crime. He replied all idea of wrong, saying that "massa's property only changed form; he has less turkey, but more nigger!"
No triumphs are comparable to those of piety, no trophies so magnificent and durable as those which victorious faith erects; they do far surpass the most famous achievements of pagan heroes.
All orders thankfully received and promptly attended to.

Miscellany.
CAUGHT.
For weeks there had been great preparations made at the house of Farmer Judson, all pointing to the proper keeping of Thanksgiving Day. According to the honored custom all the family were to be gathered beneath the paternal roof. Not many olive branches however had blessed the hearthstone of Farmer Judson. One son and two daughters were all that had been given to him. Of these the son and eldest daughter had married and moved away, but Indiana, (the old man by some idiosyncrasy of his nature had insisted on naming her after the "Hessian State") yet remained at home—the only rose un-plucked from the parental stem.
A very witch was "Anna" as she was commonly called by her companions, though her father always pronounced the whole with sonorous emphasis. Scarcely nineteen, with a somewhat petit form, cheeks as red as the running roses that hung in festoons around her chamber window in the summer time.
She was the "making of a wife" that could not well be matched in the whole country.
"There," said Farmer Judson as he came into the hot kitchen puffing under the great load of dry rails he had been splitting for oven wood: "There, I guess I shan't have but one more such job to do as long as I live."
"When that father?" asked the girl
as she paused in her labor of frying crullers and looked at him wonderingly
in the face.
"When you get married," and in an instant he was driven from the house by the blushing little mix who chased him, with four-duster in hand.
"Your father is right," said his mother.
"Pshaw," was the somewhat spiteful answer.
"It is time my daughter, that you were thinking about settling in life. Before I was of your age your father and I had been married nearly a year."
"The more fools you," came to the lips of the girl; but she dare not utter it, and contented herself with dropping a little fat on the cat's tail, who bounded out with a terrible "mew."
Indiana answered not. She had her own views of matrimony, and did not intend to be interfered with.
From sun-rise "until meeting-time"
on Thanksgiving morning, all hands—(and some tongues) were very busy in the old farm house. When the church-bell rang, calling the people together to give thanks for the abundance with which God had blessed the earth—father, mother and daughter took their places in the old family sleigh, leaving Aunt Hannah, a negress of undoubted color—of the kind that the village merchant would have said was "dyed in the wool," to superintend operations.
For over two mortal hours they sat upon the hard un cushioned, straight-backed seats, uncomplaining. Two hours and over with such a nice dinner in prospect! Why it was enough to drive a saint mad.
But pretty, pert little Indiana Judson sat through it all with demure face, folded hands, pursed up little mouth, and eyes that did not wander more than once in ten minutes from the minister's face to the singers in the gallery. Yet slight as was the deviation from the strict Puritanical rules of propriety, it was noticed by the mother, and her sharp elbow instantly recalled the backslider to duty.
At last, however, sixteenth and seventeenth, and to conclude the application and exhortation was finished—the Duxolley was sung and with many a sigh of relief the congregation passed out, exchanged greetings and the good dames hurried their husbands home for fear the "turkey would burn," while the half-starved youngsters voted long sermons a bore, and Thanksgiving—with this single exception—a "bully" time.
"Hadt' we better ask young Weldon home to dinner with us?" whispered Farmer Judson to his wife.
"Certainly. Poor young man, he's so far away from all his friends, and nowhere but that dirty old tavern to eat."
Very thankfully young Weldon accepted the invitation.
Of the dinner there is no occasion to speak.
But somehow Norman Weldon did not leave, as, of course, he ought to have done, when he was filled to repletion—filled as full as Connecticut babies are said to be at such times—filled until their fond mothers are obliged to anoint their little receptacles of food and place them before the fire to expand.
No he did not go. He sat in the square room just as contented as the cat, (whose tail Indiana in a fit of remorse had bound up with the "Daily," did upon the home made list rug. Sat and talked to the farmer and his wife and their daughter until the candles were lighted.
Then a crowd of boys and girls came in. Indiana's black eyes snapped. She had no great opinion of surprise parties, and did not fancy having the quiet of their home thus unceremoniously interrupted.
Her father saw it, and called her aside,
and whispered:
"Mother and I thought that seeing it was Thanksgiving, and your brother and sister here, we might just as well have a good time as not, and so invited the young folks in."

Why Children Die.
The reason why children die is because they are not taken care of. From the day of their birth they are stuffed with food, choked with physic, suffocated in hot rooms, steamed in bed clothes. So much for in-doors. When permitted to breathe a breath of fresh air once a week in summer, and once or twice during the cold months, only the nose is permitted to peer into daylight. A little later they are sent out without no clothes at all, as to the parts of the body which need most protection. Bare legs, bare arms, bare necks, girted middles, with an inverted umbrella to collect the air and chill the other parts of the body. A stout, strong man goes out on a cold day with gloves and overcoat, woolen stockings, and thick, double-soled boots. The same day a child of three years old, an infant in flesh and blood, and bone, and constitution, goes out with soles as thin as paper, cotton socks, legs uncovered to the knee, neck bare; an exposure which would disable
the nurse, kill the mother in a fortnight,
and make the father an invalid for weeks.
And why? To harden the child to a mode of dress which they are never expected to practice. To accustom to ex-posure, which a dozen

BOLD ROBBERIES. The dwelling house, stable, and cellar owned by N. B. Farnald, on Washington street, in this town, were entered on Monday night, and articles to the value of about one hundred and fifty dollars were stolen. The variety of things taken is laughable. From the house, silver spoons, clothing, a new clothes-wringer, several new bed-spreads, a leg of lamb and other eatables. In the cellar there were two legs of pork, one was taken and the other left—quite accommodating. Three or four hundred weight of English hay, carriage blankets, robes, &c., &c., were among the valuables taken from the stable. Mr. Farnald and family were asleep during the visit of the bold depredators. They entered the sitting-room adjoining the bedroom occupied by Mr. Farnald and took a number of articles; the door between the rooms being open.

During the night the store of Mr. Gordon, at Railway Village, was entered, and nearly the entire contents carried off. Articles valued at a thousand dollars. Some of the hay stolen from Mr. Farnald's was found scattered on the ground, near the store. It is thought they used it for packing purposes. We learn that this is the third time the store has been robbed.

RESIGNED. We are sorry to learn that Mr. Henry A. Gay, who for over twenty years has been the courteous, obliging and careful depot master in this village, has sent in his resignation. Mr. Gay has held this public position ever since the Old Colony railroad was started—in 1846—and has filled it, we believe to the entire satisfaction of the corporation and the public. The duties of the depot master, at a station, like the one occupied by Mr. Gay, where trains are passing every fifteen or twenty minutes, is very arduous; and the pay very small, considering the many hours and careful attention required.

PERSONAL. Mr. Everett C. Bumpus, of this town, having finished the necessary course of reading and study, was on Monday admitted to the bar. We learn that Mr. Bumpus has applied himself with great diligence in the pursuit of his chosen profession, and as he is a young man of ability and perseverance, we have no doubt of his success wherever he may locate.

JEFF. DAVIS RELEASED ON BAIL. Mr. Davis, late President of the United States, arrived at Richmond from Fortress Monroe, on Saturday last, in charge of Gen. Burton, under authority of the writ of habeas corpus, issued by Judge Underwood, of the U. S. circuit court, for the district of Virginia. Monday he was brought into court and admitted to bail in the sum of $100,000, for his appearance for trial at the November term of the court. The bail bond was signed by Davis himself, and seventeen sureties, Horace Greeley, of New York, being at the head of the list.

DEATH OF A VENERABLE DOG. The Messrs. Tirrell & Sons, of this town, lost a valuable and intelligent watch dog by poison on Tuesday last week. On the morning after the burning of their paint shop, (April 21st), by an incendiary fire, the dog appeared to be poisoned, from which fiendish and cowardly act, poor "Tiger," came to an untimely death. Alas! that he should have thus fallen. He was kind and affectionate in disposition, and although doggedly sensitive as a faithful sentinel, was always courteous in his deportment; but there was one trait in his character, which made him a great favorite with the Niagara Engine Company, and deserves especial notice in this obituary; whether from the love of excitement, or a sense of duty, it had been his habit for years, at the first alarm of the fire-bell, to bound for the engine house, follow the Company to the fire, remain near them, and return with the engine, with all the regularity of an enrolled member. Much indignation is felt at his death and the manner of it.

Change of Time in the arrival and departure of the mails. It will be seen by a notice in our paper to-day, that an important change has been made here. All mails now due will be received and distributed, before departing ones are made up and forwarded; leaving an interval sufficient to prepare return letters where an immediate answer is required;—an arrangement that will be duly appreciated by the community.

THE SEASON, although backward, on account of cold wet weather, is now rapidly developing. The pear, peach, and cherry trees are in full bloom, with a fine prospect of an abundant yield. The apple, although more backward, is coming forward, but with less promise.

A seaman on board the sloop Granite, of this town, fell overboard from a boat in the channel south of the Hartford and Erie Railroad, in Boston, on Tuesday afternoon, but was rescued by Mr. Charles A. Dutton, an engineer on Boston wharf just as he was sinking for the last time.

GEORGE PEABODY. It was a year on the first of May since Mr. Peabody arrived in the Scotia at New York. With the closest economy it must have cost him four million dollars during his twelve months stay with us.

THE FIRST PUBLIC SCHOOL. The first Public School in the world was established at Newport, (R. I.) by a town vote in 1640. Hartford, (Ct.) had her first Public School two years after, and Massachusetts seven.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, MAY 16, 1867.

The Secession States—their status.—State House.—DEBUT of four Reports on the Liquor Question.—Political.

Advices from the "wayward sister States," per the telegraphic wires, from day to day through the week, have been of the deepest interest. Texas appears all right and prospering. Not so with her sister State Louisiana. Great financial excitement is reported at New Orleans growing out of the closing of the sub-Treasury, and the first National Bank. Large defalcations are reported. There has been a run upon the other banks, the money market stringent, and the City National Bank has suspended. In this state of things General Wilson reached the Crescent City yesterday to talk with the people on their political duties.

The serious riot in Mobile, Alabama, on Tuesday night is much commented upon here. A separate attempt was made upon Judge Kelly of Pennsylvania, and a body of gentlemen who surrounded him on the steps of the old Court House in Mobile. The outrage was so sudden and unexpected that prevention was impossible. Several lives were lost, and the demon spirit of secession is again sparked into life.

The famine in South Carolina is alarming, and all former unkind feelings of the North give way to sympathy for the starving multitude of that ill-fated State. Florida and North Carolina are evidently wheeling into the reconstruction circle.

The melo-tragic scenes at Richmond since my last, have formed a part of the week's gossip here. Some approving of the release of Jefferson Davis, others disapproving. Although a traitor of the deepest dye, Davis will probably never be tried for high treason. But like Aaron Burr, the mark of Cain will be upon him to the day of his final departure. This punishment is as much as he can bear. The public mind is relieved, and the general government has acted wisely, inasmuch as it has leaned on the side of mercy in his case. Had he been tried in 1865, the severest penalty of the law would have been inflicted upon him.

STATE LEGISLATURE. The License Law question has been uppermost through the week, and the public mind seems much interested. Let me allude to the subject in a few words as possible. First, we have from the Committee, a majority Report and minority Report, and two dissenting Reports. Contrary to expectation, a majority of the Committee reported a bill in favor of the prayer of the petitioners,—that is for a license. A minority of the Committee reported leave to withdraw, and also, a bill authorizing the appointment of liquor agents in the city of Boston. Senator Fay submitted two bills—one to license apothecaries, and the other to modify the law relating to State agents,—and last, Mr. Sherman of Lawrence submitted a Report, allowing the petitioners for a license to withdraw. And now comes the tug of war. By parliamentary rule, the majority Report will be first considered. If this fails of favor, then the minority views of the Committee will come up. It is impossible to tell how long the discussion will last, or what will be the final action on this exciting question. A motion giving the petitioners leave to withdraw prevailing, would quietly end the matter this session. But there are axes to grind with certain politicians at the State House. And the question really one of philanthropy and morals is likely to assume a political phase. Efforts will be made to split the Republican party. And it is already whispered that a new party organization is in embryo,—coming into the field at the State election in November to be license or no license. In the new party programme, politics will probably be ignored. General Schouler has been named as a candidate for Governor. It requires no prophecy to say that such a movement would be formidable against the present ascendant power. Nous verrons.

SAILORS' SNUG HARBOR. The annual meeting of the Trustees of the Sailors' Snug Harbor was held Wednesday forenoon in Boston, at the office of the President, R. B. Forbes, Esq. The customary annual reports were read, and disposed of in the usual manner. It was stated that during the last year fifteen men were admitted, thirteen discharged, and five have died. The present number of inmates of the institution is thirty-six. The farm in Quincy has been successfully managed. The value of the products was $3,288.44, from which $2,761.21 in cash was realized. Twenty-one acres are under cultivation. Appropriate mention was made of the death of Joseph V. Bacon, one of the Trustees, and the fact that a gift of $30,000 had been made by Paschal P. Pope, was represented. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, R. B. Forbes.
Treasurer, W. A. Wellman.
Secretary, J. Francis Tuckerman.
Executive Committee, R. B. Forbes, Albert Fearing, George B. Upton, R. B. Storer, A. T. Hall.

ANNUAL SESSION. The twentieth session of the American Institute of Homoeopathy will be held at the Gallery of Fine Arts, Fifth Avenue, corner of Fourth Street, New York, commencing Wednesday, June 5th, 1867, at ten o'clock, A. M., and will continue three days. A preliminary meeting, to arrange the business of the Session, will be held at the same place, on Tuesday evening, June 4, at eight o'clock.

We are surprised to see children wearing shoes with ragged holes at the toes—wasting their parents' money and endangering their health, when for a trifle more, shoes with copper tips, or the new and beautiful silver tips, can be had which never wear out at the toes, thus preventing these serious evils.—*J. MT. WOLLASTON LODGE.
This Lodge is in a flourishing condition. Its membership numbers one hundred and fifty-five and is steadily increasing. Its principles are not secret but well understood. A pledge of total abstinence for life is taken by all who join, and none are expected or desired to become members who do not voluntarily put themselves on this platform. And whether persons continue their membership for a longer or shorter time, their obligation of total abstinence is life long in its duration.

Woman's rights are acknowledged here. Ladies are admitted to full membership not only, but each quarter have a share of the offices. They also serve with acceptance on the various committees. The secrecy of this institution amounts to very little—indeed hardly more than that of the family. Nothing is kept secret which concerns the public to know. The avowed object of the Lodge is to labor in every possible way to promote the great cause of temperance. Temperance, first and last, is the grand object for which it was instituted. But while this is true there are many incidental benefits resulting from the weekly meetings. The Lodge-room is an excellent place where the young may pass their evenings. The influences are elevating and improving. The social feature is a prominent one, and the literary entertainments, consisting of an occasional paper, select readings, recitations, speeches, dialogues and discussions, together with musical entertainments with the accompaniment of a piano, all combine to render the meetings pleasant, attractive and profitable. We believe that Mt. Wollaston Lodge is a power for good in this community.

APPOINTMENT. The numerous friends of E. S. Deas, Esq., of North Weymouth, who for four years filled the office of U. S. Assessor for the Second District so acceptably to the government, has been appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury as Special Agent for the Treasury Department, to travel and give aid, assistance and instruction to Internal Revenue officers.

SNOW IN WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS. They still tell marvelous stories about snow drifts on the mountains in Berkshire county. In a gorge near "the Falls," at North Becket, the snow is 12 feet deep; on the farm of Almon Barnes, near the same village, there is a drift 20 feet deep. In the western part of Worthington, near Peru, there is a ravine in which there is a pile of snow one hundred feet deep.

THE BASE BALL FEVER. It is said that this pastime occupies so much of the time of many young men that some employers now inquire of applicants for positions whether they belong to a ball club.

NO PYROTECHNICS. The City Fathers of Boston dispense with fireworks on the evening of the 4th of July, and in its place a general illumination of the Common will occur.

GAMBLERS ARRESTED. On Saturday night last Deputy Constable Edridge visited the house of James Morrow, at Milton Lower Mills, and found eight persons engaged in gaming for money. He arrested the party and brought them before Trial Justice Temple Monday morning, where they paid fines severally of $5 and costs. The deputy constable was assisted by Deputy Sheriff Robey and Town Constables Goss and Southworth of Dorchester. Morrow was also committed for being a common seller. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $50 and costs.

THE ANNIVERSARIES. The Anniversary meetings in Boston begin on the evening of Sunday, 26th inst., and continue through the week until Friday.

Those of our readers who need any thing in the way of Cosmetics or Toilet Articles, would do well to patronize the firm of BERG, SHUTTS & CO., Troy, New York. They are the only Agents in America for many of the most valuable French and English Toilet Articles and Preparations that are used by the Beauties of the Old World, to beautify and make attractive their person. See their advertisement in another column.

Rents are scarce and high in Boston, and fabulous prices are demanded for the summer occupancy of furnished houses in the suburbs. A thousand dollars was recently refused for the use of a second class wooden dwelling house eight miles out of town, with the furniture, for three months, and houses in the same village now rent for sums for which they could have been bought outright two or three years ago.

As will be seen by reference to our advertising columns the well-known Boot and Shoe Store of the Messrs. Curtis's is for sale. To any one possessing the requisite abilities, the above offers rare inducements.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY. This beautiful and favorite periodical comes to us with all the freshness and fragrance of the June roses. It improves with every issue, and we are not surprised that ladies find it the indispensable companion of their working as well as their leisure hours. Its varied contents embrace almost every topic of interest in the parlor, kitchen, and nursery, while its sensible tone and the amount of valuable information furnished, not to speak of the money value of its excellent patterns, render it a capital investment of three dollars, without the premium, which is sent for every yearly subscription. Address,

MT. WOLLASTON LODGE.

Perhaps some of your readers may suggest a remedy for the stray cows which for several seasons past have infested the north part of this town, and have even now begun their summer campaign. I will not complain of their tramping and feeding upon mowing land, nor of the damage done to young trees it is difficult to bear with equanimity. Is there any encouragement to attempt the adornment of our very ugly turnpike, while constantly liable to incursions of cows which destroy in a few minutes plantations of trees produced by much labor, time and expense? I have never inquired the legal remedy for this very serious and constant annoyance, nor do I wish to do so. I content myself for the present with the suggestion that those citizens who pasture their cows on the highway should provide efficient and constant attendants, and that those who hire or own pastures should make it a point to see that their fences are strong and sound throughout.

QUINCY HORSE RAILROAD. This road, under the efficient management of John J. Glover Esq., the President, the low tariff of fares, good cars and courteous conductors, and one of the best Superintendents in charge, is enjoying a season of great prosperity. There are few suburban retreats, which offer more attractive to the residents of our crowded city, at this season of the year, than this pleasant village. Fine cultivated farms, repelling mild rich valleys; bold and rugged granite hills; where the summits, the eye takes in miles of the grandest scenery, and a sea view, sweeping the whole harbor, from Bunker's Height, far below the outer Light—with shady walks, and broad avenues for short rides, etc., we recommend a trial of this cheap country excursion.—Boston Transcript.

TESTIMONIAL. Prof. Thore was presented by the members of one of his classes in Boston, on Saturday evening last, with a purse of fifty dollars in token of their esteem for him as a teacher and their appreciation of his efforts for their advancement. Dr. Pease in his presentation remarks spoke in high terms of the system of instruction pursued by Mons. Thore and of the rapid progress made by his pupils in acquiring a knowledge of the French language. The success which has attended the "vocal system" introduced by the professor scarcely a year ago is ample evidence of his qualifications as an instructor, and of the correctness of the system which he pursues.

We are sorry to hear that the Professor has declined keeping his French class in this town, on account of the small number of members.

THE LAWS OF LIFE. The May number of this original and valuable Health Journal comes to hand with healing on its wings. A VALUABLE CAT. A lady in Portland applied at the Police office on Monday in search of a lost cat. She said she would give $1000 to have the feline returned to her, as it was one she brought from England, and set a great deal by it. The cat had a gold necklace on that was worth forty dollars.

AUCTION. We would call the attention of readers to the sale of "Edwards Wharf" on Saturday next. Also, four acres of land in the same vicinity. This offers a good chance for speculators, or for any one wishing to carry on the lumber or coal business. Sale positive. See advertisement.

EAST WEYMOUTH, MAY, 1867.—Business here has increased wonderfully within the past ten years, especially in the boot trade. We have three manufacturing establishments which use steam power.

Mr. Alexis Torrey, of North Weymouth, is the prince of manufacturers in this vicinity. In February his sales amounted to twenty-two thousand five hundred and sixty pairs of Congress and Balmorals, bringing $39,893. There is however but a small margin for profits this spring.

The New York Gazette says, S. S. Seranton & Co., the Hartford book publishers, have offered the government $1000 per month for the use of the high board fence which is to enclose the site of the new post office at New York, with the intention of converting it into a mammoth advertising board.

A chemist in Berlin, by feeding his hens with food in which was mixed a preparation of iron, has succeeded in obtaining from them eggs with iron shells. If the practice becomes general, it will be necessary in future, to provide each setting hen with a hammer, with which to break the shells when the chickens are ready for the world.

At a party, on Fifth Avenue, New York, the other evening, a beautiful young lady was complimented, by a gentleman, of the simplicity and good taste of her dress. "I am so glad you like it," the lady replied.—"I made it myself, and it cost just seven dollars." Who will follow that fashion? It would help a great many women to husbands, and secure men better wives, if such devices were fashionable.

During the year, ending on the 21st ult. the National Debt has been decreased by two hundred and nine millions of dollars. Could this rate be maintained, the last cent of the debt would be paid by the 4th of July, 1876, the anniversary of our hundredth birthday.

A WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.

An unusual excitement was created in East Abington last Saturday evening on account of developments made respecting the conduct and practice of Rev. Sereno Howe, pastor of the Baptist Church, with the children of his congregation. The facts as we learn them are substantially as follows:

Mr. Howe was settled over the Baptist Church five or six years ago, and has continued his pastoral office since. He was very active in his care for the Sunday school connected with the Church, and apparently took great interest in the welfare of the children. He was principal School Committee man, and elected Representative to the General Court. He is a member of the present House. Some time ago he buried his wife and one or two children, and since those events he has been particularly attentive to girls and boys, especially those from six to about thirteen years of age, frequently taking them to ride, reading to them, telling them stories and doing every thing in his power to gratify them. Such was the confidence parents had in him, that they encouraged him in his attentions to their children, feeling perfect confidence that when in company with Mr. Howe they were entirely out of harm's way and beyond the reach of wrong or temptation.

Thus matters continued until last Saturday, when two girls were overheard in conversation which led the person over-hearing them to inform their parents of what they said. The statements of the girls were sufficiently astounding, but those of some of the boys were almost incredible and beyond belief.

During the early part of Saturday evening some ten or a dozen citizens, some of them parents of the grossly abused children, waited upon Howe at his rooms in the basement of the Church, and making known their business, asked him what he had to say to the charges made against him, and his only reply was, that he was not then prepared to say anything. He was talked to very distinctly and plainly, and given to understand that it would not be safe for him to remain in town any longer than was absolutely necessary. Later in the evening a large number of the young men proceeded in a body to search for Howe, but failed in finding him,—his speedy flight saved the indignant people from carrying out their intentions.

We learn that the said Howe had been engaged to preach at Quincy Point, tomorrow, and that a number of the citizens were to have been baptized by him. It was fortunate for them that his "cloak" was removed previous to the appointed time.

CHANGE IN THE PROBATE STAMP DUTY. By the Act of Congress approved March 24, an important modification is made in the law imposing a stamp duty on probate papers. Where the value of the estate does not exceed one thousand dollars, no stamp is required on the probate of a will or letter of administration. Affidavits are also exempt from stamp duty.

An old cooking stove was recently brought into one of the auction rooms of Worcester and sold by the proprietor, Judge of the former owner's astonishment, when on arriving home he was told by his daughter that she had put two hundred dollars in money and all of his valuable papers in the oven of the stove to keep them out of the hands of burglars. He returned to the city, but the stove was sold. He succeeded at last in finding the purchaser, after a ride of ten miles, and recovered his lost property.

Know thy Destiny.

MADAME F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrist, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are married, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a life like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications should be confidential. Address in confidence, MADAME F. THORNTON, P. O. Box, 223, Hudson, N. Y.

TAKE NO MORE UNPLEASANT AND UNNECESSARY TRAVEL.

HELMOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU and "Improved Catarrh" cure all the urinary disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. Address in confidence, HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT, 104 South 10th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Wonderful but True!

MADAME REYNOLDS, the world renowned Astrologist and Somnambulist Clairvoyant, was in a clairvoyant state, delineates the very features of the person you are married, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a life like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. ## The Glory of Man is Strength.

Therefore the nervous and debilitated should immediately use Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu.

A YOUNG LADY returning to her

country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of coarse, rustic, flaxen hair, she had a soft, curly, complete of auburn marble smoothness, and instead of twenty three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to a lady's toilet. By its use any lady or gentleman can improve their personal appearance a hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from the skin, cleansing and beautifying the complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Price $1, sent by Mail or Express, on receipt of order by T. L. CLARK & CO., Chicago, Ill., or 3 West Fayette Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

Poetry.
For the Patriot.
HOPE.
BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.

Hope is an angel sent to save
The poor and suffering from despair;
Nerves the weak arm for duteous strife,
And earns the child's blood into life;
Gives courage to the downcast slave,
And bids the coward dare.

Hope cheers the seaman on the mast,
While round his head the wild winds roar,
Points to his home, his friends, his wife,
And bids him struggle still for life;
And tho' that hour may be his last,
Hope bids him not give o'er.

Hope with the dying Christian stays,
And points the soul to realms of bliss,
Through the bright arch of liquid blue,
Presents the Saviour to his view,
And lifts his soul with shouts of praise,
On her ascending car.

Interesting Selections.
CURRIANT CAKE. One cup of butter, two of sugar, three of sifted flour, five eggs, one pound of currants, well washed and dried, a little salt, and grated nutmeg. This will keep nice for three months.

HARD HYDROLIC CEMENT. A cement which is said to have been used with great success in covering terraces, lining basins, and so forth, and so hard that it scratches iron. It is formed of sixty-three parts of well-burned brick and seven parts of litharge pulverized and moistened with linseed oil. Moisten the surface to which it is to be applied.

A lady writes that salt is a sure thing for bedbugs. Wash the article and places infested with the bugs with salt and water, and fill the cracks and crevices where the vermin hide. They will give no more trouble.

Many a girl thinks she can do nothing without a husband, and when she gets one finds she can do nothing with him.

EFFECT OF BEING JILTED. A gallant old Scotch officer was narrating the unfortunate history of an early friend who had been jilted by a fickle beauty in favor of the Duke of A—; and he concluded his story thus, in a tone of much emotion: "Poor fellow, he never got over it! No, sir, it was the death of him; and then, after a pause of much pathos, he added, with a faltering voice, "he did not live fifteen years after it."

A certain farmer (a pillar of the church) had a fine field of wheat, which, being a little late, was threatened with an early frost. In the emergency, he went into his closet and wrestled in prayer with the Lord for its preservation. In his prayer he stated the facts fully, and how the wheat would be effected by the frost; "Not, Lord that I would dictate, but merely recommend and advise."

The worst-hearted enemies are often less to be dreaded than some kind-hearted friends. Fools do more mischief than critics.

A lady writing of the rule of fashion, says: "We are all like the old woman of a century ago, who, upon going to her milliner's with materials for a cap, directed that it should be made in the most perfect simplicity; not even a tucker, or the faintest suspicion of one, would she abide. But, on turning to leave, nature was too strong for her, and going back, she put her head in at the door, and said in a suppressed voice: 'you may make it, poke a little—just a very little.'"

A dun was somewhat taken aback the other day by the coolness with which the debtor said, "Call next Thursday, my dear sir, exactly at ten o'clock, and I'll tell you when to call again."

It is the greatest of all sins always to continue in sin. For where the custom of sinning waxeth greater, the conscience for sin grows the less; it is easier to quench a spark than a fire.

A young lady reprimanded her shoemaker, for not following her directions respecting a pair of shoes she had ordered, and, among others, insisted that they were not fellows. Crispin replied, that he purposely made them so, in order to oblige her, well knowing the modesty of her disposition, and that she was not fond of fellows.

Men wrangle in assertion and argument; and quiet truth disappears amid the noise and confusion.

Miscellany.
NARROW ESCAPE OF GENERAL SCOTT.
A correspondent writes to the Army and Navy Journal, that at an interview with General Scott, in April, 1865, the General related the following incident:
Lieutenant George Watts, my Aid, saved my life the morning before the battle of Chippewa, 15th of July, 1814. The circumstances are as follows: At the mouth of Street's Creek, which empties into the Niagara River, immediately adjacent to the battle field of July 5th, stood a house, occupied by a Mrs. Street. As there were no males belonging to the family, she had applied to me for protection, and I had given her a safeguard, which was perfectly respected, and she made money by selling milk and different articles to the American troops. She invited me to breakfast with her, and I accepted the invitation. I had just prepared my first cup of coffee, and was about to raise it to my mouth, when I experienced the truth of the proverb that "there is many a slip twixt the cup and the lip." My Aid, George Watts, perspiring very freely had risen from the table and stepped across the room to another table near the window, to get his pocket handkerchief out of his dragon helmet or casque which he had previously placed there. My cocked hat lay on the same table, and I lost it in consequence. Looking out of the window, he turned to me and said, quietly, but significantly, "In three minutes the house will be surrounded by Indians!" I set down my unsteamed coffee, rushed from the room, cleared the piazza and steps at a bound, and ran "like a man" for the bridge which communicated with our own side of the stream. Thus George Watts, by his promptness saved my life, for the whole thing had been arranged by Mrs. Street with the intention of murdering and scalping me. She had given the signal by waving something from the house as soon as we sat down to breakfast.

The same night, after my victory at Chippewa, I made Mrs. Street's house my hospital, and the rooms and its courtyard, in which I had caused tents to be pitched, were filled with our wounded. When I visited the house, I found the treacherous woman and her daughter, a very pretty person, engaged in attending to the wants of the wounded British officer in the second story. I saw the latter carrying refreshments to a wounded British officer to whom she was engaged to be married. As she had been moving through the rooms filled with the blood from injuries and amputations, her dress was completely drenched to the knee. Both mother and daughter avoided catching my eye, and I avoided any attempt to make them catch mine; for they were women, and as such, I could not feel vengeance, although they had attempted to compass my death. As I said before, upon this occasion, I owed my life to Lieutenant Watts.

THE TRADER AND THE DEACON.
A model merchant was Mr. Elias Johnson. Not like some of them, would he stand with his thumbs in the arm-holes of his vest, and deliver lectures to reluctant audiences of antique spinsters or juvenile females in a hurry to get home, on the subject of a half-cent difference on the price of a yard of calico; yet, like the most of them he was always ready to retaliate, if possible, on such very careful bodies as would, "beat him down to the lowest notch," as the phrase goes. In particular, he hated Deacon Libby, who was one of this careful sort.

Deacon Libby, at times, would bring into market a dozen bushels of apples, a firkin of butter, or some other articles of country produce, and as such things were scarce in the goodly city of L—, in the State of Maine, of course, he who got them first, was the best fellow.

One cold morning in December, the old mare was seen coming down Main street, at a very slow rate, and in a moment all the grocers were out at the door ready to hail him. But Elias, in his usual smart mood, was out first, and the Deacon's old mare immediately hitched in front of his store. On this occasion the Deacon had brought some apples, and without examining them closely, Elias agreed with the Deacon on a price—the payment to be made in goods.

Elias's stock embraced all sorts of dry goods, as well as groceries—like all country stores—and the Deacon having selected a piece of calico, as he thought might please his womankind at home, Elias measured it off for him. While he was thus engaged, the Deacon was rather abstracted—perhaps thinking of church matters, or something else—and paid little attention to what Elias was putting up.

The Deacon received his bundle, and was about leaving the store, when Elias, with a smart grin upon his face, said: "I shouldn't wonder, Deacon if you found those a little damaged."

Such was the fact—the goods were damaged.

The Deacon turned upon him a very pleasant face, and said, without looking at his purchase: "Well, well, perhaps we'd better, all of us look a little closer at what we buy; but I guess you'll find that the calico is full as good as the apples!"

He got into his wagon, still smiling, and drove off.

Two Irishmen engaged in peddling packages of linen, bought an old mule to aid in carrying the burdens. One would ride awhile, then the other, carrying the bales of linen on the mule. One day, the Irishman, who was on foot, got close up to his muleship, when he received a kick on one of his shins. To be revenged, he picked up a stone and hurled it at the mule, but by accident struck his companion on the back of the head. Seeing what he had done, he stopped and began to groan and rub his shin. The one on the mule turned and asked what was the matter.

"The errator's kicked me," was the reply.
"Be jabbers," said the other, "he's did the same thing to me on the back of the head."

DUTCH STOICISM.
Irwin's steam saw mill, which is a fine one, is a place of resort for sight-seers. Not long ago a German citizen walked into the mill and watched the progress of the big circular saw with much interest. Its rapid motion fascinated him, and stepping up, he applied the index finger of his right hand to the ill-defined periphery, when, much to his surprise, the end of the finger disappeared at the second joint. Very placidly he bound up the stump. Just then Mr. Irwin entered, and the victim of misplaced confidence accosted him thus:

"Mr. Irwin, I comes to see your mills. I never comes to see your mills before. So I takes mine finger like dis (putting the index finger of his left hand up to the eye) to feel him, and, mein Gott!" The unlucky German, in explaining his first mishap, touched the saw with his left forefinger, which dropped off near the knuckle. Turning to the proprietor, in almost speechless amazement, he finally stammered out: "Mr. Irwin, I comes to see your mills. I haf not seen him before. I will go away, and I never vill want to see him any more."

The stars of heaven shine brightest in the darkest night.

Elias unheeded the barrel anxiously, and found that the apples were full as much damaged as the goods. He was on the point of swearing at such a breach of honor on the part of the Deacon, but recollecting that his curses might "come home to roost," like the chickens we read of, he refrained. The Deacon never called upon Elias again.

Elias learned a lesson that he never forgot, viz.—that it wasn't well to play tricks with his neighbors.

REWARDS IN SCHOOLS.
Flogging school-boys and school-girls has been discussed by that respectable body, "The Boston Social Science Association," and we are glad to state that that accomplished educator, Mr. George B. Emerson, plainly declaring that in his opinion "the system of flogging makes the pupils barbarians."

Mr. Wm. P. Atkinson, another gentleman of authority upon such subjects, said: "When a school cannot be governed without the rod, it is an indication that the school is not properly organized. If we were wrong, it is a consolation that we were wrong in such excellent company. Both the gentlemen above named are practical teachers, of large experience, and have tested the opinions which they publicly announce."

The system of rewarding pupils for good behavior and for proficiency was also discussed at this meeting, and Mr. Emerson said very plainly that "the distribution of medals makes the pupils heathens;" by which we suppose he meant that it promotes jealousy, heart-burnings, envy, pride—passions essentially un-Christian, although Mr. Emerson's designation may be unjust to enlightened and conscientious heathens. In Boston no more medals are to be given in the girls' schools—for the boys' schools there are, we believe, certain endowments for annual medals, and it may require a decree in Chancery to divert the direction of these funds into some more profitable course. But the action in regard to the girls' schools settles the principle; and an entire reform may be confidently anticipated.

Medals and other rewards might be more properly distributed if there were any way of determining with judicious accuracy the precise degree of merit to which each pupil is entitled; but so long as, both in degree and kind, intellectual capacities differ, and so long as the antecedents of pupils must be various, it will be found impossible equitably to determine whether the scholar who has excelled or the scholar who has failed is entitled to the medallion distinction. If the pupils could be fairly started together, still it would be impossible. There is no fixed winning-post in the school itself—the real goal is at the end of a life-time, and the real race comes off, as they say, upon the course, in the fullness of manhood, and under very different conditions from those which govern the competitions of the school-house. Nine great men out of ten have been agreeable disappointments to their relatives and friends. The ultimate brilliant success of duces has always been a biographic phenomenon. Genius is wayward; and although we may be sure that it will always study, we may be equally sure that it will study in its own way.

A LONG KICK.
Two Irishmen engaged in peddling packages of linen, bought an old mule to aid in carrying the burdens. One would ride awhile, then the other, carrying the bales of linen on the mule. One day, the Irishman, who was on foot, got close up to his muleship, when he received a kick on one of his shins. To be revenged, he picked up a stone and hurled it at the mule, but by accident struck his companion on the back of the head. Seeing what he had done, he stopped and began to groan and rub his shin. The one on the mule turned and asked what was the matter.

"The errator's kicked me," was the reply.
"Be jabbers," said the other, "he's did the same thing to me on the back of the head."

PROHIBITORY SCRAPLES.
"STELLA" has exhausted every argument against the License Law, excepting the strongest one, the Prohibitory-perfectionists possess—invectives. These she uses with all the self-consciousness, that every thing she says is true, because of her statement, but every thing opposing must be proved beyond a moral certainty, to a mathematical fineness, in order to convince her that she is unfortunate enough to have been wrong in any idea that has received her seal of approbation. But she weakens the arguments by her general accusations, and in trying to convince, insults her opponents. She pitches into the character of the Licensees, with all that action of the Pharisee towards the Publican and Sinner. "Behold them," she says, "their breaths are rank with whiskey and onions; their mouths are filled with oaths, their minds with odium. And what do you think further? There are Irishmen who favor this general drinking; all the good ones are on our side; three cheers for our side." Thus Stella, with her load of virtues, extols her ideas, and speaks twice for herself. But she should remember that in a civil action, the character of the parties are but rarely involved. When principles are to be passed upon, and the investigating of them is the issue, the character of men sink into nothing, whilst the principle is being worked out. That Irishman, who stands with his hoe, working, is a better exponent of a principle, than Stella, dealing in her invectives,—doing nothing, though her character be ever so much the higher.

But if she is so anxious to leave the arguments of the issue, and roll off her log into the sea of character, let us see what we can do in a comparison of the relative characters of these opposing elements. The Rev. Sereno Howe—peace to his troubled ashes—was the chief exponent of the prohibitory law in this section of the State. The arguments in favor of it rolled out of his sanctified mouth, and blew out his virtuous cheeks with their power and strength. He was Stella's Moses, leading her through the Red Sea, into the promised land, where there should be no more whiskey, or spiritus fermenti, but where milk and wild honey like lice, no where should be found. The manum was just falling, and the Israelites were stooping to pick the food, when this Moses had another call; against which he could not refuse or tarry his hair, or feather his nest; and somehow, he has been caught up in a cloud, so thick, that we shall never again see the light of his wonderful countenance. It is said, that to lose a leader, is to lose ten thousand. Can Stella, with her calculator of virtue, point us out a leader, or ten thousand of the "license mob," that will quite set off the putrid rascalties of the said; "Sereno how come you so?"

Proceed, and take the census, and then report. But first, do not try to cover yourself under a woman's name, though you've been addressed as a woman, I am sorry to say I think you a man.

BEING SURETY.
If any desire thee to be his surety, give him a part of what thou hast to spare; if he press thee further, he is not thy friend at all, for friendship rather chooseth harm to itself than offend it. If thou be bound for a stranger, thou art a fool; if for a merchant, thou puttest thy estate to learn to swim; if for a lawyer, he will find an evasion by a syllable or word to abuse thee; if for a poor man, thou must pay it thyself; if for a rich man, he needs it not; therefore from surtyship, as from a man-slayer or enchanter, bless thyself; for the best profit and return will be this—that if thou force him for whom thou art bound to pay, he will become thy enemy; if thou choose to pay it thyself, thou wilt become a beggar.

WARMTH AND VENTILATION.
There is no advantage, as to health, in sleeping in a very cold room, cold enough to have ice formed in it during the night. Thousands of persons who have gone to bed in perfect health at night, have awakened up in the morning with pneumonia, that is, inflammation of the lungs, and have died in a few days, because the room was too cold for them; to say nothing of the debilitating effect of breathing an atmosphere more or less loaded with carbonic acid gas, which deprives the system of its ability to resist the approach of disease. Had the room been well ventilated, the attack would be less severe, or there might have been none at all; because the breathing of a pure air would have given power to ward off any ordinary attack of sickness.—Hall's Journal of Health.

A lady in Vermont has for twenty-five years past spent all her savings in adding gold beads to a chain or string which was left to her by a relative, with the injunction to do so "for her sake." A gentleman who saw the chain lately says it is about thirty feet in length, and consists of more than one thousand gold beads, of different patterns, worth from three to five dollars apiece.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1867.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

FIRE. On Sunday morning last, about 4 o'clock, a fire was discovered in a ten foot frame building, at the West District, owned by the Granite Railway Co., and occupied by a Mr. Phillips. It was entirely consumed. Incendiary.

THE HANCOCK STREET CHURCH. On Tuesday evening last held a special meeting to act upon the resignation of their pastor. A communication from him was read, reaffirming his desire to be released from pastoral labor, it being his purpose to devote several months, at least, to rest and travel. After a kind expression of feeling, the request of the pastor was granted. The first Sabbath of July closes his labors in Quincy.

CHORAL SOCIETY. The entertainment given by this Society in Union Hall at the Point last Thursday evening, drew a large audience, and was very successful. It consisted of singing, tableaux, select readings and two or three short plays, all of which were good, and some of them particularly excellent.

WARE PROPERTY. The attention of the public is called to the sale of the wharf and land at Point Howe, in this town, this afternoon, at 5 1/2 o'clock.

A Depot for the sale of lumber, hay, coal and produce, is much needed, and an enterprising man is sure to make a good living in the business.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT IN QUINCY. We learn that the Committee to whom this matter was entrusted, have contracted with the Mitchell Granite Co., for its completion at the sum of $4,300. To be finished and dedicated in the month of October next. Location to be in the Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

BAPTISMAL. There were six persons baptized at the Point last Sabbath in the presence of a large concourse of people, the Rev. Mr. Tillson of Hingham officiating.

PROBATE COURT. The quarterly session of this Court in this place, will be held on Tuesday next, at the Selectmen's Room.

DENTISTRY. We take pleasure in informing those who may wish for the skillful services of our village dentist, Charles S. French, that his labor as a grand juror at Dedham, has closed for this term, and that he is prepared to attend to all work connected with his profession.

OUR DEPOT MASTER. There appears to be but one feeling in our community in regard to the removal of Mr. H. A. Gay, as Depot Master of this place, a post which he has so long, and so acceptably filled. He has been compelled to this course, from the increasing duties of the office, which have multiplied six fold since he entered upon its duties, and which he finds too great for his physical strength—the salary not being sufficient to allow of extra help. We hope his successor, whoever he may be, will be equally successful in giving general satisfaction, and in the exercise of those indispensable qualities, which so eminently fitted Mr. G. for the situation.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY. The Boston Public Library, owing to additions recently made of volumes belonging to the late Hon. Josiah Quincy, now contains the most perfect set of United States documents in existence, more complete than can be found even at Washington.

SENATOR WILSON'S RETURN. Senator Wilson has returned from his Southern tour. He has made thirty public speeches, since he started South, and has everywhere been well received. No disturbance has occurred at any of the meetings he has addressed.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT. Abraham W. Hobart, of East Braintree, who was run over by a locomotive at the Old Colony Depot, Boston, on Monday last, died on Wednesday in the hospital. He was twenty-one years of age, served his country through the war, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. His remains were conveyed to Braintree for interment.

DORCHESTER SAVINGS BANK. At the Annual Meeting of the Corporation of the Dorchester Savings Bank, held on Monday last, the following persons were elected trustees for the year ensuing:—Nathan Carruth, Lewis Pierce, Ebenezer Eaton, William Pope, Thomas Groom, J. H. Robinson, Oliver Hall, Nathaniel F. Safford, Charles Howe, Edward P. Tilton, Joseph C. Lindley, and Robert Vose.

Appropriate resolutions were passed in reference to the death of Edward King, one of the founders of the Institution.

FIRE. A large barn, situated on the Brush Hill turnpike, about half a mile from Grove Hall, in Dorchester, owned by the Rev. Mr. Abbott, was entirely burned on Tuesday morning last, about 2 o'clock. The loss is about $2500. The fire is supposed to have originated in carelessness in laying a tobacco pipe in a hay cutter or winnowing machine. The new Dorchester steamer was put into active use for the first time, and performed to general satisfaction.

SENIOR MACRELL. The Bernarda, the Patriot says the fishermen in Barnstable harbor, for a few weeks have been quite successful in sealing macrel. On Monday morning they took some ten thousand. The macrel are packed in ice and shipped to New York and Boston by railroad.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, MAY 23, 1867.

Apology in Business.—High prices.—Speculation, its evils.—The coming anniversary.—The Drama.—The Legislature.—Right Hour Labor Question.

The spring continues backward, which is evidently a damper on business. There are not a few of the mercantile and trading class, who are holding on with the belief, that ere long there will be a crash in prices; but with the inflated condition of the currency it seems doubtful. Trade all along through the spring has been limited to the most narrow compass possible, with the hope or fear that commodities would fall in price. Take for example the article of flour,—higher to-day than it has been since the war of 1812. What carries up the cost of a good barrel of flour to twenty-two or twenty-three dollars? Why, we are told, there is a great scarcity of good flour in the West, but good flour in great abundance is there. If this is true, we shall continue to pay dear for our bread until the new crops mature in July and August. But many are so obstinate as to believe, that this fabulous price of the staff of life is the result of gigantic speculation; and we humbly believe they are not far off of the way as to the matter. This is an era of evil as to high prices, high taxes, high every thing. The remedy for these ills lies with the community, in the practice of economy, (a term now almost obsolete) and in the eschewing fashionable gratification. We must go back to the days of our Fathers, for lessons, who, among their good traits esteemed prudence in expenditure as a prominent rule of life. Increased economy and greater production from labor, will alone save our country from general bankruptcy.

We shall have lively times here next week, growing out of the anniversary. A great influx of visitors is expected. The last week in May is always interesting in Boston, so many lectures, conventions, and all those sorts of things. The meeting of the anti-slavery convention will be particularly attractive, as the speakers have abundance of material in the course pursued by the release of Jefferson Davis. It is very probable Wendell Phillips will give Horace Greely and Gerrit Smith "fits" for the part they took in letting Davis loose upon the world.

Notwithstanding tough times and scarcity of money, our theatres are crowded nightly, and through the winter they have been well patronized. Historical taste, hitherto on the wane, is fast reviving in this city of "notions." Some of the most moral of our community are constant patrons of the drama.

LEGISLATURE. The members working hard,—two sessions a day,—probably will sit until the first of June, and then we trust they will go home wiser and better men. The bill to unite the cities of Boston and Roxbury having passed the Senate to be engrossed goes to the House. The bill is divested of one feature, which looks suspicious. The two cities are to be united without submitting the act to the legal voters of the cities. Surely, has the time arrived when our legislators are afraid to trust the people? Its an outrage upon the rights and good sense of the people of Boston and Roxbury, that the union of these cities should be effected without their consent at the ballot box—but such is likely to be the case. The Soldiers' Bounty matter drags heavily, though something may be done before the close of the session. The Jury Bill, giving the Government in criminal cases a right to challenge two jurors on the panel having passed both branches, will probably receive the signature of the Governor.

The Eight Hour labor question is settled adversely by this legislature. If ever adopted here no good will grow out of it. Whether the eight hour system results in eight hours' work and eight hours' pay, or in eight hours' work and ten hours' pay, it will prove alike injurious to the interests of the working men. In the one case, the cost to the employer of productive labor, will remain the same as under the ten hour system, while the laborers will have twenty per cent. less money, at the end of the week, month or year. The laws of production, cost and labor cannot be arbitrarily set aside.

A REMARKABLE SEASON. To this date, May 17, there has not been a day when it was not more comfortable in New Hampshire with a fire, than without. There are yet bodies of snow unmelting to be seen on the distant hills. Half the gardens have not yet been dug. So backward a spring is not recollected since 1799, when May 8, it is recorded, the snow was still deep in the wooded land. That year the mail from Leominster, (Mass.), to Walpole, (N. H.), was carried in a sleigh seventeen weeks in succession, says our venerable friend P., of Keene.—Portsmouth, (N. H.) Chronicle.

THE BURIAL PLACE OF J. WILKES BOOTH. In his new work, The History of the Secret Service, Col. Baker makes the following statement in regard to the final disposition of the assassin Booth's body. "With the assistance of Lieut. L. B. Baker, I took the body from the gunboat depot to the old Penitentiary, adjoining the old Arsenal grounds. The building had not been used as a prison for some years previously. The Ordnance Department had filled the ground floor cells with fixed ammunition—one of the largest of these cells was selected as the burial-place of Booth; the ammunition was removed, a large flat stone lifted from its place, and a rude grave dug; the body was dropped in, the grave filled up, the stone replaced, and there rests to this hour all that remained of John Wilkes Booth."

THE NEWPORT STEAMERS. The Newport took the place of the Old Colony, on the route between Newport and New York. Tuesday night, and the line will be for the coming season consist of the steamers Newport and Metropolis, under command of Captains Brown and Simmons. The boats of this line are lighted by gas, heated by steam, and provided with every appliance for the comfort and safety of passengers.

A NEW STYLE OF BOAT. A curious looking craft, resembling a ladder with pointed ends, has just made its appearance on the Hudson river. It is composed of two tin tubes, air tight, about twenty feet long, each fastened about eighteen inches apart with light iron bars. The rower sits in the centre and skims over the water with great speed, guiding his odd looking craft with much ease.

THE ART OF ADVERTISING. On this subject the Louisville Journal has the following: "We have been carrying on the Louisville Journal between thirty-six and thirty-seven years. During all this time we have known no man of business in the city to fail who advertised liberally. And we have known no one to succeed in any considerable, if even in a respectable degree, who didn't advertise liberally."

THE ENGLISH NATIONAL DEBT. It is officially announced that the sum to be applied to the reduction of the national debt of England during the current quarter is $397,723.

A WORD TO THE BOYS.

Boys, I am going to make this article short, because I want you to read it. And if you are not in the habit of looking into the paper yourselves, I want your parents to read it to you.

Do not kill the little birds; that is what I want to say. It is cruel and wicked. And why do you? You do not dislike them surely, and I know you love to hear them sing. Did you ever think how dreary it would be if there were no birds? Did you ever stop to think how very good in our kind Heavenly Father to provide for us such exquisite music as these beautiful little creatures can furnish? And have you never said as you have stopped and listened to one of their sweet little songs, "Thank you for that, little birdie?" The writer in his early boyhood remembers to have shot a robin, simply for his own pleasure. And he will never forget how he felt when he took it up, its head drooping, its eyes closed, its life gone. He would gladly have put it back to life again if he could. And he remembers too, that then and there he promised himself that that act should never be repeated. And it never has been. Do not kill the birds.

And do not destroy their nests. Do not rob them of their eggs. This, too, is cruel and wicked. But if you must make a collection of eggs, be content to take a single one, leaving at least two or three in the nest. This will be less harmful than to take them all,—and the birds if they could would all thank you.

THE LICENSE LAW.

Vote of the House of Representatives. Our readers have seen by the Legislative Report, that the House defeated the proposed License Law for the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, by a vote of 161 yeas to 64 nays. This was a direct vote upon the bill, as reported by the majority of the Committee. An analysis of the sixty-four affirmative votes, shows that twenty-five were given by Boston members, leaving only thirty-nine votes in favor of "License" outside of Boston. Of the thirty-three Boston members, two were absent, six voted against "License," and as stated above, twenty-five in favor.

HATING THE GRASS WAS CUT. In front of the State House on Tuesday last, a hint to Legislators.

DEFEAT OF THE BOUNTY BILL. This measure, the most important in a financial point of view of any even brought before the legislature of this State, was defeated in the House, on Wednesday, by a decisive vote. A reconsideration was voted down by an almost equally vote.

The subject, however, has been reopened by the introduction of a bill in the Senate,—but it is not thought that it will prove successful.

COMMITTEES' REPORT. The Committee on Salaries report in favor of the following salaries for Judges and Registers of Probate.

Suffolk County—Judges and Registers $3000 each; Assistant Register, $1500. Middlesex—Judge, $2500; Register $2000; Assistant $1000. Essex—Judge, $2500; Register $2000; Assistant, $1000. THE BURIAL PLACE OF J. WILKES BOOTH. In his new work, The History of the Secret Service, Col. Baker makes the following statement in regard to the final disposition of the assassin Booth's body. "With the assistance of Lieut. L. B. Baker, I took the body from the gunboat depot to the old Penitentiary, adjoining the old Arsenal grounds. The building had not been used as a prison for some years previously. The Ordnance Department had filled the ground floor cells with fixed ammunition—one of the largest of these cells was selected as the burial-place of Booth; the ammunition was removed, a large flat stone lifted from its place, and a rude grave dug; the body was dropped in, the grave filled up, the stone replaced, and there rests to this hour all that remained of John Wilkes Booth."

THE NEWPORT STEAMERS. The Newport took the place of the Old Colony, on the route between Newport and New York. Tuesday night, and the line will be for the coming season consist of the steamers Newport and Metropolis, under command of Captains Brown and Simmons. The boats of this line are lighted by gas, heated by steam, and provided with every appliance for the comfort and safety of passengers.

A NEW STYLE OF BOAT. A curious looking craft, resembling a ladder with pointed ends, has just made its appearance on the Hudson river. It is composed of two tin tubes, air tight, about twenty feet long, each fastened about eighteen inches apart with light iron bars. The rower sits in the centre and skims over the water with great speed, guiding his odd looking craft with much ease.

THE ART OF ADVERTISING. On this subject the Louisville Journal has the following: "We have been carrying on the Louisville Journal between thirty-six and thirty-seven years. During all this time we have known no man of business in the city to fail who advertised liberally. And we have known no one to succeed in any considerable, if even in a respectable degree, who didn't advertise liberally."

Dorchester, May 18, 1867.

THE launch at the Point, of the new sloop, "WILLIAM P. HUNT," built by Mr. Peleg F. Jones, for Mr. Charles Derry, of Sharon, formerly of this town, drew quite a concourse of spectators yesterday afternoon, to witness the interesting result. At precisely 3 o'clock, the blocks were knocked away, and she glided gracefully, with her load of living freight, into that element, which is to be her future home. The William Hunt is a fine model, large of her class, and is another evidence, to those already made, of what our artisans can do in the way of shipbuilding.

STREET LAMPS. Part of Granite street has been improved lately by gas-light. The one near the railroad bridge is quite an improvement. It was a dangerous place in a dark night.

TAXES. The people of this country paid last year, according to the official reports, in taxes on the trifling article of matches, the vast sum of $3,456,000.

Hay for Sale. A Small quantity of English Hay at a reasonable price, also Hay slightly damaged by rain in the getting, at $25 per ton. J. P. QUINCY, Wollaston. Quincy, May 25.

Sheriff's Sale. Taken on Execution, and will be sold at Public Auction, on FRIDAY, the twenty-first day of May, at 2 o'clock P. M., at Jameson's Quarry, (as called) in Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, the following described articles of personal property, to-wit:—One Derrick; One Set of Sails; Lot of Chains; all the Split Stones now in and about Jameson's Quarry; Lot of Stone Tools; Lot of Blacksmith's Tools; One Ox Cart; One Stone Wagon; One Stone Buggy Wagon; One Iron Bed; a Lot of Cows; One Sheep; One Goat; One Horse; all the Quarry Tools in said Quarry; One Large Sledge; One Pulling Jack; all the Steel and Iron in and about said Quarry; or in the Shops of said Quarry; One Head Chest, being the same lying and used in and about the Quarry of Jonathan Jameson, and being the property of said Jameson. WASHINGTON M. FRENCH, Deputy Sheriff. Quincy, May 25-26

OUR SCHOOLS.

Every year many bitter complaints are made against the general School Committee, and every year two of the best men in town are supposed to be selected for this important trust; yet the general fault-finding continues.

The question arises, whose fault is it—the Committee or the parents?

Heretofore, we have been disposed to sympathize with the Committee; but to-day a son comes from school one hour late, and reports that his teacher, by authority of the sub-Committee, sent him with his class at recess, into the woods, some two miles distant, to gather flowers to decorate a hall for "plays and tableaux," for admission 25 cents, children 15 cents, to benefit societies of a private character. We cannot refrain a word in condemnation, especially, since we were hiring a boy to take the place of our own.

PARENT.

A plan has been invented in Washington for letting the farmers know when a storm is coming during harvest, so that they may have time to protect their hay and grain which they may have adjoining the telegraph is to give intelligence of the approach of the storm, and a cannon, fired three times at each county seat, is to warn the farmers when to stop mowing and reaping and to go to raking and covering their crops.

THE WAY SUMPTUOUS LAWS ARE ENFORCED. There seems to be no limit to human ingenuity in the evasion of sumptuous laws. Vermont has a prohibitory law, and boasts that it is well enforced, but those who want liquor find means to obtain it in the villages, and lately an entire new source of supply has been opened.
Distilleries are established, and the man who wants rum takes a quantity of molasses to the distiller, who converts it, retaining a certain proportion as toll.
This business is done openly, and there is no law forbidding it. And it is said that the distiller pays no taxes on his business, beyond his regular income tax, so that not only is prohibition defeated, but the General Government loses a considerable amount of the revenue it would receive if the distillers conducted their business in an ordinary way.—Springfield

THE LATEST SOCIAL WONDER OF Gotham was a "Crimson Dinner Party."
At this entertainment, given for the avowed purpose of creating a sensation, everything was crimson; the tablecloth had a crimson border, a foot deep, with bordered napkins to match, and all the plates, dishes, platters, coffee cups, fruit standards, sugar bowls, &c. were of crimson glass or china. The dinner was served in the most elegant and expensive style,
the dishes were placed on crimson silk mats with gold fringe, and the silver on the table was valued at ten thousand dollars. The dining-room was hung with rich crimson silk, and beside the plate of each guest was placed a beautifully choice bouquet of crimson flowers—the waiters wearing crimson cloth coats & d'Anglaise.

A SNEC INCOME. The taxable income of A. T. Stewart, the dry goods prince of New York, for the year 1866, was $736,861. His profits last year amounted to $1,276,750.

A boy and a girl, aged only six and eight years, who had come all the way from Shasta, California, made their ap-

Know thy Destiny.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrist, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Boston, N. Y. By conducting a series of sittings such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are so desirous to know, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By conducting a small look of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamp envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications strictly confidential. Address in confidence, MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box, 223

Hudson, N. Y.

The Glory of Man is Strength.—Therefore the nervous and debilitated should immediately use HELMHOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.

A YOUNG LADY returning to her
country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft rosy complexion, ample smoothness, and instead of two thirds she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of this great change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the outside it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Price $1, sent by Mail or Express, on receipt of an order by W. L. CLARK & CO., Chemists,
No. 3 West Fayette Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

The only American Agents for the sale of the same,
"Manhood and Youthful Vigor are regained by HELMHOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU."

No. 4.
Dr. Schenck, the Lung Doctor.

THE Proprietor of SCHENCK'S PULMONIC
EXTRACT, the only instrument that can so certainly diagnose the slightest murmur of the respiratory organs.
This is of great importance to the sufferer, as it shows the exact condition of the lungs, whether it is Tuberculous, Pulmonary, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, or Dropsical consumption, and whether it is both lungs or only one that are diseased.

It requires constant and long practice to become familiar with every sound, or rather a diseased tracheal tube. Patients come to Dr. SCHENCK to get examined, and he tells them the exact condition of their lungs, and whether they are sound or diseased. It is often found that it is an affection of the bronchial tube, and by the use of the Pulmonic Extract, the action of the stomach, the sufferer is soon restored to health.
Sometimes medicine that will stop a cough is certain death to the patient. It looks up the liver, stops the action of the stomach, and the sufferer is soon restored to health.

Dr. Schenck will be professionally at his rooms every day, from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M. He gives advice free for a consultation with him, and for sale by return mail. Price of the Pulmonic Extract and Balm, 25 cents per bottle, or 75 cents the half dozen.

$200 REWARD!
WHEREAS a certain dwelling house,
belonging to W. W. Greenough, Esq., of this Town, has recently been destroyed by fire, and as there can be no doubt that it was the work of an incendiary, the above reward
will be paid to any person who will give such information as will convict the person or persons who set said fire.
And the above reward will also be paid to any person who shall detect any one setting
fire to any building of the value of Two Hundred dollars, within the Town, until the first day of March next, on conviction of the offend-

$500 REWARD
THE frequent and successful repetition of incendiary
attempts in this town, renders it necessary that the most vigorous efforts should be made to prevent their recurrence. Therefore, $500, in addition to the $200 already offered, will be paid to any person who will give such information as will convict the person or persons of the person or persons engaged in setting fire to the shop of William Patton, whereby said shop and the adjoining one, owned by John Hall, were destroyed on the morning of the 1st inst.

Poetry.
NEARER.

One sweetly solemn thought
Comes to me o'er and o'er;
I'm nearer to my home today
Than I've ever been before.
Nearer my Father's house
Where the many mansions be;
Nearer the great white throne,
Nearer the Jasper sea.
Nearer that bound of life,
When we lay our burdens down—
Nearer leaving my cross,
Nearer wearing my crown.
But lying dimly between,
Winding down through the night,
Is the dim and uncertain stream
That leads us at length to the light.
Father, perfect my trust!
Strengthen my feeble faith!
Tear me free as I shall when I stand
On the shores of the river of Death.
Let me feel as I shall when my feet
Are slipping over the brink;
Let me feel as I shall when I find Still nearer home than I think.

Interesting Selections:
CRULLERS. Take four pounds of wheat flour; half pound of butter; four eggs; one quart of milk; one and a half pounds of sugar, and a little ground mea-or nutmeg; one ounce carbonate of soda;
fry them in lard.
A sailor who had spent nearly all his days on the blue waters, and knew little of land gear, came ashore the other day and passing up street saw a little woman going along with a large mill before her. He stepped up very politely and offered to carry it for her, as he was going the same way.

To-morrow. To-morrow presents its "easy pillow" in vain to those who believe in the tremendous importance of today, and are aware of the possibility of not succeeding to-morrow. But those who are allowed to see the sun of the morrow will look in vain for that resting place which fancy offered to their indolent humor. When to-day has become yesterday, and to-morrow has settled into to-day, we shall not find that pillow very easy
which is crowned with the postponed duties of so many yesterdays, besides its own appropriate demands.

Life is a great poem; and religion, love and music, are the sweetest of its stanzas.
At thirty we are trying to cut our name in big letters upon the walls of this tenement of life; twenty years later we have carved it, or shut up our knife.

A servant, newly engaged, presented to his master one morning a pair of boots, the leg of one of which was much longer than the other. "How comes it that these boots are not of the same length?" "I really do not know, sir; but what bothers me the pair down stairs is in the same fix."

"Look here, boy," said a nervous gentleman to an unlearned man, who was at a lecture, "you are annoying me very much." "No I ain't neither," said the unlearned, "I'm gnawing this 'ere candy."

At a school in Chicago, recently the inspector asked the children if they could give any text of the Scripture which forbade a man having two wives.
One of the children quoted in reply to the text:—"No man can serve two masters."

One day Mr. C. treated his son a wide awake little fellow of four years, to a slight ride. The horse slipping, came down upon his haunches, at which the youngster remarked imperiously, "I don't like to have the horse sit down to rest."

A gentleman met another in the street who was ill of consumption, and accosted him thus:—"Ah! my friend, you walk slowly." "Yes," replied the man
"but I'm going fast."

My dear," said a gentleman to a young lady whom he hoped to marry,
"do you intend to make a fool of me?"
"No," replied the young lady, "nature has saved me the trouble."

The following toast was given at a recent celebration:—"The rights of woman: if she cannot be captain of a ship may she always command a snack."

"The times are so hard I can scarcely manage to keep my nose above water," said a husband the other day to his wife, who was importuning him for a new dress. "No," she replied with some asperity, "but you manage to keep it above brandy every morning."

Grievs are like the beings that endure
the; the little ones the most clamorous and noisy. Those of the older growth and great magnitude are generally tranquil, sometimes silent.

Pride is an ingredient that is never found in axially human nature.
It is mixed in the composition of the weak-minded. Those who have a mind to employ, and a heart to improve, have no inclination to be proud.

Miscellany.
The Old Man Eloquent on his Early Love.

The late Mr. James Morse of New York, in his "Recollections" of Newbury-port, his native town, to the Daily Herald of that city, at the time of his death, left several numbers of his reminiscences in manuscript; among them, the following account of a tender passion in the life of the ex-President, as recalled and related by him in his old age. It describes an interesting affair of the heart—an instance of "what might have been."
"As is well known, John Quincy Adams was a resident of our town during several of the closing years of the last century, and while there, a student at law in the office of Judge Parsons. His fellow students were Rufus King, Robert Treat Paine and Thomas Thomas. Of course these were valued acquaintances to New-buryport society, and were so specially regarded. Among the young men of that day were Stephen Hooper, who at a subsequent period married Miss Susan Mar-quand, Samuel L. Knapp, Dr. John Sprague, Edmund Bartlett, George Otis, Samuel A. Otis, Jr., &c. Among the young ladies who led off in society, were the daughters of William Combs, Moses Frazier, the Tracys, Cazneau, Roberts.
There were those among them to whom Mr. Adams was more than ordinarily attentive; but to one in particular he was specially earnest and tender in his approaches. To those of the circle composing his most intimate acquaintance, he gave the benefit of his muse, and thus, in private circles, they won an ephemeral notoriety, as the poem in which their virtues and peculiarities were sung never appeared in print until a comparatively recent date. It was then only in manuscript, and not many copies were ever made of the poetic vision of Mr. Adams' love. A copy fell into my hands, and in January, 1840, I took the liberty of giving it to the town through the columns of the Daily Tattler, then published in New York. I have now in my possession the original copy of "Adams' Vision," from which the publication was then made.
Through the kindness of some benevolently disposed borrowing friend, my printed number has disappeared. My next number will simply be the contribution of this poem, with a statement of certain circumstances and incidents attending its publication. I feel no doubt of its acceptability by the reader, as the edition of twenty-four years ago must have long since been absorbed.
"During many and frequent interviews with the late venerable ex-President, he imparted to me not only much valuable historical information, but confidentially reposed in me interesting items pertaining to his early personal experience. One of these was located at Newburyport, and therefore appropriate to these contributions. It was allied to the outpourings of his "Vision," and in now, for the first time, publicly stated. This may now be done without impropriety, as he, and all the parties directly interested, or in any way to be affected by it, are no more."
"It was the habit of Mr. Adams to remain at his desk in the House of Representatives at Washington, oftentimes after the adjournment of that body, particularly if it took place, as it often did, at rather an early hour. On one of these occasions, now vividly distinct to my mind, I approached him, and we entered into a free and pleasant conversation—Nearly, if not quite all the members had left the floor, and the pages were occupied in collecting the stationery and documents, and preparing the hall for the ensuing day's session.
"Our conversation soon partook of a personal and very absorbingly interesting character. Mr. Adams spoke earnestly of his delightful experience at Newbury-port, while preparing for the legal profession under the guidance of Theophilus Parsons. The subject fairly opened, he entered upon the theme with deep feeling.
The eyes of the "old man eloquent" became more than usually moistened with tears, which he vainly strove to keep down, and his voice trembled in tender sympathy with the crowding recollections.
He spoke with animating fervor, of the Tracys, Daltons, Jacksons, Parsons, Bradburys, and others, and the charming halo by which one was ever surrounded when in their society. It was with deep earnestness that he sought to know of the existence and welfare of their descendants.
But when he spoke of the young ladies of that day, he seemed electrified by the subject. It appeared to unlock his long pent tender sensibilities, and he sat before me in his now rejuvenated and impassioned youth; all heart, affection and love, his face radiant with smiles and the vigor of youth beaming forth in every expression and feature. The name which thus electrified his being, was that of Miss Mary Frazier, the "lovely Clara" of his "Vision."
"It may be difficult for one who has only seen, or known Mr. Adams through occasional calls of respect or official intercourse, to realize the fact that the apparently cold phlegmatic old man was not only susceptible of the keenest and most tender emotions, but that they were actually demonstrable as powerful elements in his nature.
"Mr. Adams drew a comparison between Miss Frazier and other ladies of American and European society; so remarkable and so energetic that his very language and manner became indelibly impressed upon my mind. "Why, my dear sir," said he, with emphasis and beautifully tender pathos, "I have seen in my day much of the world, have held social and familiar intercourse with the best and most polished society in our land, have had unchecked freedom of the best and most cultivated European society, have freely visited the most noted and brilliant Courts of the Old World, have seen and held friendly communion with the most attractive and recognized beautiful among the female sex in Europe and America, but let me say to you, what I have never before uttered within the sound of human ears, that in all which constitutes genuine beauty, loveliness, personal accomplishment, intellectual endowments, and perfect purity of life and heart,

Miss Mary Frazier excelled them all!
I loved her then,—and," rising from his chair, he raised his right arm and bringing his hand with emphasis upon his heart,
"I love her memory now!"
"When he had closed this rhapsody, I hardly knew where or how to resume the thread of our discourse, so insignificantly trite and grovelling it seemed after the animated extacies into which his old eternalized heart had thrown him. He having been led into this confession of a love which before was known to have no recognized admission beyond the "lovely Clara" of his "Vision," I asked him if there had been any actual engagement between them, and if so, why it was interrupted? Laughingly and cheerfully, he replied that they were engaged but with the mutual understanding, that should either see cause to change their mind, they were left free to do so. The direct cause of the breaking off the engagement he stated to be because of the very proper interference and advice of Miss Frazier's family and friends. They charged that Mr. Adams was quite young, without a profession, and with no very good prospects as to the future, and Miss F. should not embarrass and prejudice her position by an engagement which would, probably, never result in a marriage.
"In this advice," said Mr. A., "they were about right, for certainly I had no very flattering prospects, near or remote;
and with his peculiar humorous laugh he thus concluded his comments upon the wisdom and discernment of those who interposed to control the future destinies of the two young aspirants for each other's affections.
"I enquired of Mr. Adams whether he knew that Miss F. never married in Europe. "No, indeed," said he, "I did not,
and are you sure that such was the fact?" I could only reply that such was the impression upon my mind received from those who were cognizant of the mutual love of the two.
"This was but a specially illustrative instance that the course of true love never runs smooth, as well as an illustration of the extreme folly of an interference on the part of friends, in an affair of the heart,
when there are no decidedly good reasons therefor, based upon personal character.
"Mr. Adams is now recognized as having been one of the most remarkable men of the age in which he lived. His learning was deep, solid and far-reaching; the great storehouse of his mighty intellectual genius was vast in its capacities, while the structure of his mind, was methodical, logical, philosophical; superadded to which, he possessed an imagination which, while it was equal to every crisis, never soared beyond the regions of truth, justice or purity."

KEEPING THE COMMANDMENTS.
A clergyman finding his flock very ignorant, resolved to pay them domiciliary visits and inspect them at their homes.
Coming to a poor woman's cabin, amongst other questions, he asked how many commandments there were?
"Truly, Sir," said she, "I cannot tell."
"Why, then," said he,
"A fine company," replied she; "God bless you and them together."
"Well, but neighbor," said he, "do you think you can keep the commandments?"
"Ah, the Lord in Heaven bless you, Sir; I'm a poor woman, and can barely charge of keeping so many commandments?"

WHAT CONSTITUTES A GENTLEMAN?
This question is now being asked upon the other side of the water. One replies:
Of the principal qualifications two are absolutely necessary, viz.—courtesy and honor; and these may be possessed by
all. Then come manners and education, which qualify for "good society," and rank and wealth for those who seek to move in the highest classes. The characteristics fatal to the claim to be considered a gentleman, are impudence, selfconceit, falsity, want of cleanliness, and filthy language. Nothing in dress beyond neatness and cleanliness is required.

PREPARED GLUE.
An article of prepared glue, always ready for any emergency, better than "Spalding's" or any other man's,—that will last good forever with a little precaution, may be made by dissolving common neat's foot glue in common spirits—pretty poor whiskey for instance—in the proportion of two pounds of glue to half a gallon of liquor. As soon as the glue is all dissolved it is fit for use, and will remain so as long as the jug or can containing it is kept closed so as to prevent evaporation.

MR. BARNUM'S BALCONY BAND.
The following hit is from the Musical Review, which appeared in the good old days of the New York Museum, at the corner of Broadway and Ann street.
Mr. Barnum was sitting in his office in the Museum, when he heard a knock at the door.
"Come in," said he.
The door opened and a trombone entered. Mr. Barnum stared. The trombone was followed by an arm, and the arm by a body, the body belonging to no less a personage than Mr. Eli Fant.

CHOICE VARIETY OF PEARS.

We read glowing descriptions of this and that kind of pear, whose very name sounds like a patent of nobility; and we occasionally see specimens at our horticultural fairs and in the shop windows, that make our mouths water; but it does not follow that these are the varieties most deserving of cultivation. All fruits vary with climate and soil, and the pear especially has a great range, the same variety passing from the poor to the superb, as soil, aspect and cultivation may effect it.

For family use requiring a succession of pears from July to midwinter, we should commence with Bloodgood, a native of Long Island, but hardly and productive in New England. The fruit is small, but melting, and high-flavored, if ripened in the house. It fruits with us about the first of August. About the same time come also the Doyenne d'Ete or Summer Virgineuse, a foreign variety, that has, however, taken letters of naturalization, and well deserves citizenship wherever it may be located. The tree, with us, is a vigorous grower, and an early and profuse bearer, of a small but luscious pear. Next comes another foreigner, the Rostiezer, having a flavor superior to either of the former, with a vigorous constitution, which enables it to flourish in our latitude. Downing ranks it in flavor next to the Seckel, and it had the honor of being named first among the early pears, at the meeting of the Massachusetts board of agriculture last December. Like most of the early pears the fruit is small. In close succession upon the Rostiezer, comes the Dearborn Seedling, the most vigorous growing pear tree and the most abundant bearer in the orchard. The trees commence bearing early, and what is unusual grow as well as they bear. A tree of this variety, at the age of eight years from planting, yielded us a barrel of fruit. In the recent report of Secretary Flint, it is spoken of as "excellent, none better."

Dearborn's Seedling will supply us with pears till the fore part of September, when the Bartlett comes in, acknowledging no rival for general cultivation. The amateurs may smack their lips over the Bartlett, and hesitate and say, "Musky," or "sugar and water," but polloi, the multitude, as they taste, will say with the Quaker, "Ruth, this is good, give us another." Say what we may of the Bartlett, no pear has a better reputation, no one more extensively cultivated nor finds a readier market. It is a vigorous grower, an early bearer, producing fruit in three or four years from the bud, on its own roots, indeed it is apt to produce too much in its early years, and unless the first is thinned the energies of the tree are exhausted.

Its flavor is remarkably uniform. The tree is a little tender in its youth, and in some of our cold winters seems to freeze to death, in consequence probably of its succulent and protracted growth in autumn. It is not a native, but originated in England nearly a century since, and was imported in 1798 under the name of Williams, but cultivated and disseminated by Enoch Bartlett, of Dorchester, it received a new character, for with its new name assumed a new character, for in its adopted country it ripens far better than it ever did in England.

As a worthy successor of the Bartlett, both in vigor of the tree, and the size, beauty and flavor of the fruit, we name the Flemish Beauty. In some localities it is accused of cracking, and the foliage drops before the fruit is ripe. About the same time also ripen the Belle Lucrative and Louise Bonne de Jersey, from whom we have received too many favors to pass them by without honorable mention. Next comes the far-famed Seckel, needing no praise, and illustrating the adage, "The choicest goods are done up in the smallest parcels." Its spicy flavor is unequalled by any variety, foreign or domestic, and the tree is the most healthy and hardy of all pear trees, its short, stout joints, thick, round top, well laden with fruit, always reminding us of the short-legged, round-bellied, full-faced Santa Claus, loaded down with Christmas presents. The Seckel is a chance seedling, discovered a century since near Philadelphia, by a sportsman, familiarly known as "Dutch Jacob," on land owned by the Holland company, and probably sprung from seed brought over by the German emigrants, as the fruit resembles a well known German variety. The original tree is said to be still in existence, and the venerable patriarch must rejoice in the reputation of his numerous and widely diffused posterity.

For early winter the Beurre d'Anjou, imported by Col. Wilder, takes the lead. The Colonel says he has spent $20,000 in importing pear trees, and if he had never received any other than the Beurre d'Anjou, he should feel paid. The Vice of Winkfield, though not always buttery, is always juicy and refreshing, and is so vigorous a grower and abundant producer as to deserve a place in every orchard. For Christmas and New Year's nothing in the pear line can be better than the Winter Nellis. The tree is a struggling grower, and the fruit not particularly inviting in its appearance, but of its eating qualities there can be but one opinion. For late winter the Easter Beurre has a good reputation, but we have found it difficult to be ripened in our cold climate, and we say, in passing, that all winter pears should remain on the tree till driven into the cellar by severe frosts.

The Duchess d'Angouleme has a royal name, no fall of liquids that rolls from one's mouth like water, and warms on the quince as royal in character as in name, being the largest of pears and of a rich buttery quality, as full of juice as its name is full of liquids, but grown so the pear stock is only second rate.—Springfield Republican.

Selected Poetry.

There's None on Earth Like Mother.

Sweet is the song of birds
In summer's leafy wood;
But sweeter far the words
That grace a lovely childhood.
The streamlet utters low
The love it ill can smother;
The human heart alone can know
There's none on earth like Mother.

When far in distant lands,
Though skies be bright above us,
We sigh for gentle hands
And smiles of those who love us.
So, down the dreary years,
We follow one another,
Yet murmur through our blinding tears,
"There's none on earth like mother."

Incidents.

A little girl, four years old, was on her way home from church with her father, when they passed a boy splitting wood, and the father remarked:—
"Mary, do you see that boy breaking the Sabbath?"

The child made no reply, but walked home very thoughtfully, and meeting her mother exclaimed:—
"Oh, mother, I saw a boy breaking the Sabbath with a big axe."

A Scotchman having hired himself to a farmer, had a cheese set before him, that he might help himself. After some time the master said:—
"Sandy, you took a long time to break fast."

"In troth, master," said Sandy, "a cheese of this size is na eaten sae soon as ye may think."

"Have you found a verdict?" said a judge to the foreman of a jury.
"No, your honor, we have hunted in every corner of the room, and there isn't one there."

ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from joyful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings to notice those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are most qualified to pursue, and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural power reveals the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the magnetic stars that overcome or predominate in the constitution—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heaven at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fall not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation free, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. Reference of the highest order of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair. Address: MADAME H. A. PERRIGO, P. O. Drawer 283, BUFFALO, N. Y.

AFFLICTED.

SUFFER NO MORE

When by the use of Dr. JOHNSON'S ELIXIR you can be cured permanently, and at a trifling cost. The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine in the treatment of all kinds of General Debility and Prostration, Loss of Muscular Energy, Impotency, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.

It will remove all nervous affections, depression, excitement, incapacity to study or business, loss of memory, confusion, dizziness, and all other ailments of the brain and nerves. It will restore the appetite, remove the health of the system, and destroy it by sexual excess or evil practices.

Young Men, be humbled no more by "Quack Doctors," and ignorant impostors, who sell you worthless pills, and are at once restored to health and vigor. Price $1. or four bottles to one address, $3. One bottle is sufficient to effect a cure in all ordinary cases.

ALSO, DR. JOHNSON'S SPECIFIC PILLS, for the speedy and permanent cure of Gonorrhea, Gleet, Discharges, Gravel, Stricture, and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures effected in from one to ten days. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless to the system, and do not excite the stomach or impregnate the breath. No change of diet is necessary while using them, nor does their action in any manner interfere with business pursuits. Price, $1. per box.

Either of the above mentioned articles will be sent to any address, sealed and paid, by mail or express, on receipt of price. Sent by mail, by express, on receipt of price. Sent by mail, by express, on receipt of price. Sent by mail, by express, on receipt of price.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig; Descriptive of comfort, and not worth a fig. Come and see our Reparator Capilli, come early and fair, And rejoice in your own beautiful hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness to the most striking and obvious hair of either sex. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To you we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. ## BAUGH'S RAW BONE

SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME,

Is entirely a success as a Substitute for Peruvian Guano and Stable Manure, and is offered to the Agriculturists of the Northern and Eastern States as a fertilizer, which will cheaply replace the use of all those manures which have been drained from it by constant cropping and light manuring.

It is very prompt in its action—in lasting in effect to a degree unequalled by any commercial manure in the market—and is offered at a much less cost than Guano, Stable Manure, or Peruvian Guano. The labor involved in its use is far less than that of applying stable manure, while there is no risk from the introduction of noxious weeds.

FARMER'S WIVES.

The reading of essays by the ladies is one of the exercises which gives life and interest to the meetings of the Springfield (Vt.) Farmer's Club. From one of the essays by Mrs. Daniel Rice, published in the Vermont Farmer, we copy the following paragraph:

"Did you ever think of the amount of thought requisite to plan three meals a day, or three hundred and sixty-five days in succession? To prepare enough and not too much; and for those living at a distance from the village, to remember that the stock of flour, sugar, the etc., etc., is replenished in due time? Do you ever think of the multitude of her cares and duties? She must rise early to prepare breakfast or oversee it. Perhaps there are children to wash, dress and feed, or to get ready for school with their dimmers. There is baking, sweeping, dusting, making beds, lunch for the men, may be—dinner and supper to be made ready at the proper time—the washing, starching, folding and ironing of clothes—the care of milk, including the making of butter and cheese—and the inevitable washing of dishes. In autumn there is the additional work of picking, preserving, canning of fruit, drying of apples, boiling of cider, making apple sauce, with the still more unpleasant task which falls to her lot at butcher's shop. Then there is haying, harvesting, sheep-shearing, etc., when more help is needed, bringing an increase of her labors. Twice a year comes house-cleaning. By the way, of all the faces a housekeeper has to contend with, dirt is the greatest. She may gain a complete victory and think to repose upon her laurels after her semi-annual engagements—but it is only temporary. The enemy soon returns, and even daily skirmishing does not keep it at bay.

There is the mending too. Sewing machines are great blessings, but they can't set in a patch or darn the stockings. I do not mention these things by way of complaint of woman's lot in general, or asking for her any rights which she does not possess. I don't know as there is any remedy in the present state of the world. It seems to be one of the evils of life which must be borne as we bear other ills—but what I do ask is a due appreciation of the importance of the woman's role, and a concession that her labor, mental and physical, are as great, all things considered, as those of the other sex. Women are not so childish that a little sympathy now and then, or acknowledgment of their efforts and sacrifices, make them imagine their case worse than it is. I tell you men and husbands, "It doeth good like a medicine," and many a poor crushed, broken down wife and mother, is dying for want of it.

John tells a story of Thompson & Rogers, two married bachelors of New York, who meandering home late one night, stopped at what Thompson supposed was his residence, but which his companion insisted was his own house. Thompson rung the bell loudly, when a window was opened, and a lady inquired what was wanted: "Madam!" inquired Mr. T., "isn't this Mr. Thompson's house?" "No," replied the lady; "this is the residence of Mr. Rogers." "Well," exclaimed Thompson; "Mrs. T. Thompson—beg your pardon—Mrs. Rogers, won't you just step down to the door, and pick out Rogers, for T. Thompson wants to go home."—New Bedford Mercury.

FOGGY.

The following story is told of the Rev. Dr. Morse:

At an association dinner a debate arose as to the use of the rod in bringing up children.

The Doctor took the affirmative, and the chief opponent was a young minister, whose reputation for veracity was not high. He maintained that parents often do harm to their children from unjust punishment, from not knowing the facts in the case. "Why," said he, "the only time my father whipped me it was for telling the truth."

"Well," retorted the Doctor, "it cured you of it, didn't it?"

QUACK DOCTORS.

One person I would earnestly warn you against, and that is the quack doctor. If the real doctor is a sort of God of healing, or rather God's collier for the body, the quack is the devil for the body, or rather the devil's servant against the body. And like his father he is a great liar and cheat. He offers you what he cannot give. Whenever you see a medicine that cures every thing, to be sure it cures nothing; and remember it may kill. The devil promised our Saviour all the kingdoms of the world if he would fall down and worship him; now this was a lie, he could not give him any such thing. Neither can the quack give you his kingdoms of health, even though you worship him as he best likes, by paying him for his trash. He is dangerous and dear, and often deadly—have nothing to do with him.—John Brown.

STELLA.

It is estimated that there are 900,000 hired farm laborers in the United States, excluding freemen, and 2,500,000 proprietors of farms.

Miscellany.

THE HERMIT'S REVENGE.

In the middle of Hatfield Chase, many years ago, stood the remains of an ancient Hermitage, formed out of a vast rock. An altar of hewn stone appeared at the extremity of the cell, and a free-stone slab covered what designated the Hermit's Cave at the west end. From the centre of the floor a spring of clear water had its source, and flowed through a fissure in the rock-bound wall, falling with a musical sound over the shelving stone without; from thence it took a winding course over the Chase. The solitary habitant of this gloomy hermitage was called William of Lindholme, and was as remarkable for his severe monastic discipline as for his rigid adherence to seclusion. Seldom was he visited by the neighboring people. On a marriage celebration, however, a visit to the priest was deemed indispensable. The bridegroom invariably on the morning of wedding led his fair bride to the Hermitage, to drink water from the "Well of Happiness"—as the priest was supposed to have endowed the stream with divine excellencies and to receive the blessing of William of Lindholme. Three miles north of Hatfield lies the rustic town of Thornes. At the time to which our legend refers, an old baronial hall stood in this vicinity, belonging to the Loveleigh family. The wars of the Roses had scattered and decreased the numbers, and levelled much of the grandeur of these possessors, and now, the only representative of the family was a young man who had been restored to part of his paternal estates, along with the titled dignity of his ancestors.

One autumnal evening, returning from hunting, accompanied by a number of his friends and retainers, Sir Walter Loveleigh had occasion to pass by the dwelling of the priest. The measured tones of the bell had just ceased, by which the hunting party knew that the devoted man had commenced his vespers duties. Sir Walter ordered his men to halt at the threshold of the cell, and driving his spear against the rough oaken door, demanded speech with the hermit. No attention being paid to various summons, he applied the head of his hunting-spear to the greensward, cut out a square piece of turf, which he gathered carefully into his hands, and with it filled the hole through which the stream flowed from the interior of the cell. He waited the result with pleased complacency. Presently the waters inundated the cave, and the priest was heard inside, drawing the huge fastenings of the door with an impatient hand. Through the gloomy doorway stalked the tall figure of the monk, his face betokening a consciousness of unprovoked wrong. He fixed his large black eyes upon Sir Walter Loveleigh, uttering at the same time a malediction on his untimely sport. He released the waters from their troubled hold, and with a look of rage re-entered his dwelling-place. As Sir Walter vaulted lightly into his saddle, he shouted aloud to the priest:

"I have heard thy much vaunted waters designated the 'Waters of Happiness'; methinks they may henceforth be better recognized as the troubled waters of Hatfield Chase."

The hunters moved away, the waters flowed peacefully as before, and the priest closed the door of his dismal abode, to resume his vespers duties. There was revelry in the halls of Sir Walter Loveleigh, for that day he had brought a bride, to add fresh lustre to the home of his fathers. The noble friends of the happy pair were gathered in all their glittering array; knights and ladies, retainers and serving men. Many were the sports that were to be performed in honor of the day; and every face beamed with becoming hilarity while anticipating the scene before them.

One ceremony, however, was still to be effected to make the occasion complete. The usual visit to the abode of the hermit was yet to be performed. Sir Walter had forgotten his frank years before, and now he and the priest Rosa, with a gay cavalcade, proceeded without delay to the Hermitage. William of Lindholme received them in silence, preceded them to the extremity of the vaulted dwelling, and from its dark recesses produced a large drinking horn, and applying it where the stream fell into an artificial basin of the rock, he gave it into the hands of the lady, filled with water. Rosa drank freely of the contents, and then gave the drinking cup into the hands of Sir Walter. The vessel being partially emptied, the priest commanded them to kneel. Supposing that he was about to invoke a blessing on their heads, the bridal pair immediately complied.

"The insults and injuries that we treasure never grows too old for retribution," spoke the monk, in a deep, sepulchral voice. "Sir Walter Loveleigh once broke upon the devotions of an unoffending brother of St. Benedict! he desecrated the threshold of his dwelling with revellings and untimely jests; by his sacrilegious pastimes did he subject himself to the maledictions of one whose curse, once pronounced, no soul can avert—no prayer can retract—no penance atone! He dared to pollute our consecrated waters—to daily with virtues that do wash away the loathsome corruption of mortality; and from this hour a fearful retribution awaits him. Ye have both drunk of the

Poetry.

PROGRESSION, VS. CONTENTMENT.

Often, I strive to find a friend
Contented with his lot,
So satisfied in every wish,
That he would change it not.

But strive in vain—for love of change
Is pictured everywhere—
And man, though caring to be free,
Finds pleasure in the care.

The rich are anxious for their pelf,
To cease their onward journeyings,
And who hath much, that seeks not more
Of worldly goods?—not one.

The parent worries for the child,
The childless yearns for heirs;
The young, the old, the gay, the grave,
All have their petty cares.

Contentment is a state ideal,
Which mortals never reach,
Though poets may descant on it,
And philosophers may preach.

Go ask the planets in their course
To rest awhile in space,
To cease their onward journeyings,
And stay their hurried race.

As well may man attempt to fix
A spot to which he'll cling,
With satisfaction, through the days
Of his sequestering.

A force centrifugal within,
Propels us on our way,
And though our path thru' roses leads,
We care not long to stay.

The infant tires of toy and doll,
The youth his book for sakes,
While naught but panoramic scenes
A zest for manhood makes.

Old age is sated with its fill,
Of bitter and of sweet,
Yet finds on earth an aching void,
Its mission incomplete.

Progression is the password
To life beyond the grave, Eternally alone can give
The requisite we crave.

Progression there can never cease
Unless Perfection's gained;
Sure man can never reach that point
By Duty attained.

LOAF CAKE. Two pounds of dried and sifted flour, one pint of new milk, blood warm, one-quarter pound of butter, three pounds of sugar, one pint of yeast, three eggs, one pound of stoned raisins, one nutmeg. Rub the butter and sugar to a cream, and add the flour. Add the other ingredients, and let it rise over night. Bake one hour and a half in a slow oven.

RELIGION. It is not a garment that men put on; it is not steel armor; it is sweeter and more beautiful than flowers. It mingles with all our affections, and sanctifies them. It enters into our family life, and exalts it. It is just that spirit which is in most agreement with everything in us that is best. It is tender, it is gentle, it is familiar, it is domestic. We do not know how to love wife or husband till we have known how to love God. You do not know how to hold the noble affection of friendship till God has taught you how to take him in disinterested love.

FIRE! FIRE!

$200 REWARD!

WHEREAS a certain dwelling house, belonging to W. W. Greenough, Esq., of this Town, has recently been destroyed by fire, and as there can be no doubt that it was the work of an incendiary, the above reward will be paid to any person that will give such information as will convict the person or persons who set said fire.

And the above reward will also be paid to any person who shall detect any one setting fire to any building of the value of Two Hundred dollars, within the Town, until the first day of March next, on conviction of the offender.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1867.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are We."

FIRE. An old building on Brackett's wharf was entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday morning last. It had recently been purchased by Mr. Charles Brock, of Milton, for seventy-five dollars. It was intended to have used it for storing salt hay. There were several cords of wood in the building, belonging to Mr. J. C. Hensworth, which was destroyed. It was the work of an incendiary, and we think it would be a wise act, if the Selectmen would appoint a vigilant committee to investigate these matters. The fire occurred between the hours of two and three, and but little alarm being given, few of our citizens knew of the fire until they arose in the morning.

THE MALDEN BURGLES. Albert A. Sanborn, one of the South Malden rogues, who have been stealing in this town and other places, was arrested in the Post Office at Providence, R. I., on Tuesday last. Letters, it appears, have been passing between Sanborn and some of his connections in Boston, and information being obtained of the fact, Deputy State Constable Littlefield visited Providence, and when Sanborn called for a Boston letter the signal was given and he was arrested. The amount of property already recovered by the descent upon the house at South Malden, occupied by Sanborn and Edwards, alias Williams, is valued at $10,000. The stealing of the furniture from the house of Mr. Shepherd, at West Beach, and the following up of the thieves to South Malden by the Deputy Marshal of Salem, have been the means of breaking up this depot of stolen goods and arresting the burglars.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE. House and land on Quincy Avenue, owned by John Dingman, to Francis Williams, for $3,700. The Marsh estate, corner of Hancock and Granite streets, to Henry H. Faxon, for about $3,500. This sale includes the buildings and about one-third of the land.

ACCIDENT. Mr. William Parker, Jr., of this town, was badly injured on Thursday last, while repairing the residence of Dr. C. C. Johnson. The board which he was on being rotten, gave way, precipitating him some five feet; bruising his lower limbs, badly spraining his right wrist, breaking or depressing his right cheek bone. It is thought by careful nursing that he will be able to be out of doors in the course of a week or two.

SUMMER HATS. We take pleasure in informing the ladies of this town and vicinity, who have not had a favorable opportunity of visiting the Emporium of Fashions, at the corner of Hancock and School streets, that it is one of the best places to find all the latest styles and fashions in this vicinity. Few places in Boston can equal it, as to taste and workmanship. Ladies, call and gratify your curiosity by examining the rich goods offered by Miss Currier.

APPOINTMENT. Mr. John Chamberlain, of this town, has been appointed by the Governor, as Justice of the Peace, within and for the County of Norfolk.

Our readers will notice by our advertising columns that Mr. Daniel K. Flint is prepared to carry passengers to and from the railroad depot, and to all other parts of the town at reasonable prices. Mr. F. is deserving of the public patronage, and we hope he will be successful in his new business.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT OF THE LEGISLATURE. The final adjournment of the Legislature took place on Saturday last, the Governor having signed the last bill at 10 o'clock. The session has lasted one hundred and fifty-one days, a longer time than any Legislature, with one exception (1856); the compensation has been higher than ever before allowed. The pay roll was made up to and included Monday, thus giving the members pay for 153 days, or $755 each for the session.

The bill for the annexation of Roxbury to Boston, after a veto by the Governor, was amended so as to submit the question to the people of the two cities, and passed. The number of bills passed this session was 359, and 93 resolutions.

C. D. & I. H. PRESHO'S DINING ROOMS. 10, 12, & 14 City Hall Avenue, Boston, is the place to get a full meal or lunch, at all hours of the day. The proprietors are well versed in their business, and spare no pains or expense for the comfort of both ladies and gentlemen. This establishment well merits the popularity it enjoys.

OBITUARY. Mr. Robert T. Bicknell, formerly of this town, employed by J. B. Libby, shoe-dealer, at No. 97 Winnisimmet street, Chelsea, fell dead in the store on Saturday evening, while attending to his duties. His remains were brought to this place on Monday last and interred.

CLOSING SALE. Messrs. Curtis intend closing their boot and shoe store in this town, on the first of July; therefore they are offering their entire stock at greatly reduced prices. Let those in want of anything in their line, give them a call, as they are giving rare bargains. See advertisement.

PERSONAL. Hon. Henry Wilson has been invited by Henry L. Pierce, Esq., of Dorchester, to visit Europe with him, and it is said the Senator has accepted the invitation. Rev. T. J. Mumford of Dorchester will be one of the party. Mr. Pierce proposes to sail on the 19th inst.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

The Public Library and Sundays.—Artillery Election.—Dullness of Trade.—Fears of the Cholera.—Finance.—President Johnson.—His visit to Raleigh and Boston.

BOSTON, JUNE 6, 1867.

Quite a little stir has been made here recently, on the subject of opening the Public Library on Sundays. The matter is now before the City Council. This excellent Library as you are well aware, is open to all, rich and poor, on week days only. To the wealthy, it is of no consequence whether the Public Library is opened or closed on Sabbath days. They can command their own time and go when they please. Not so with the thousands and tens of thousands who work hard every day in the week to keep soul and body together. The Sabbath comes to the industrial classes a day of rest to their weary bodies and minds—a day of intellectual improvement. Next to the Sanctuary, where could young men pass a few hours of a Sabbath day better than in our Public Library? We trust its portals will soon be opened to all on Sundays as well as on other days.

Artillery Election day passed off on Monday last very pleasantly. The "Ancient and Honorable" were out in their peculiar costume with full ranks. We noticed the Governor in the procession plainly clad in citizen's dress, but his Aide glittering in gorgeous uniform. To the "Ancient Artillery" was not only recovered by the descent upon the house at South Malden, occupied by Sanborn and Edwards, alias Williams, is valued at $10,000. The stealing of the furniture from the house of Mr. Shepherd, at West Beach, and the following up of the thieves to South Malden by the Deputy Marshal of Salem, have been the means of breaking up this depot of stolen goods and arresting the burglars.

Since the exodus of a great portion of them in attendance last week at the Anniversary and the adjournment of the Legislature, the city has been unusually quiet and general business apathetic. From appearances we are bound to have a dull season for trade any how; and should the cholera get here as many anticipate, Boston will be a dull place through the warm months. We hope this scourge will not visit our metropolis; it would be folly for the inhabitants of many portions of it to run. Though the effect of life is influenced in some measure by the condensation of population. Many places in Boston are as healthy as in the country, especially in the neighborhood of the Common, some portions of South Boston and the Neck. Cholera seeks the abodes of those living on narrow and crooked streets, who pay little regard to cleanliness or the choice of diet.

The business market of the week shows gold firm at 137, and what is curious about its firmness, caused by the abundance and heaviness of cash gold, which taken in connection with the stiffness of the foreign exchange market, makes large shipments probable. Money is so easy on gold paper, that the banks generally accommodate their customers here in Boston at 6 percent. Government securities are steady with slight change. But the stock market is full of gloom, as many brokers know to their sorrow.

It seems now a foregone conclusion that President Johnson will be here on the 24th of this month, at the dedication of the Masonic Temple. With all the bitterness of party feeling, the citizens of Massachusetts will not be found wanting in hospitality or courtesy to the Chief Magistrate of the United States when in our midst. The feeling of the North is growing better toward Andrew Johnson; and the last year of his administration has been marked with much discretion on his part. His present visit to Raleigh is greatly in contrast with the Chicago tour of last year. His public addresses in North Carolina savored little of politics and were appropriate. That the remaining term of his administration may find him more in harmony with Congress is the wish of all true patriots of our country. There is not the most remote probability that Andrew Johnson will be a candidate for re-election. Neither of the great political parties would take him up. The remaining twenty-one months of his office, should be devoted by him to the best interests of the country.

BASE BALL MATCH.

A Match Game of Base Ball between the WINTHROP CLUB of Boston and the ACTIVE CLUB of Quincy came off on Saturday afternoon last, on the Boston Common. The play throughout the game was excellent, and there was some fine batting on the part of both clubs.

The game was well seen by the following score was closely contested and won by the Actives.

Rev. Sereno Howe called at the State House, Monday, and drew his pay up to the time of the resignation of his seat, some weeks since. In this connection we will mention a fact learned a few days ago. While this revered scoundrel was filling the pulpit of the Baptist Church at Hingham, he was discovered indulging in the same infamous practices which were exposed at North Abington, but the matter was hushed up on his leaving the town.

ARRIVAL OF THE REMAINS OF ARTEMIS WARD. The body of Artemis Ward arrived at New York in the steam-ship Deutschland Friday night of last week.

For the Patriot.

OUR SCHOOLS.

When a parent feeling himself wronged by the School Master or Committee, and ventures a word of remonstrance, the next thing he knows, he don't know any more, save perhaps, that we have a school master for our children, and he is master of the children, and also of ourselves. What shall he do or what can he say?

Now, Mr. C. W. C., this must be esteemed no light matter for a parent, who, from your statements, one must conclude has no rights but those of submission to our master to be blown sky high for the first offence, and without a syllable of warning, and be left in this "supremely silly" predicament, on all fours, knee deep in the slough.

Why, at first, one almost thought himself going under and sharing the fate of the wicked Alabama. But unexpectedly we met our neighbor parent who gave us words of encouragement, and following his advice, we have concluded to make an effort to gather up the fragments of what was ourself, and offer a few ideas in sober earnest.

As to the duties of teachers in our public schools, they are generally supposed to be clearly regulated and defined by law. They are limited to the school-room and to the children while in attendance upon the instructions there to be given.

It is for the master of a school in the exercise of "careful judgment" to instruct and govern his pupils; but I submit to Mr. C. W. C. whether he can find in the law prescribing his duties or those of the School Committee any authority to send children away from the School in performance of duties, not those of instruction and judicious discipline?

Now to be candid in this note, don't you think Mr. C. your sails have been set rather high and flauntingly when you say shall "repeat the act whenever circumstances seem to warrant it," whether it shall occur more or less frequently than "once in about two years?"

There is a right to be thought, to be felt, to be done.

There is apt to be a limit to authority, beyond which a reasonable, careful, truthful, judicious, calm man will not transgress.

If a teacher can defiantly send a class of six boys into the woods two and one quarter hours to gather evergreens for the Choral Society, at the solicitation of a "lady parent," where is the limit to his power in this respect? I fail to see any. We have not even the right or privilege of remonstrance left us.

From Mr. C's position, he may, "entirely in the spirit of accommodation, not forgetting the valuable services of the Choral Society," of course, send a class of boys to look for some lady friend, or to chop her wood, or do anything his self-satisfied, judicious pleasure may dictate. The time and the distance are only incidents.

Mr. C. has transcended his authority in this matter; and what is worse than all, having put himself in the wrong is now arrogant and bombastic about it. Perhaps we shall have to stand it.

But the question naturally arises, if the children can prepare and recite "perfectly" one half day's lesson, and save one hour and fifteen minutes each half day, would it not be well for Mr. C. to enquire, if with proper attention on his part, and the presentation of proper and legitimate stimulants to the minds of his pupils, they would not at all times learn equally well and equally fast, and thereby make twice the progress, or save one half their time to their parents, and half the teacher's salary to the tax payer?

The question is not on the popularity of the School Committee,—that is no defence to Mr. C.

A continuation of arbitrary and unauthorized acts, will justify "general fault finding," and will make potent the suggestion of evil. It is by persistence in wrong, however harmless in the beginning, that the feelings of "one man" sometimes becomes the voice of five hundred.

Rev. J. S. Bingham, of Maverick Church, East Boston, will occupy the pulpit of the Hancock Street Church tomorrow.

Rev. Jones has with slate and pencil several times during this week attempted to "figure" up the "figers" on the little square papers posted on our streets, but has come to no definite conclusion as yet, but thinks he can arrive at the final result next November. He can't make anything of the "P. L. L." except peaceable little lambskins. J. Sooswood.

NORFOLK COUNTY TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION. The following are the officers of the Norfolk County Association for the current year, which will terminate on the 31st of May, 1868:—
President—L. P. Forbush of West Roxbury. Vice-Presidents—M. G. Daniel of Dorchester, L. M. Chase of Roxbury, N. E. Willis of Weymouth, Secretary—C. B. Travis of Quincy. Treasurer—H. F. Howard of Milton. Counsellors—R. F. Alger of South Dedham, J. M. Earle of Canton, Miss H. A. French of Quincy, Miss E. C. Fisher of Roxbury.

FROM THE KENNEBEC.

AUGUSTA, JUNE 5, 1867.

With other less agreeable prescriptions a kind physician last week recommended to me a trip to the Kennebec. Leaving Boston 7.30 A. M., Saturday, I arrived in this beautiful city at 4 P. M., one hundred and seventy-five miles from our starting point. Nature for a rarity put on her smiles, and the scenery along the lower route, so called, through Newburyport and Portsmouth, and particularly up the Kennebec, was very attractive, under bright June sunlight. The Kennebec Railroad extends between Portland and Kennebec, one hundred miles, and is one of charming diversity and interest. The President of the road is Hon. Judge Rice, a prominent Democratic leader. A week or two since he very courteously and unselfishly tendered me facilities of travel for the season, over the whole route from the Forest City to the point above named, where tourists leave for the far famed Moosehead Lake. This was all the more generous, inasmuch as the city party whose representative he thus honored, is far from being an exponent of his political views.

Three days of quiet enjoyment has been spent in this city, thanks to the princely hospitality of Hon. T. B. Perkins and his family. To-day I turn northward, and if strength permit, tomorrow, thirty-seven miles by rail and sixty by carriage to Greenville at the foot of the lake, where the Sabbath may find me, as the musical name of the village suggests,—
"Far from mortal cares retreating."

No body who has been there need be told of the attractions of this place,—and no one who has never visited it can gain much idea by tame description, so I can only say, "Come and see."

It is surely a place where a tired man may rest and lose a morbid consciousness of self in a wholesome consciousness of objects," as Alger has well expressed it in his new book on Solitude, which is a fit companion for a trip like this. Without endorsing style or substance in every particular, I have found the book exceedingly entertaining.

Yesterday I visited the Capitol, the Insane Asylum, where are three hundred inmates under care of Dr. Harlow, the respected Superintendent, and Winthrop Hill, from which a magnificent prospect is enjoyed. This morning a ride to the United States Military Hospital at Togus is proposed. When there last I found a fashionable watering place. But the "Sulphur Springs" are now put to better use,—and the boys in blue can enjoy them and the quiet retirement which this suburban retreat affords.

Lucius Jones says his neighbor is so well pleased with his Granite Street friends, who have so kindly lighted his pea patch with gas, that he has consented to allow them to erect another lamp on the corner of his sty. Piggie standing tall as much in need of more light as his pens. But joking aside, our friend's gratitude is really a beautiful sight after Mr. Perry has touched off the gun. Bierstadt proposes to paint it, thinking it will eclipse all his former productions.

Lucius Manlius Sargent of Roxbury, a venerable and well-known citizen, famous for his literary and philanthropic labors, died Sunday at the age of eighty-one. He was formerly a resident of the Point.

AUCTION. We would call the attention of readers to the sale of furniture etc., this afternoon, at the house recently occupied by Frederic Southley, on Washington street, half way to the Point. See advertisement.

LOST! YESTERDAY Forenoon, in the vicinity of Mr. Abernethy's Store, a Porte Monnaie, containing a small sum of money. Whoever will return the same to the Patriot Office, will be suitably rewarded.

Know thy Destiny.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrist, who has studied the scientific claims of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the future husband or wife of the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send a certain certificate, or return the picture by enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to your home, and the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications are carefully confidential. Address in confidence, MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 223, Hudson, N. Y.

A YOUNG Lady returning to her

country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, ruddy, flushed face, she had a soft, rosy complexion of almost masculine beauty, and instead of ten years she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any lady's toilet. By its use, no lady or gentleman can improve their personal appearance on a hundred fold. Its simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. ## DR. SCHENCK'S

NEW OFFICE.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, has opened an office on Second floor of No. 25 HANOVER STREET, Boston, where he will be professionally every WEDNESDAY, from 9 to 12. Every person complaining with Consumption, or any disease leading to it, is invited to call on him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination, with his Respirometer the charge is five dollars. Dr. Schenck can explain to patients very correctly the nature of their disease, and the means of cure. He can, namely, his Pulmonic Syrup, Sarsaparilla, and Mandrake, and the use of the Respirometer. He can tell by the color of the lungs are gone, and what the cause is. He can tell if it is Tubercular, Pulmonary, Bronchial, or Dropsical Consumption, or whether it is a simple Catarrh of the lungs, or whether it is a Liver complaint.

His medicines have full directions, so any one can take them without seeing him; but if they live near him, he will see them, it is best to see him. All three of his medicines are registered in the U. S. Patent Office, and are as safe as the most powerful medicine. To get lungs in a healthy condition the stomach must be cleaned, and an appetite for good rich food created, so as to make good food, before the lungs will begin to heal; then the chills and night sweats will stop, and the expectation become firm. He keeps a full supply of medicines at his rooms, which he has had at $2.50 the half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box. Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sarsaparilla, each $1.00 per bottle, or $2.50 the half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

The Quincy Patriot.

SATURDAY, JUNE 15, 1867.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

JURORS. Messrs. William Dison, Gershom Clements and Beverly Underwood have been drawn to serve as Grand Jurors, and Messrs. Edward Brackett and Joseph Arty Jr. as Petit Jurors in the U. S. District Court, in Boston.

ENTERPRISING. We notice in the St. Louis papers, recently received, a list of the merchants in that city, and the amount of business done by each for the year ending May 1st. In the list we read with pleasure the firm of Joseph F. Torrey & Co., whose returns amount to $81,132.00. Mr. Torrey, we would remind our readers, is a native of this place. A smart, active young man, who started out in the world with nothing but his Yankee activity and industry, and is now one of the largest wholesale newspaper and periodical dealers in St. Louis.

THE NEXT MEETING of the South Shore Sunday School Union, will be held to-morrow evening, at 7 o'clock, at North Weymouth. Mrs. P. A. Hanford will deliver the address.

Rev. Mr. Hubbell, colleague of the venerable Dr. Storrs, reaches to-morrow afternoon at Hancock Street Church. The pastor is expected to occupy the pulpit in the morning.

Ladies visiting the city should call at Woodman's New Store, 50 Winter street. Every style of dress and cloak buttons can there be found. Also, rich laces and all kinds of trimmings.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO BOSTON. President Johnson has accepted of the hospitalities of the city on the occasion of his visit to Boston on the 24th. He has also signified his acceptance to become the guest of the Masons and participate in the ceremonies of the dedication of the new Masonic Temple. It is possible that he will visit other New England cities before his return to Washington.

MOOSEHEAD LAKE. Writing from Mr. Kinne E. P. T. says, that the travel has already begun, although the usual stages and steamers will not be put on before July. He had a most enjoyable trip of fifty miles in a "mud wagon," and went from Newport to Greenville in twelve hours. Upwards of nine hours were occupied in going the next twenty miles up the lake to the beautiful Mt. Kinne House, where several days were spent. Chartering a steamer he made the return trip to the foot of the lake in brief time. He hopes to be in Quincy next Sabbath.

FIRST CHURCH. Rev. James Freeman Clarke, D. D., is expected to preach in behalf of the American Unitarian Association, to-morrow morning.

The body of George J. Spear of this town, mate of schooner Jennie, was found at Fall River on Monday, floating in the water.

A host of pickpockets accompany the various Circus Companies in their tour through New England, and in nearly every town, where an exhibition is given, the public is made to suffer from them. In Fall River, at a late exhibition of this kind, Captain Hatch had his pocket picked of $220, and two persons in New Bedford were made losers on another occasion.

VALUE OF ADVERTISING. All business men advertise to a greater or less extent, in some shape or other; but newspaper advertising is the only means by which dealers may rapidly extend the number of their customers. If it is good to tell a hundred persons that you can give them good bargains, it is much better to tell a thousand, and so on to the end of the chapter. The newspaper is the means to be used for the purpose. It goes every where, and tells your story to thousands at the same moment. It is to the business man better than capital, for it brings him customers, which capital will not do. It is in reality the poor man's capital, and when coupled with enterprise and activity, honesty and determination, it is better than gold for a foundation. When all are combined, there is no such result as failure.

TWICE A WIDOW IN ONE DAY. A most extraordinary incident in widowhood has just occurred at Thornley, a colliery village on the Hartlepool and Sunderland Railway. A miner belonging to Thornley, named Nicholas Cook, aged about fifty years, was married to a widow at Hetton-le-Hole. After the ceremony was over the couple adjourned to their friend's house and enjoyed themselves in a suitable manner. They afterwards left for their own home, and on arriving at Thornley all went merry as a marriage bell, and the wedding festivities were kept up with joyous spirit. In the midst of their hilarity the bridegroom was suddenly seized with a choking sensation in his throat, and fell down a corpse.

WEDDING PRESENTS, &c. We would invite the attention of our readers to the store of Henry A. Mitchell, 27 West street, Boston. For a good reliable place for fine articles, we believe our readers will find this store to give them the best of satisfaction. See advertisement in to-day's paper.

The candidates for the appointment as Cadet from the Second Congressional District to the United States Military Academy at West Point, will meet for examination, at room No. 15 in Court House, in Boston, on Saturday, June 25th, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

BOSTON, JUNE 14, 1867.

The prominent features of news for the past week may be summed up very briefly. The President and his party have returned from their North Carolina tour to Washington without anything happening marvellous on their journey. The trial progresses slowly. The first array has been quashed and twenty-six new jurors summoned. The first jury paid off and sent home. The trouble at New Orleans continues. Speaking of the recent difficulty, the New Orleans Times says, "The protest against the Governor's re-appointment now on its way to Washington is followed by the prayers of all true friends of Louisiana that it may prove insufficient to restore the petitioner to that power which he has so long, and for the Commonwealth, so disastrously wielded." The whole matter is now under advisement at Washington. We are soon to have the opinion of the Attorney General of the powers of military commanders under the reconstruction, on the hinge of which, turns the case of Governor Wells. Thus the administration is always in trouble. And the whole country is in trouble more or less, by reason of dull times, high taxes, high prices, and the want of confidence in the business community. All is not dark yet; for looking to a more pleasing picture, we find that nearly all the reports received at the Agricultural department during the past month agree as to the favorable prospects for the coming harvest. Many correspondents of the Department promise a wheat crop double that of the last year, and the Commissioner says that never has there been so general expression of encouragement. If these prospects are fulfilled, we be to grain speculators, for bread prices will tumble heavily. The prosperity of any country is in proportion to its production of labor, and as nineteenth-twentieths of the people of the United States are agriculturists, a good season sheds incalculable blessings upon the country.

Bostonians are leaving in large numbers every day for the rural districts. But the city continues healthy. Fabulous prices are paid for country residences, furnished, even for a sojourn of three or four months. In many instances a thousand dollars is paid for quite unimproved houses, with-out any land, in the suburbs. The places sought after are near the lines of railroads, and Bostonians will soon be found as temporary sojourners, from the shores of Cape Cod to the western hills of New Hampshire. Your beautiful town offers great inducements to city visitors; where can be found more attractive and healthy localities than the romantic grounds of Squantum, the sylvan retreats of Germantown and its environs, or, at that beautiful place, Quincy Point; all of whose shores are visited by the breezes of the ocean?

For the Patriot.

THAT LETTER.

When I saw "Templar's" proposition in the Patriot of June 1st, I was inclined to believe that since the License party in Quincy is so strong, and claim among their leaders one or more of the clergymen of this place, we should be likely to hear some authoritative response.

To be sure, the author of that remarkable letter of April 13th tells us, "That he is not in the habit of indulging in newspaper controversy,"—but then, since he did so far deviate from his accustomed habits, as to write the letter alluded to, and since the work of mixing and misplacing persons and classes, against which that letter so earnestly protested,—still goes on, I was in hopes that he would take the matter thoroughly in hand, bring "order out of chaos," and once for all, put a stop to such abuses.

I too, believe that there are excellent men who are in favor of "License"; indeed, some of them claim to be earnest working friends of temperance; but what confuses and bothers me, is not that some zealous prohibitionist, in the heat of his enthusiasm should err in his classification of good men,—but that drinking men, every where, whether they be moderate drinkers, tipplers, or drunkards,—will insist on claiming every one of those excellent men—"on putting them into the same category with themselves." It would seem, either that liquor drinkers and liquor dealers, all in fact but prohibitionists, have become, in a manner, alarmingly sudden, the sincere and hearty friends of temperance reform,—or somebody has made a serious mistake.

A FRIEND OF CHRIST.

QUINCY INCOME TAX.

The following is a list of persons in this town whose income has exceeded one thousand dollars the past year. The sum of one thousand dollars is exempt, as are also taxes, rents, &c. Also, farmers can support their families on the farm without reckoning it as income; which gives them some advantage over the mechanics, who are obliged to pay taxes on all the income they receive over one thousand dollars, whether it is enough to support their families or not.

THE ISSUE IN MASSACHUSETTS IN THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

DEAR PATRIOT: Your columns, have, of late, been replete with articles on the "Liquor question," pro and con,—the writers evidently having entirely ignored a discussion of the effect of arbitrary and financial legislation upon the populace, and necessarily upon parties. The Republican party in Massachusetts has grown in strength gradually until at last it has nearly absorbed all other party organizations; and in relation to the great principles of our Government, in subduing the civil war,—in bringing tranquility, peace and safety, out of the chaotic elements which succeeded the rebellion, it has stood a solid phalanx. The Congress of the United States has received the undivided support of the Republicans of this State, in its patriotic endeavors to reconstruct the governments of the rebellious States upon the broad principle of justice and equal rights, and regardless of race, color, or previous condition. In this, Massachusetts has done honorable service in the cause of humanity. But aside from these considerations, laws have been enacted which are certainly encroachments upon the private rights of citizens. The fundamental reason for the enactment of such laws, I attribute to the general lack of interest in political matters by the citizens of the State. They go to the polls after year and vote for the respective candidates, regardless of their views upon matters which seriously affect the people of the Commonwealth. If he is only a Republican or Democrat, by party name, nothing more is asked or required,—and, consequently, bigoted, narrow minded,—ministers of the Gospel, or some superannuated schoolmaster has represented the country towns in the General Court each session. Being entirely ignorant of the wants or needs of the people, and without the necessary requisites for legislators in any sense, laws have hurriedly been enacted, without due regard for the interests of the business community, and the inherent rights of every citizen under a republican form of government. Men of standing and eminent ability in the ranks of the Republican party have wailed with course of our legislation of late years, with painful regret; feeling sincerely, that unless matters changed, the people must be stimulated to create a return through the ballot box. During the struggle of the national administration to subdue a wicked and accursed slaveholders' rebellion, those members of the Republican party who differed from others of the party on questions of state policy, did not care to remonstrate, lest it should weaken the great party which was conducting the war against rebellion. But after wrangling and discussing policies for the reconstruction of rebellion, Congress at last hit upon a feasible and eminently wise and prudent plan, whereby those States which had in an evil moment revolted from the Union, could again resume their practical relations with the national Government. That plan has been executed by the President thus far in a spirit of acquiescence, and the commander of each district is promulgating regulations preliminary to their complete organization under republican governments; which if found satisfactory by Congress entitles each State to representation in the halls of national legislation. Thus the great question of reconstruction has finally been settled by the Republican party. The Southern States know precisely what terms they are to comply with, and the effect of a non-compliance. This great question settled, or a firm policy inaugurated, the great material interests of the Nation and of the States locally, should enlist the earnest consideration of every intelligent citizen.

In this State a law is on the statute book which prohibits the people from buying liquor to use as a beverage. In this "liquor" category is included ale, cider, lager beer, &c., making it a penal offence for a party to sell those liquors; a prohibition of the sale is of course synonymous with a prohibition of its use. If these simple and healthy beverages are to be driven from the commercial world, it becomes a matter of private interest to know whether or not the legislature of a State can drive from the mouths of the citizens an article which they consider food, and greatly conducive to health.

Ale is used in the families of our best citizens,—and no one can doubt its nutritiousness. But the law forbids its sale, and whoever uses it as a beverage, must get it through an illegitimate source.—Now, who believes that such fanatical legislation will be submitted to without a struggle at the ballot box. Therefore, in the coming campaign, it behooves every liberal minded citizen to use his utmost exertions to displace fanaticism by liberalism. Whenever this shall have been done, the dormant elements which have in the past been the instruments in securing our commercial glory, will again be revived, and the day which witnessed a repeal or modification of the Massachusetts Prohibitory Liquor Law, I shall hail as the harbinger of the reign of liberal ideas, and of vigorous commercial prosperity.

THE PEACH CROP IN DELAWARE.—Although strawberries have become an important item in the productions of Delaware, the great crop of the State this year will be peaches. In all parts of the State the trees are full of the finest fruit, and looking vigorous and healthy. They will no doubt ripen a larger crop than has ever before been produced.

DISBANDED. The Tiger Engine Company voted on Monday evening last to disband. The reason, we believe, is because the Engineers thought it unwise to fix their horse carriage as the Company desire—at a cost of $100 to $200. The Chief Engineer took possession and locked up the house on Tuesday last.

Summary Intelligence.

There is a dandelion at the South End Boston, which measures seven feet in circumference, covering a space over two feet in diameter. The leaves, some sixty in number, are 16 inches long by 3 inches wide. The flower stems are 36 in number, being 2½ feet high.

The Alabamians are eating green corn. Thirty odd brides were at Niagara Falls Hotel one day last week.

A farmer near Erie, Pa., bought several barrels of spoiled sausages for the purpose of using them as manure, and put a link into each hill of corn. Before the next day every dog that lived in radius of four or five miles of the field had been there digging sausages. The corn came up a little quicker than the farmer bargained for.

A tavern keeper in England, who was talking boastfully about his customers, said of one of them: "He is the most regular man in Harwick; he comes here and gets drunk every Saturday, and has done the same for ten years except when his mother died, and that time he came on Sunday. It is a grand thing to be punctual."

In Middleboro' the vacant places in the cemetery are planted with potatoes and turnips.

On Wednesday and Thursday of last week in Chicago, wheat declined twenty-eight cents a bushel, and within three weeks second quality wheat declined ninety-eight cents a bushel in the same market.

A penny (two cents) edition of Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, complete, was issued by the London Book Society a little over a year ago, and more than six hundred thousand copies of this edition have been circulated.

A girl fourteen years of age, carries the mail between Stone House and Manassas Station, Va., a distance of five and one-half miles.

A New York paper says a modern undertaker's bill is about as frightful as a visit of the sheriff. To lay out, ice, shroud, coffin, decorate, remove and bury an adult costs $282. As a consequence, people all over the country are postponing dying.

There is a place in New Hampshire, they say, where they never have old maids. When a girl reaches the age of twenty, and is still unmarried, the young fellows club together and draw lots for her. Those who lose the chance, pay a bonus to the one who gets her.

The Sultan has thirty of his wives with him in Paris.

The amount of silver produced in the last eighteen years is $1,620,400,000.

There are in London 100,000 persons engaged in trading on the Sabbath.

There are eight theatres in New York, and the Tribune says: "It is, we think, rather a remarkable fact that, at the present time, in the city of New York, there is not a single dramatic performance given in which a person of taste and culture can witness with entire satisfaction."

GOLDEN WEDDING.

One of these social gatherings occurred at the residence of Mr. Elisha French of Braintree, on Wednesday evening; it being the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. After mutual congratulations and introductions Rev. Mr. Hubbell made an excellent prayer and some very felicitous remarks, upon the social enjoyments peculiar to such occasions, and tendering to them the best wishes for their future happiness. He expatiated on the beauties of these occasions, commencing with the paper wedding, remarking that as they drew nearer life's end they grew richer and richer, until like the golden sunset they reached this event. Deacon Hayward was then introduced and after expressing the feelings of himself and friends presented the worthy couple with some very handsome presents, among which were a beautiful pair of gold spectacles from the Sabbath school and a handsome sum of money from friends. The following verses written for the occasion was spoken by their grandchild, Master Frankie Vezzie of this town, who also presented them with some of the golden ore.

A happy greeting, Grandpa,
We bring to you this night,
And also a love offering
To you with which delight.
The fifty years they say, Grandpa,
This night the twelfth of June,
Since you and dearest Grandma,
God's holy love made one.

And that your cup of gladness,
Has ever been well-filled,
Thanks to the glorious giver,
Who doeth all things well.

But oh! they tell me, Grandpa,
Of your children three who run;
My mother, your dear Lucy's
Loved form, we cannot see.
But her spirit lives above us,
In the regions of the blest,
Where all will soon be gathered,
And the weary soul at rest.

Then let this friendly greeting
By all remembered be;
And this you may know by the memory
Through all eternity.

Short addresses were also made by Messrs. E. I. Humphrey and S. A. Bates. Mr. Minot E. Hunt composed and read the following witty lines:—

I'll now introduce to you one Mr. French,
A man of merit as a Judge on the bench,
Who has been twice elected to the bench,
And who has been twice elected to the bench,
Or just take a peep at his new grand old head.

Now this is not all the old head has done,
He has in his life done the most noble run;
Go look at his wife for the sake of the old,
And see if you don't think him an ingenious old head,
Or just take a peep at his new grand old head.

There's a great many things too numerous to state,
That will be shown to the people of our state,
That will be shown to the people of our state,
That will be shown to the people of our state,
That will be shown to the people of our state.

If any neighbors have a crippled old clock,
Just take it and start without any talk,
To the said Mr. French, who is ready and quick
To have it mended by the hands on the clock.

Now here's Mrs. Litchfield—the name of his wife—
That with him has lived fifty years of her life;
A kind hearted woman, with a kindness to show,
Always ready and willing to do for you.

May you live many years, and be good as new,
Have health and be happy as a tree,
The laborer saying you, and live "ways," "ways,"
In the wash of our life. Now well to you, night.

The evening was spent in the most agreeable manner interspersed with music and singing by Professor Gomez, Mr. E. Morrison and F. Mansfield. It was estimated that there were between two and three hundred persons present, including a delegation of Odd Fellows from this town.

FIRE! FIRE!

$200 REWARD!
WHEREAS a certain dwelling house, situated on W. W. Greenough St., in this town, has recently been destroyed by fire, and there can be no doubt that it was the work of an incendiary, the above reward
will be paid to any person who will give such information as will convict the person or persons who set said fire.

And the above reward will also be paid to
any person who shall detect any one setting
fire to any building of the value of Two Hundred dollars, within the town, until the first day of March next, on conviction of the offender.

E. B. TAYLOR, Selectmen
E. W. UNDERWOOD, of Quincy,
JACOB F. EATON, of Quincy,
Quincy, March 9.

$500 REWARD

THE frequent and successful repetition of incendiary
attempts in this town, renders it necessary that the most vigorous efforts should be made to prevent their recurrence. Therefore, $500, in addition to the $200 already offered, will be paid by the town, for the conviction of the person or persons engaged in setting fire to the shop of William Weston, who had set up and the adjoining one, owned by John Hall, were destroyed on the morning of the 21st ult.

EDMUND B. TAYLOR, Selectmen
E. W. UNDERWOOD, of Quincy,
JACOB F. EATON, of Quincy,
Quincy, May 10, 1867.

NOTICE.

THE Selectmen of the Town of Quincy herby give notice that they will meet at their Office, in the Town Hall, on the LAST MONDAY in each month, from 9 to 12 A. M., and 1 to 4 P. M., for the payment of the Soldiers' Families who are entitled to pay under the Act for the aid of the Families of Volunteers, passed May 28th, 1861.

EDMUND B. TAYLOR, Selectmen
E. W. UNDERWOOD, of Quincy,
JACOB F. EATON, of Quincy,
Quincy, March 9, 1867.

Notice.

THE Selectmen will meet in their Office,
in the Town House the Second and Last SATURDAYS, in every month, from 2 to 5 o'clock, P. M., until further notice. Persons having business with the Town will please present it on those days.

EDMUND B. TAYLOR, Selectmen
E. W. UNDERWOOD, of Quincy,
JACOB F. EATON, of Quincy,
Quincy, March 9.

$10 REWARD.

THE Selectmen will pay the above reward to any one, who will give evidence sufficient to convict any person removing, stoning, or otherwise injuring any of the Guide-Boards
at the corners of the streets in this town.

EDMUND B. TAYLOR, Selectmen
E. W. UNDERWOOD, of Quincy,
JACOB F. EATON, of Quincy,
Quincy, March 9.

Poetry.

For the Patriot.
DON'T BELIEVE 'EM.

To dose veteran soldiers who 'bey de little or no bounty from de State.

De claimer may sound, and de war trumpet blow,
Again you be called to encounter de foe;
Den, stop soldier, stop, don't you go, don't you go,
By'm by, dey will offer big bounties you know.

Perhaps dey will say dese last dollar shall come—
Dey did so before when dey scared at you;
Dey giv you money den, only promise you—
Don't b'leve dem, dey cheat you, dey promise 'em.

One bird in de hand be wuf two in de bush—
Dey say dey can't pay you till money more flush;
Don't b'leve dem, don't b'leve dem, dey don't know to blush.

Dese men be not fit for deir business at all—
Dey can't make a law to do justice to all;
Dey head de case de case, den dey drain de so small,
Dey giv you plenty pay for dese blunder and brawl.

Remember dese bounties when comes de next Fall.
Poor old Massachusetts, be bankrupt dey say—
Dat false—all her debts if she will, she can pay;
Time was, she had done it without long delay,
But sinners would trow all her money away.

Dey vote milt money, as not caring for profit;
And also, dey votes full enough for deir self;
De soldiers' pension dey lay on de shelf,
Dey 'raid be come after some part of de wealth.

Dey not want him now, so dey tell him to go,
Dey not any longer afraid of de foe;
Dey want all de cash, den dey State to de State to spare,
Tey hope speculation in which dey can share.

De fathers, and mothers, and widows, and children,
Were told dat de State had dere claims all on de line,
Can't be dat dey meant dese poor folks to beguile, Convincing to cozen and cheat dem de while.

No ole Massachusetts! I knows you too well,
Alde dere be some who you onder would sell;
And urge you to meanness dey cannot sell,
Dey can't stop de ring of you Liberty bell.

By de law, de soldier remembered shall be,
Dere courage and strength, set de colored man free,
And while we're a ballot to trow in de scale,
De soldier shall bid it dat right may prevail.

Awake sons of freedom—de blood ob de brave,
Was poured out like water, your country to save;
Then leave not de men who for you risked dere all,
De sport ob de Jew rulers—Remember next Fall!

Our Cry.

OMELET. Bent together two eggs and two tablespoonsful of Maizena, and a teacup of milk, with a little pepper and salt, and sugar if desired. Fry them in a spit-der covered with butter, turn them several times and roll them up. Keeping it in motion till slightly browned.

A widower stepped into a store in a Western city where none but mourning goods were sold and inquired for slate-colored gloves. The over-nice clerk informed him that only black gloves were in that room; for slate-colored gloves he must step into the "mitigated affliction department."

On some railroads it is customary to have a lock on the stove to prevent passengers from meddling with the fire.
A wag being asked why they locked the stove, coolly replied that "it was to prevent the fire from going out."

A little girl in school being asked what a waterfall was, replied that it was hair flowing over something, she didn't know what.

An insurance company heads its advertisement thus: "Best lives taken at lowest rates."

When you offer oats to a horse
he may say neigh, but don't mean it.

A colored lady, boasting the other day of the progress made by her son in arithmetic, exultingly said, "He was in de mortification table."

A Yankee on his travels, writing from New York to a Portland friend, forcibly dwells upon the difficulty he experienced in witnessing a theatrical performance.

"There was," says he, "one girl right in front of me with her hair built out so far on the back of her head, that I had to lean back to keep it out of my lap; and when she bent over to look down, this hair
'doings' stood up in the air so high, that I had to stomp up on the chair to see the stage! I set out to crush it, but as I have heard that, 'truth crushed to earth will rise again,' I was afraid to touch it, as there was more truth than poetry in that rig!" The masculine world generally will sympathize with this sufferer.

STAND FAST. Under all the trials of life stand fast! Would you wish to live without a trial? Then you would wish to die but half a man—at the very best, but half a man. Without trial you can not gain to your own strength. Men do not learn to swim on a table. They must go into deep water and buffet the surges.
If you wish to understand their true character—if you would know their whole strength of what they are capable, throw them overboard!—over with them! and if they are worth saving they will swim ashore of themselves.

An Irish lawyer, going to dinner, left his direction in the key-hole: "Come to Bliss's lunch room; and if you can't read this, take it to any lawyer on this floor, and he will read it for you."

SMALL POX IN A RAILROAD CAR.

Quite an amusing scene occurred in the cars some time ago between New Brunswick and Princeton, New Jersey.

When the cars stopped at the Princeton depot, a gentleman and lady, with considerable baggage, entered the one in which I was sitting; after having their baggage safely locked up in the baggage car,—with the exception of a small hand-box, which the gentleman brought into the cars with him,—they took a seat near me,
the gentleman facing the lady,—the hand-box he placed on a seat behind her. As she was rather good looking than otherwise, I took the liberty of enquiring of a gentleman sitting near me, who they were, and received the information desired. The train had started, and I thought no more of the above mentioned couple, but was gazing out of the window of the car, when I heard a voice exclaimed, "Sir?"

This was spoken rather loudly, and with considerable emphasis. I looked around, and my eyes fell immediately on the lady and gentleman before referred to.
I saw at a glance that there was something wrong, for the lady looked pale, her lips quivered, and she was the picture of distress.

"What did you say, sir,—what did you say?" cried the lady, while from the change of her countenance, I felt assured that he had said something that went against the grain.

"The small box is behind you, ma'am," said the young gentleman, with a look of surprise at the young lady's altered appearance.

"The small box behind me!" screamed she, at the top of her voice. "Where—where, Mr. Y.—Where? I have never been—"

"Behind you, ma'am," on the next seat, behind you," said the young gentleman, in a loud tone, for the cars made such a rattling that he could not have been heard if he had attempted to speak lower.

"Oh! Mr. Y., for heaven's sake, save me!" go—oh, do! I know I shall catch it. I never have been vaccinated; and—oh, let me out, let me out; oh, let me go in another car; I can't stay here; I—I I'll surely catch it. Yes—yes, I know
I will, there is no help for it—I feel it already—it's coming—yes, it's coming—ough—ough." Then calming herself for a moment, she said, very coaxingly:

"Oh! Mr. Y., won't you let me go out of this car—I have never been vaccinated—and—"

The young gentleman looked astonished.
He had been trying to get in a word edge-ways, but it was of no use.

At last he made it out: "What under the heaven is the matter with you?" said he, as she stopped to take breath.

"The small box, Mr. Y., the small box—where is it? where is it?"

"The small box is on the seat behind you," thundered Mr. Y. This was more from the manner in which Mr. Y. spoke, she thought he was frightened too, so with a bound she cleared the seat and made for the door. Several gentlemen, thinking she meant to kill herself, rushed to her, and detained her from going out of the car.

"Let go of me," she said, "I tell you let go of me—I will go out, I know I'll catch it. I tell you I never had it, and I never have been vaccinated, and if I catch it, I'll die—yes, I know I will—oh, let me out—please let me out, I have never been vaccinated—I—and the tears began to run in great profusion. "Mr. Y., I call on you for protection," screamed the affrighted young lady. "Oh, let me out, let me out, I feel it coming, yes, I do, oh,
oh, ha, ha, ha," cried the young lady, while the tears gushed forth like rain.

"I have never been vaccinated—let me out!
let me out—I'll catch the small box."

"What does all this mean?" exclaimed several gentlemen; but no one knew. At last Mr. Y. got near the lady, and said in a voice like thunder, "There is no small box in the cars! What under the heavens are you making all this fuss about?"

"No small box in the cars, sir, no small box in the cars! Why, you told me that—that—the small box was on the seat behind me! I know I have got it! I tell you I never have been vaccinated. Oh!
Mr. Y., it is all your fault, you seated me there, and you know it, I'll tell my par-and their path be fairest flowers. May th or sorrow, but may th joyous and happy as the morn of life.

FAREWELL EXERCISES.

Hancock Street Church was filled with a large audience on Sabbath morning to hear the farewell discourse of the retiring Pastor. We have secured notes of it which will be read with interest. Mr. Thwing remarked:

"The ancient Parthian, it is said, fired as he fled. Turning his back on his foes he hurled his spear with marvellous accuracy as his steed bore him away.

"Too many farewell sermons, like the Parthian spear have been but farewell shots. Pent up feelings are then relieved, and the people receives from the preacher's valedictory charges which have been bottled up for years, because he dared not till then give them utterance. He fires and runs. I have nothing of the sort today. It has been a habit with me to say what I wished at the time, distinctly and freely, moved neither by fear nor favor, and so now having nothing in my heart's hot cells shut up which I wish to ventilate, you are simply invited to listen to a few, parting words of kindness, suggested by the Scripture found in 2 CORINTHIANS, XIII, 11.

"BRETHREN FAREWELL," ETC. The preacher then discussed briefly the position and work of a Christian minister; referred to the prosperity enjoyed by the Society during the five years he had labored with them, and paid a warm tribute to the generosity and indulgence of the people, their harmony amongst themselves, and their frequently expressed confidence and esteem for their Pastor. The Choir then sang.

"Dear Pastor we shall meet again."

In the afternoon the young people assembled and were addressed from the text, "Little children it is the last time."

On Monday an Ecclesiastical Council assembled, of which Rev. S. L. Rockwood was chosen Moderator, and Rev. Mr. Fitz Scribner, the action of the Church and Parish in accepting their Pastor's resignation, and the resolutions which accompanied them were presented and approved. The latter express sympathy for Mr. T. in his impaired health; a high appreciation of his successful ministry; his soundness and ability as a preacher of the Gospel; and recognize as a result, the ministerial, pecuniary and religious advancement of the people of his charge. The Church also express their earnest prayers that his health may be restored and that he may be richly rewarded for his labors of love among them. The Council voted to concur in the steps taken, passed resolutions of a similar complimentary character, and adjourned sine die.

Mr. Thwing's residence on Monday evening was filled to overflowing by his Parishioners, while some who were unable to be present sent bouquets and bank bills as tokens of regard for their Pastor. He is now on his way to Littleton, (N. H.) where he resides this summer.

OUR SCHOOLS. We learn that the School Committee of Quincy will commence their semi-annual visits to our public schools, on Monday next, beginning at the Willard Grammar and Intermediate schools. Unless the arrangement is changed, the Crane school will be examined on Tuesday, p. m., July 24. The Adams schools on Monday and Tuesday, July 24 and 25. The Washington schools on the 15th, the Coddington schools on the 16th, and the High School on Thursday, the 18th proximo. As these examinations are public and free to all of our citizens, we hope to see a large interest manifested for the cause of popular education in our town by the presence of a goodly number of the parents and friends of the pupils at these examinations. They will be found exceedingly interesting.

PERSONAL. Mr. Seward passed Sunday in this place as the guest of John Q. Adams, Esq., and attended services in the forenoon at the Unitarian church.

EDITORIAL COURTESY. The publisher of the Massachusetts Ploughman, has our thanks for his complimentary notice. May the columns of the Patriot continue to be worthy of such flattering remarks; and then we shall feel if it is the "only paper on his exchange list published by a female," that it shall be worthy a copy of the Ploughman in return. For we look for the Ploughman as regular as we do for our dinner; and when we miss a copy we feel as if we had met with a loss. We think that there are but few weekly papers sent to Quincy, that are better appreciated and liked by its subscribers, than the Massachusetts Ploughman.

THE SURREAT TRIAL. This case promises to last nearly as long as the trial of the other assassins by the military commission. The evidence is so circumstantial, and the rules of law, and less range of inquiry is allowed than the practice of military courts permits. Evidence has been produced to show the presence of Surratt at St. Albans on the 18th of April, 1865, and further proof of his presence in Washington on the 14th. Also evidence tending to show the connection of Booth and Surratt, and the complicity of Mrs. Surratt. The court refused to allow the recall of witnesses by the defence, with a view to their impeachment.

GENEROUS PARISHIONERS. We learn that the Rev. John D. Wells, who has recently moved into his new residence on Greenleaf street, was presented a few days ago with a purse well lined with "greenbacks," to aid in furnishing the same.

BOSTON CORRESPONDENCE.

This is destined to be a memorable week in the chronicles of Boston. All excitement and bustle, and yet the vast influx of visitors has been characterized in general terms by good order and behavior throughout. But few serious accidents have occurred. On Saturday evening, as you well know, the President and Suite arrived here and was received with enthusiasm and high honors. We had a good view of him as he passed up Beacon street, even as late as eight in the evening. Mr. Seward followed in a carriage behind him, to all appearance an old man. These distinguished persons were cheered heartily on their route to the Tremont House. During Mr. Johnson's whole stay, from Saturday evening to Wednesday morning, very high respect and courtesy were awarded to him by the State and Municipal authorities, coming as he did in the character of the Chief Magistrate of the United States. On Monday he was engaged with the Masonic Order in the dedication of their Temple, by the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. Suffice it to say that the procession of over ten thousand Masons in column was a grand and imposing spectacle, and every thing a success. The President was kept in motion during his whole visit, and must have an iron constitution to endure the fatigues growing out of his obsequious movements. The papers of the week are replete with accounts of his reception by Governor Bullock at the State House; of his visit to Bunker Hill Monument and the Navy Yard at Charlestown, and his excursion down the Harbor on Tuesday last. Much powder was burnt on the aquatic route. The remarks of Mr. Johnson to the various public addresses made to him while in Boston were discreet and opportune. In his address at the Masonic banquet, he alluded indirectly to his political course. In reply to Governor Bullock's remarks at the State House, he said the allusion of the Governor to the visiting of different States was an advantage he knew how to appreciate, and he thought the people of the different sections of the country should be brought more in contact with each other. Sharp corners were made by each other at a distance, and these would be made smooth, were the people to mix together more. Our nation, the President said, was too large. Some he knew would differ from him, but he took the converse of the proposition. The whole cannot get along without the parts, and the parts without the whole. He wished to see the United States continue a great country, and his efforts would always be directed to that end. He closed by thanking the Governor, and through him the people of the Commonwealth, for the manifestations of good feeling they had shown him during his visit; and he told the truth, for he was well received here. The departure of the President took place on Wednesday morning; and since then every thing is as quiet as Sunday. But little business will be doing until after the "glorious Fourth."

JULY FOURTH. The features of the celebration of July fourth, in Boston, as far as determined upon are as follows:—There will be a sailing and a rowing regatta. At the Music Hall, Mayor Norcross will preside, and Rev. E. B. Webb will officiate as Chaplain of the day. The Declaration of Independence will be read by Henry F. Davis, and the music will be furnished by four hundred children of the public schools. An original ode by W. T. Adams (Olive Optic) will be sung. The oration by Rev. George H. Hepworth will no doubt be acceptable. The Committee have provided for the children, and there will be music and dancing in eight of the public halls during the day, admission by tickets gratuitously furnished to the children of the public schools and others.

In the afternoon at 5-1/2 o'clock a Grand Concert will be given when the Great Organ will be touched by George E. Whiting, and the Spaulding Brothers' Swiss Bell Ringers will give a specimen of their skill.

In the afternoon a grand balloon ascension will take place. The illumination of the Common in the evening will be one of the most brilliant spectacles ever witnessed in Boston. The display will be ushered in by flights of shells from the fort to dark. The illumination will take place from four different points, viz:—The Parade Ground, Flagstaff Hill, the Old Elm, and a point near the Great Fountain. Green, amber, crimson, and other fires will light the whole scene. Fire balloons with different colored fires will be sent up at intervals during the evening. The spectacle will conclude with the discharge of a grand musket battery.

THE LAWS AND RESOLVES passed by the Legislature of 1867. The Town Clerk has received a small part of the supply for this town which can be obtained at his office.

A WARNING TO FLOWER THIEVES. In the Municipal Court at one of the morning sessions of this week, Judge Chamberlain presiding, two young women named Emma J. Brown and Charlotte McAllister were complained of for stealing flowers, valued at two dollars, from the Public Garden, and on pleading guilty were each fined three dollars without costs. An elderly man named George Wilkins was charged with stealing ten cents' worth of flowers from the same place, and on pleading guilty he was fined ten dollars and costs.

Some persons in this town who rob the graves at Mount Wollaston, had better take warning or they may get into trouble. They are known.

The New York State Convention has under consideration a proposition to disfranchise persons who are habitual drunkards, who sell their votes.

THRILLING ADVENTURE.

We copy from Weekly Register, published at Central City, Colorado, the narrow escape of the Rev. Wm. A. Fuller, whose family resides in this town. He was attacked by the Indians—lost his baggage—and barely escaped with his life.

"I was the only passenger in the coach. There were two men on horseback accompanying the coach. The Indians were concealed in a vacated house by the roadside. We got opposite to it, when instantly there was a discharge of firearms. The driver fell from the box. The two men turned and fled. Seeing the driver gone and the horses running off the road, I crept out to the driver's seat thinking to get the lines, and so by dint of running got away. But the lines were on the ground. I coaxed the horses to get the lines, but no go. I then got down on to the tongue and tried to get the lines—meantime the Indians were shooting at me close by. Ball holes are through my clothes. I was surrounded by Indians, but they were so anxious for the plunder, that when I fell from the coach, they made for the plunder and I made for the river. I travelled some two miles by the river bank, resolved to jump in the instant the 'red devils' should make their appearance. After going some two miles, I saw two men on horseback in the road. I took them for Indians. They beckoned to me, but I thought it a decoy, and before they made for me I plunged into the river. I swam about fifteen rods and then stopped and took a look at them. They were United States soldiers, and I turned for the shore, reaching the bank exhausted. I was brought back, used up, and yet have hope of getting out of this horrid state of affairs. In haste, yours as ever.

WM. A. FULLER.

Mr. Fuller was on his way home at the time of the attack, and we learn that he has once more embraced his family.

For the Patriot.

PROHIBITORY SCRUPLES.

The "friend of Christ," who surprised us not long since, with a specimen of his morality, created a sensation among his fellow townsmen in his high-flying campaign. This arose not from anything meritorious in the body of his worthy harangue, but rather from the singular nom de plume with which he graced or disgraced his production.

If he had searched through the whole legion of odd and grotesque signatures and marks; he had taken down and read some of the old works, "How to be profane and not be able to know it," he had swallowed, wallowed, and become himself, with all the rough, unnatural words known in our language, in order to find a profane, ridiculous, immoral, senseless, egotistical autograph, he could not have succeeded half so well in procuring what he desired, as he has in the title under which he has gone to the press.

He, however, is a "Prohibitory Perfectionist," and I suppose he has a right to call himself a "friend of Christ." We read in the Bible of a certain Pharisee, who went close up to the altar, and thanked himself that he was not as the Publican and Sinner. But he was a good man. He could do all manner of sin, and be covered up for it under the cloak of abstinence. We have numerous specimens of this same ego-Christian, but the "f of C" presents the most befitting and closest illustration of any yet presented.

He is honest in one thing. He feels his position in his heart, and is ingenious or silly enough to discover his thoughts to the world. But these are the kind of men, who are running this political machine, under the guise of morality. Thinking themselves perfect, they believe it is right for them to insinuate against their opponents all sorts of "ifs" and "buts." But it is an inevitable law that their knavishness shows out, and we have a specimen of an unfortunate "spill," in the signature of one "f of C."

JOKES.

NEW MUSIC. Song and Chorus. By WALLACE KITTREDGE, author of "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground." 30 cts. "Away, Away, The Sparkling Wine." A Temperance Song and Quartette. Words and Music by A. W. TRASK. 30 cts.

We have received the above new songs from ADAMS & CO., 21 Bromfield street, Boston. Of the first we can say since the appearance of "Tenting" the author has written no song so popular as this. It is sung nightly at public concerts, and always with entire satisfaction. As a home song it is not excelled. The latter has been sung at the principal Temperance Gatherings throughout the country, and always with great acceptance. It is as sparkling as the wine it ignores, and has a most effective chorus. Both are for sale by music dealers and will be sent by mail by the Publishers.

THE GALAXY, for July, contains articles on "Ritualism," by the Rev. Morgan Dix, D. D., "The Fruits of the War," by Horace Greeley; "The Personal Representation Project," "An Interview with General Escabedo," "The Opening of the Royal Academy," a humorous sketch, entitled "Where Progress Left the Gods," a short story, entitled, "Miss Anubusson;" "Children," by H. T. Tuckerman; "Words and their Exes," by Richard Grant White, and poetry, by Dr. T. W. Parsons and Miss Ida D. Colburn, besides continuation of "Steven Lawrence, Yeoman," and "Waiting for the Verdict," with illustrations. Published by W. C. & F. P. Church, No. 39 Park Row, New York, monthly at $3.50 per year.

MISCELLANEOUS. Shoe-strings are little things, but very numerous, and in union find strength, at South Carver (Mass.), where seventy hands are employed in one shop, making shoe-strings and lacings of cotton, silk and linen, to the value of $175,000 annually.

THE MASONIC CELEBRATION.

The Daily Voice says, estimates made with care figure up the number of visitors to Boston on Monday between 7 A. M. and noon, at 30,000. The cars brought over 20,000, and there were 5,000 arrivals on Saturday and Sunday. The Old Colony road during the morning brought 120 densely packed cars, containing 9,000 passengers. During the same hours the Worcester Railroad brought upwards of 10,000 passengers. Last Fourth of July, the Worcester Railroad brought 7,900 passengers; July 4th 1865, the same road brought 7,750 passengers.

THE NURSERY. The July number of this excellent magazine has been received. It furnishes for little children a pleasant picture book, full of interesting reading and pictures. It began its existence with the present year and the commendations it receives from all sides, shows that it is achieving a brilliant success. Subscription price, $1.50 per annum. Address Fanny P. Severns, Boston, Mass.

THE ARMY WORM. In Niagara County, Western New York, the army worm is committing dreadful ravages among the orchards. In places, the whole population turn out to do battle to save their fruit and gardens. They attack a tree in such numbers as to cover the leaves and fruit which they utterly destroy.

COME TO GRIEF. A letter from Chicago says that grain gamblers there are still in great tribulation. A righteously judgment has overtaken them, and with all their "rings" and "corners" they are unable to save themselves. Ruin is upon many of them, and the end is not yet. Prices are falling, and speculators are going down with them, and in this there is no cause for regret among honest people.

General Spinner, United States Treasurer, has decided that in the redemption of mutilated bills, of defunct National Banks, that they shall be redeemed in proportion to the mutilation of the note.

Summary Intelligence.

A good thing is told of the President in Raleigh. While responding in a feeling manner to the welcome given him, he used the expression: "Let us, my friends, repair the breaches"—and before he could say "and by the way," an old woman exclaimed, "with perfect delight, bless the dear man, he has come home again to work at his old trade!"

An establishment is to be opened in New York on the first of July, for the exclusive accommodation of sewing girls and other young women, who are obliged to live in boarding houses. They are to be furnished with a safe and pleasant home at the lowest possible prices.

The Easton (Pa.) Argus chronicles the passage over the Lehigh Valley railway road of probably the largest train of ever run over any road. The train consisted of 275 loaded cars, and allowing six tons as an average to a car, we have a total of 1,650 tons, and fourteen feet to a car and coupling, the length in feet would be 3850—over two-thirds of a mile long.

A cow in Otis, Mass., has adopted a litter of pigs and nurses them by lying down.

A man in Pittsfield dug up a junk bottle in his garden, the other day, which contained a live toad, at least four times as large as the mouth of the bottle, and a large family of little toads.

While working on the road, one day last week, Mr. W. S. Nay of Milton, Vermont, plowed up twelve gold dollars of the dates of 1851-2-3 and 4. This shows the advantage of "mending our ways."

S. M. Pettengill, the advertising agent, returns as his income, $20,000. Printing ink has done something for him.

Four thousand four hundred and twenty-six emigrants from Europe, arrived at New York on Monday.

In the last quarter century the apple trees have twice blossomed as late as this year.

The Japanese Commissioners recently in the United States purchased twenty thousand volumes of school books of various kinds, to take home with them.

Of the five hundred and twenty-four United States exhibitors at Paris, there have been awards in favor of two hundred and sixty-two. Among these, four have been awarded grand prizes and seventeen gold medals.

The treaty with Russia has been formally ratified, and our government will soon take possession of the Territory on the Northwest Coast that is now waiting for a name.

Ten cents a gallon is the price of milk on the prairies.

Mortgagee's Sale.

BY Virtue and in pursuance of a power of sale, contained in a certain mortgage, first given by Eliza T. C. Elia to Joel Sargent, as first mortgagee, and secondly by said Sargent assigned to the Subscriber, November 19, 1864, as recited with said Registry, Lib. 238, Fol. 122, and for a breach in the conditions of said mortgage, will be sold at Public Auction, on the premises, on SATURDAY, July 12th, 1867, at 5 o'clock, P. M., a lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated in the westerly part of said Quincy, containing about one quarter of an acre, more or less, and is bounded as follows, that is to say:—Northernly on land now or late of Francis Douglas, as the shales stand, Easterly on land late of Samuel A. Elia, as the bounds or stakes stand; Southerly on land now or late of Charles Davis, and Easterly on land of the Hon. Charles F. Adams, as the stone wall runs, or however bounded or regarded to be bounded. The grantees to have free use of the well of water near said premises, in common with the abutters.

CLAIRVOYANCE.

Strangely proved, in the discovery, by DR. PASCHAL BEVERLY RANDOLPH. In 1864 he was the Mesmerist Subject of DR. TOULAIN and BERGHEIM, eminent French Physicians of the University of Paris, and made, in the mesmeric sleep, the discovery of PHYLLE, now, after 13 years of test, advertised for the first time. Read on—

There are four things that all people want: Position, Power, Money, Affection. They frequently lose them all. Why? Because they have lost MAGNETIC FORCE. How? 1st, They have exhausted the brain and nervous systems—vigor being the gift of Heaven!—by indoor life; constant mental application, involving loss of lung power—are blenched out. Or, 2d, They have lived "Fast" lives; and late hours, passionless excess, has drained life's wine, the fountains are dry; energy gone, and spiritless life has become dull, feverish and insipid. Or, 3d, They have been fretted, tormented, vexed, troubled, till the fire has gone out. Or, 4th, BAD habits have sapped their vitality, flesh is waxy, nerves unstrung, brain softened: They have become unreliable, changeable, angular, crooked, wild, shiftless, aimless, suspicious, lonely, nervous—easily affected by the weather, stupidity, bad news; are gloomy, morose, scary, discontented, dreamy, fidgety, suicidal, secretive, now tender, then coarse and callous; now gentle, then the opposite, vapory, fretful, easily worried, wholly unfitted for life's most solemn duties; disquieted themselves, and estranging their best friends. Or, 5th, They have become worn out, exhausted, and in the case of ladies—loaded down with troubles that would kill half the men living—often, in ladies' cases, resulting in morbid states of mind and body;—and in men resulting in impotence, and worse trouble. Or, 6th, Disease has wasted, reduced them so that there is scarcely life enough left to make it at all desirable, and a morbid melancholy, almost despair follow. Both having frightful dreams, flashes, head aches, palpitations, anger, fits, hysterical, and angusties without number. And, 7th, A class of persons have gone to waste, impotence and senility at 45 to 50 years of age, who with a little care could retain their vigor till three score years and ten were marked on their life's dial. The above list embraces 1st, All that vast mass of people, especially in this our large brain population, who are "used up," and exhausted by mental labor, sedentary occupations; who from various causes are morbid, excitable, nervous, and, at times, unaccountably "mean." 2d, All who are passionless, cold, non-attraction, non-attracted, or if attracted, hopelessly so, from lack of responsive ability; who are unsettled, uneasy, subject to mental, temperamental, gloomy, lonely and passionless storms. 3d, All who have half ruined their minds and bodies, sapped their health and vigor, and are now crooked, angular, fretful, despondent by passionless excess, normal or otherwise, or from any cause whatever. (This subject and a list of food and drink for such, will be found as length in my "GUIDE" to Clear Vision, price $1.) Love lieth at the foundation. No woman is ill whose Nervous apparatus are sound; no man is well whose organs are strong and vigorous, life and power, strength and vigor, beauty and love, talent and genius, all depend upon healthy organs, for if those be disordered the whole machine is so always! And nine hundred and ninety-nine cases of disease of body, nerves, brain and mind spring from trouble in the love department of human nature—Physical, Social, Moral.

WHAT WILL CURE THIS STATE OF THINGS? PHYLLE. In either of its three forms: What is Phylle? It is the result of fifteen years' patient and continued chemical research, for a fluid that when taken will, 1st, Vacate the body and blood of all morbid humors, and thus let the vital forces have free play, yet not act as a medicine upon it. And, 2d, A fluid so fine, so well adapted as to, when taken—be almost instantly converted into vital magnetic force—the very thing whereof ALL the above indicated patients have been deprived, thus supplying all waste, repairing all effects of excess and exhaustion, reinvigorating the brain and nervous centers—supplying just what has been lost—it is vital force in liquid form—a perfectly delicious cordial, perfectly harmless, yet the most powerful, lavageant in the world—not a compound but a distillation—the wine of life and power. The elements of Phylle reach the weak spot in ten minutes—1st, they are found in very small volume in the bodies of idiots, the insane and emaciated; but, 2d, abound in those of intellect, power and refinement. 3d, All who exhaust themselves lose these elements. 4th, They are absent in ladies who suffer from disorders adapted as to, when taken—be almost instantly converted into vital magnetic force—the very thing whereof ALL the above indicated patients have been deprived, thus supplying all waste, repairing all effects of excess and exhaustion, reinvigorating the brain and nervous centers—supplying just what has been lost—it is vital force in liquid form—a perfectly delicious cordial, perfectly harmless, yet the most powerful, lavageant in the world—not a compound but a distillation—the wine of life and power. ## Selected Poetry.

ONLY A BABY SMALL.

Only a baby small,
Dropt from the skies;
Only a laughing face,
Two sunny eyes;
Only two cherry lips,
One chubby nose;
Only two little hands,
Ten little toes;
Only a golden head,
Curly and soft;
Only a tongue that wags,
Loudly and oft;
Only a little brain,
Empty of thought;
Only a little heart,
Troubled with naught;
Only a tender flower,
Sent us to love;
Only a life to rear,
While we are here.

Farmers' Department.

A NEW WRINKLE IN HORTICULTURE.

At the last meeting of the Agricultural Society of India, the Rev. Mr. Firminger communicated a plan by which the stones of fruit may be reduced or made to disappear, and the pulp be increased in size and improved in flavor. At any time during the cold season, select a branch that is to be used afterwards for marketing. Split up carefully some-what less than a span long. From both halves of the branch thus split, scoop out cleanly all the pith; then bring the split halves together again; and keep them bandaged till they have become thoroughly united. At the usual time, the beginning of the rains, march the branch thus treated upon suitable stock; taking for the place of union the portion of the branch first below where the split was made. Upon a branch of the tree thus produced a similar operation is performed, and so on in succession, the result being that the stone of the fruit becomes less and less after each successive operation. This process has been applied likewise to the grape vine of Malaga, and plants thereby have been produced which bear the finest fruit without the slightest vestige of a stone in them.

HORSES' FEET REQUIRE MOISTURE.

Nine tenths of the diseases which happen to the hoofs and ankles of the horse are occasioned by standing on the dry, plank floors of the stable. Many persons seem to think, from the way they keep their horses, that the foot of the horse was never made for moisture, and that, if possible, it would be beneficial if they had cowhide boots to put on every time they went out. Nature designed the foot for moisture; the earth of the woods and valleys; at the same time that a covering was given to protect it from stones and stumps.—Ohio Farmer.

HEN MANURE.

A correspondent of the Germania Telegraph, speaking of the value of hen manure, says:—"It possesses a value almost equal to that of the best guano, even when mixed with half its bulk of garden mold. By mixing the excrement of hens with manure, or well decomposed peat, and saturating the whole with urine, or diluted sulphuric acid, a compound of great energy will be formed, and which, when applied to the purposes of vegetable enrichment in the ordinary way, will insure the best and most salutary results on any crop."

THE COMPOST HEAP.

In the hurry of this busy month, a farmer is apt to overlook the necessity of providing sufficient material for the compost heap. Now is the time to make calculations for the means of liberal top-dressing for grass land in the fall. The yard has been mostly cleaned out, and so has the hog pen. Haul in any old turf, loam, manure, or other substances which will absorb the liquids of the stable and the yard, the barn cellar and the sty, and whether you keep the pigs at work or not, you will have a fine lot of stuff for the grass land later in the season. Manure, you know, is the farmer's bank, and if he would have his debts honored, he should look out for his deposits. Old leaf mould, the scrapings along the roadside, and many other sources of fertility should be collected and saved under the barn and in the cow yard. It pays to look sharp after these odds and ends at this season of the year, for you can often save time by loading both ways in hauling manure to the farther end of the farm. "Many a mickle makes a muckle."—Poughkeepsie.

A ring of scrap tin placed around a cabbage plant will keep off the cut-worms.

Anecdotes.

A gentleman was, one winter's day, looking in at the window of a paint shop, when he felt some one at his pocket. As there was only one bystander, he instantly turned round and looking him full in the face, said:

"Your hand, sir, was in my pocket."

"Was it, sir?" the other very calmly replied. "I really beg your pardon if it was; but the weather is so very cold, one is glad to put one's hands anywhere."

"So you are going to keep house?" asked an inquisitive maiden of a bride.

"Yes, said she."

"Going to have a girl, I suppose?"

"I really don't know," was the reply, "whether it will be a girl or a boy."

"Pa, I know why that old fashioned pistol of your'n that grandpa fit with in the Revolution, is called a horse pistol?"

"Why my son?"

"Because it kicks so."

ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

MADAME H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doubtful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &amp;c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning lost friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are most qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.

She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the mae stars that overcome or predominate in the constitution—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she discovers the future destiny of man. Fall not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information,

Parting with a distant acquaintance, Madame will mail you with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictness of the work is guaranteed, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

MADAME H. A. PERRIGO.
